Here Are the Independence Days of America's Allies

JUNE 15 GREAT BRITAIN

Great Britain's famous "unwritten law" is founded actually on a highly respected document, the Magna Charta, the declaration of independence for the British.

Oppressions of a tyrannical ruler, King John of England, causing an uprising of the English barons who drew up this charter and forced the king to sign it at Runnymede, on June 15, 1215.

Although the charter was designed to protect the rights of barons and feudal proprietors, and did nothing to help the common people, it was the basis for legislation and court decisions in later years that have made England democratic.

JULY 14 FRANCE

Ten days from today, France will celebrate her independence day. On July 14, 1789, the people of Paris burned the Bastille, where political prisoners were confined and the visible sign of generations of tyranny.

The same day, next year, King Louis XVI signed the first draft of the first constitution for France.

Although the French were to be ruled twice again by kings and emperors, their third republic finally has succeeded. It has existed since 1871 and its constitution is the development of the one signed on July 14, 1790.

MARCH 16 RUSSIA

Russia, hereafter, will celebrate March 16 as her July 4.

On the day, this year, the provisional government of Russia issued its famous appeal to the people, which is actually that country's declaration of independence. The next day Czar Nicholas was forced to abdicate.

Independence day to the Russians will mean not only their own freedom from the bonds of autocracy, but the freedom of the thousands of political exiles in Siberia and the democratization of the whole empire. Ex-czar Nicholas may be put on trial for misgovernment.

OCTOBER 4 BELGIUM

Although Belgium did not gain complete independence from Holland until 1839, the Belgians issued a declaration of independence as early as 1830.

October 4 is the date which corresponds to our July 4.

This was during the revolt against the Dutch. Belgian independence and neutrality was recognized by the powerful countries of Europe, but Holland refused to give up that country. Settlement finally was made in 1839, when Belgium was recognized as a "neutral" country to be protected by the powers.

JULY 8 SERBIA

The first step toward Serbian independence was taken July 8, 1808, when peace was declared between Turkey and Serbia, after a revolution led by Kara George. The people gained partial autonomy under Turkish rule then, but it was the greatest step forward the Serbians had made.

The Serbians gradually won complete independence from Turkey and then were able to force their rulers to grant constitutional government. King Alexander, on May 21, 1894, granted the people the constitution which is still, almost in its entirety, the foundation for the laws of Serbia.

JULY 2 ITALY

Out of the many dates remembered by Italians for granting of popular constitutions by the rulers of the states making up United Italy, July 2, looms up as the greatest.

On that day, in 1871, Rome the papal seat, became capital of Italy. Until then there were Italians who still suffered the burden of absolutism, although the people of Sardinia and Piedmont lived under almost as liberal rule as today. July 2, when all people throughout the Italy of today came under the same liberal rule, therefore, is Italy's great day of independence.

OCT. 5 PORTUGAL

Oct. 5 is Portugal's independence day.

Portugal had just writhed out of the extravagant and tyrannical rule of King Carlos, when he was assassinated in 1908. Dom J. F. C. Franco, premier under King Carlos, had been practically dictator of the country. Revolution was brewing when Carlos' second son, Manuel, ascended the throne.

Under Manuel II, conditions did not improve, so, on Oct. 5, 1910, he was deposed and a republic proclaimed under the provisional presidency of Theophilo Braga. Manuel fled to England.

GREAT TREAT IS IN STORE

Twenty of Country's Best Numbers Included in Chautauqua Program.

UNIVERSITY CLUB IN SPECIAL SESSION

M. M. Witherspoon, of Chicago, Explains the Various Entertainments.

At a special meeting of the University Club held Tuesday evening for the purpose of laying before the club the plans for and the program of the Chautauqua, President E. C. Hoffman brought to a climax the pent up enthusiasm over the project when he said "This Chautauqua will do more for Ft. Wayne than any other community affair since the Pageant. It is a real community buster. One week from July 17 to 24. We are back of this project but let's get back of it big. Let's make this 'week of Community Sunshine.' The crowd of 135 members present responded almost to a man 'You bet.' Men from the different professions and lines of activities spoke of the benefits which would come to the city from this big tent full of educational entertainment. Paul Guild, of the City and Suburban Realty Co., said 'This is going to be a big thing. I can easily see how this will stimulate civic enterprise. I know how it is going to put added pep into the real estate enterprise of Ft. Wayne.' One of the down town merchants said that he was going to request his employees to hear 'Gatling Gun Fogelman.' 'If this man can sell more locomotives than any other salesman going to the Baledown Locomotive Co. for me, he can tell my men how to sell more goods,' he said. A member of the club who employs a large number of men in his factory said 'I am going to my directors to buy 100 tickets for our employees. I want them to hear McGuffey on the high cost of living and government conservation of food and Fogelman on 'How to Do Better Work With The Same Energy.' This was the feeling of 'Back It Strong' enthusiasm when Mr. Hoffman introduced M. M. Witherspoon, of Chicago, who told the club the details of the program.

Explains Program. Mr. Witherspoon said 'The chautauqua was a summer vacation for $2.50.' That the chautauqua offered to the citizens of Ft. Wayne 20 of the best numbers obtainable in the land at the nominal cost of 25¢ a number, or $2.50 for the entire week. These tickets are interchangeable in families so that the wife can go in the afternoon and the husband at night. Children's tickets are sold for $1.25. These will admit children from the ages of six to 14.

But the chautauqua allows the University club only a limited amount of the tickets at this price of $2.50. After that number is sold the price automatically raises to $3.

Reason for It. The only reason that the citizens of Fort Wayne are able to get this high class entertainment at such a very low cost is due to the fact that they are on a circuit with 130 of the largest towns in the south and middle west. These towns are the very best in fifteen states where this circuit tours. Then also it is expected to sell so many of these tickets that the crowd will help to make the proposition pay.

The program which comes to Fort Wayne, Mr. Witherspoon says, has been seen already in some thirty of the largest southern cities, and has more than made good. The Mikado light opera alone was worth the price of the entire week's performance.

This is the same company which supported DeWolf Hopper in his New York production. This number would cost you $2 a seat at your local theaters. Played in a tent to 4,000 people it costs 12 1/2 cents.

Program Pleases Knoxville. The Knoxville Sentinel, one of the south's leading newspapers, said: "The Redpaths put on a splendid program in Knoxville. They have procured the best talent in the United States. We are glad to know that the chautauqua will be a permanent affair here." The Louisville Courier-Journal adds: "It was a success in every way. Creator is without a doubt the greatest band leader in America. The Indian Princess Watahwaso and Marie Mayer, the Mary Magdalene of the passion play, are two of the most unique numbers ever seen in Louisville."

This is the same program that Chicago is putting on this year in three different tents, each holding 4,000 people. Mr. Witherspoon says Reid Miller is considered the best tenor singer in America. With him is Frederick Wheeler, who has sung quite a few records for the Victor people. Also Miss Van Der Veer and Myrtle Thornburg. Dr. Martin D. Hardin, who appears on the first night of the program, is considered the leading clergyman of the Presbyterian church. He has been all over the war territory and his lecture on "America and the World of Tomorrow" is not only interesting but very instructive.

The speaker concluded by saying: "This is a patriotic year. The chautauqua this year is a temple of patriotism and America can be mobilized. It is the place where the whole community can meet and listen to the greatest minds of America on live, vital issues. No one in Fort Wayne can afford to miss this unusual week of attractions which will be held at the circuit grounds in the big Redpath chautauqua tent."

Mr. Witherspoon was kept on his feet answering questions of importance for forty minutes. Harry Muller Named Director. At the conclusion of Mr. Witherspoon's address, President Hoffman said: "We have guaranteed one thousand seat tickets, but these are all bargained for already. We have got to make this thing not only a success but a big success. I have appointed Attorney Harry Muller, director of the chautauqua, and he has at last assented to do it. Mr. Muller will have entire charge of the arrangement."

Mr. Muller said: "This chautauqua is a big community welfare project. Because of that and for the further reason that you men are so enthusiastically strong in your support, I am glad to take charge of this. I see no reason why there will be less than 4,000 people out for each evening performance. I know we will have to turn crowds away for the Jeanette Rankin and Creator numbers." This morning Mr. Muller announced that he had arranged with Wolf & Dessauer for a ticket sales booth in their store which booth would be ready for business Saturday morning. Tickets can also be had at the University club house, 327 West Berry street. Mr. Muller also expects to have ten community centers where tickets can be had.

Committees Announced. Mr. Muller announced the following committees who will co-operate with him. The chairman of these different committees will constitute the general committee of which he is the chairman.

Shop committee "A." A. A. Serva, chairman, E. B. Bechtel and S. Bond. Publicity, Paul Guild, chairman. Club member boosters, Dr. Wilbur E. Neuschwander, chairman; Frank H. Adams, Ralph Sunier, E. L. Newell, F. A. Buelow and W. McLure. Special boosters, J. J. Ritter, chairman. Labor organizations, E. Earl Peters, chairman. Others will be appointed later.

WILLIAM GREEN IS DEAD AT AVILLA

Former Resident of City and Father of Dallas Green, Passes Away.

William Green, aged 92 years, for thirty-five years a resident of Fort Wayne, died at Avilla Wednesday morning. Mr. Green was the father of Dallas F. Green, who was formerly a jeweler in this city. The deceased had been in failing health for some time, but had been bedfast for only a few weeks.

While a resident of Fort Wayne, Mr. Green had the agency for the New Home sewing machine. Dallas Green, a son of the deceased, is now engaged in business at Newark, N. J., and has been informed of the death of his father. A daughter, who resides in New Jersey, also survives. The deceased was well known in this city.

LOST FORD RETARDS CROSS COUNTRY TOUR

Los Angeles Farmer on Way to New York for Purpose of Return Journey.

Andrew Purslow, a farmer from near Los Angeles, Cal., told police another Ford story Tuesday afternoon.

Purslow stopped in Fort Wayne when en route from Los Angeles to New York city. He parked the flivver, which he is driving over the Lincoln highway from coast to coast, on a downtown street. He had a few drinks. When he issued from the saloon he could not find his automobile. He hunted in vain along Fort Wayne streets for two hours. Finally he appealed to police. He was seized upon a charge of intoxication.

The traveler, who carries a roll of greenbacks as large as an extra roadster tire, put up $25 bond later Tuesday evening. He appeared in court Wednesday morning. He was told that police had placed his auto in a garage. "Why are you going to New York?" inquired Judge Kerr.

"Just so I can make the trip back home," Purslow replied. He explained that he had a drink or two on Tuesday because he was nervous from the strain of driving his automobile over the Indiana hills between Fort Wayne and Chicago. He was released.

Mayor Meyers gave Henderson 50 cents. The pair enjoyed a social chat in a downtown saloon, Henderson told Judge Kerr Wednesday morning. Henderson seldom refuses a drink, he admitted. He managed in some fashion to get home, corner of Madison and Lafayette streets, reported to Detective Sergeant Peter Junk some time later that somebody had stolen three pounds of cheese from him. The cheese was valued at $1.80. A saloonkeeper told the detective that Henderson had entered his place with a cheesy looking package in his pocket.

Henderson was sleeping when Detective Sergeant Junk visited his home. The cheese was on the table. Henderson did not remember taking the cheese or carrying it about. He was fined $10 and sentenced to thirty days in jail by Judge Kerr.

Did Not Get Watch. Carl Haines stoutly maintained that some other member of the signal corps must have taken the watch which is missing, he said. The youth admits stealing a suitcase but all questioning fails to reveal the location of the valuable timepiece. Haines was placed on a thirty day parole in the care of a minister by Judge Kerr.

Followed Gordes followed the fire apparatus out Crescent avenue, Tuesday afternoon. He traveled at a high rate of speed, declared Detective Sergeant Walter Immel, who saw Gordes and ordered him arrested. Gordes pleaded guilty to a speeding charge. He was fined $25 and costs.

Other Police Court Cases. Cases of public intoxication were Frank White, fined $5; Harry Bassett, held under bond for trial on July 9. William Burton, colored, and Wash Shirey were released.

DR. PORTER APPOINTED ON BOARD OF APPEALS

DECEMBER 19 MONTENEGRO

Montenegro's day of independence is December 19.

The people of this small ally had felt free since the Serbian liberation from Serbian rule in 1839. But kings continued to rule them as autocratically as elsewhere in Europe. It was not until December 19, 1905, that popular discontent grew to such degrees that Prince Nicholas was forced to proclaim the abolition of the autocratic system. He summoned a popular national assembly and issued a liberal constitution to which he took oath and which still is the country's basic law.

WELL KNOWN FARMER STRICKEN SUDDENLY

William Bender, 75, Dies at Home in Cedar Creek Township.

William Bender, 75 years old, well known farmer residing in the northwest part of Cedar Creek township, died suddenly Wednesday morning.

Although he had been in ill health for about a year, he had not consulted a physician during that time and was able to keep up and avoid practically every day. He had no sooner arose Wednesday morning when he toppled over unconscious and died soon after members of his family reached him.

Coroner E. McArdle was called and pronounced death due to organic heart trouble. He leaves a large family.

WILL SPEND FOURTH IN POLICE STATION

Will Feasel, of Cedar Creek Township, Tries to Drive Car While Drunk.

Will Feasel will spend the Fourth of July in the police station. He is awaiting trial on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Feasel was trying to go a Charlie Chaplin stunt with his car on East Pontiac street, and was seized by Detective Peter Junk. He was cutting all kinds of capers on the street, and when the detective approached him he noticed that it was not a moving picture stunt but that the zig-zag driving was due to Feasel being under the influence of liquor. He was taken to the station. Feasel says he lives in Cedar Creek township. His trial is scheduled for Thursday morning.

PRESIDENT TAKES REST.

Washington, July 4.—President Wilson, taking advantage of the day to get a needed rest, this morning boarded the naval yacht Mayflower for a trip down the Potomac river, possibly as far as Chesapeake bay. He was accompanied by members of his family. Arrangements were made to keep the president in touch with developments of the day by wireless.

TAKEN TO LUTHERAN.

Mrs. A. Henderson, aged 78 years, who has been a patient at the Hope hospital for the past nineteen years, was taken to the Lutheran hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. King to Be Hostess.

The woman's foreign society of the Wayne street M. E. church will meet with Mrs. King, 628 West Jefferson street, on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Myra Turner, Mrs. Snyder, and Miss Miller Rogers.

TIN CAN TROUBLES BROUGHT UP AGAIN

Head of Health Board Wants Action on Mosquito Incubators.

There is no rest for the tin can question. Eventually it is expected that the cast-off fruit bearers will be created up by the city and shipped to Chicago for sale. Dr. H. O. Bruggeman, head of the health board, has appeared before city officials and inquired, "Why not now?"

Dr. Bruggeman points out that these first trod days are best adapted to propagation of mosquitoes, flies and other insects. He states that the discarded tin can is the favorite incubator for every form of germ life. Tin cans, in which water is allowed to accumulate, are responsible for 70 per cent of the noisy and hungry mosquitoes in Fort Wayne, the health board believes.

City officials have been asked by Dr. Bruggeman to start the process of baling tin cans at once. Even if the cans are not sent away at this time it will be a benefit to the city to have the cast-off containers pressed and banded now, the doctor says.

"Citizens can help up their cans themselves," Bruggeman told. "Let the officials order the consumers of canned goods to use a hammer in reducing their cans. A part of the men about the city already follow the process. It is a great health boon. It wrecks the incubators of mosquitoes and flies. Later the cans could be collected and shipped away."

TO TALK ABOUT NEW LAMPS.

Frank Dix Will Accept Invitation to Address Association.

Frank Dix, of the city lighting department, is considered by such electrical experts as Charles Steinmetz as an authority on nitrogen lamps, which are displacing the carbon street lamps in up to date cities. Dix is requested, in a letter from the program committee of the International Association of Municipal Electrical Engineers, which includes in its membership the best known electricians of the United States, to address that body on the subject of "The Nitrogen Lamp, Its Past and Future."

Dix expects to accept the invitation. He will begin soon the preparation of his address, which will be delivered before the body of scientific men at Niagara Falls on September 11. Dix has been on the program of the annual association meeting for the past three years.

Fort Wayne also takes pride in the fact that Robert Gaskill, in charge of the city fire alarm system, is president of the international organization of electricians. He is also expected to talk before the association meeting in September.

Many at Concert.

A crowd of 1,500 attended the municipal band concert at Weissner park Tuesday evening, despite the chilly weather conditions. The next park concert will be given on Friday evening in Lawton park. The Elks' band will furnish the music.

Nobody Home.

Offices of the city hall were desolate on Independence day. Board of works members followed their usual practice of allowing all city clerks a vacation over the Fourth. The only activity, outside of the regular police work, was the session of the city court during the morning hours.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Helmy, West DeWald street—a girl. To Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Albert Johnson, 713 Taylor street—a girl. To Mr. and Mrs. George Krauskopf, Adams township—a girl.

NAVY WITH REPUBLICANS.

Shanghai, July 4.—It is generally believed here that the navy will support the republicans, while the local military and civil authorities are also proclaiming the republic and opposing the monarchy, but this may be for the purpose of preserving the peace in Shanghai. It is believed the restoration plans are deeply laid and that the military governors are really supporting the restoration.

MRS. SOPHIA HANNA CALLED BY DEATH

Wife of Attorney Harry Hanna Dies at the St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Sophia Hanna, wife of Harry C. Hanna, of 429 East Berry street, died at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning at the St. Joseph's hospital at the age of 44 years. Death followed a prolonged illness due to complication of diseases. She had been a patient at the hospital only a few days.

The deceased was the wife of Harry C. Hanna, well known attorney and widely known throughout the city. She was born in Ossian, but had spent practically her entire life in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Hanna was the daughter of Dr. John Seaton, who was for many years a prominent physician. Her husband survives. Funeral announcement later.

NEGROES MURDER AGED SALOONIST IN CHICAGO SINK

Chicago, July 4.—The killing of Charles A. Maronde, an aged saloonkeeper by negroes in the "Black belt," on the south side early today brought out police reserves who took eight negro suspects into custody. Later the police fired at a crowd of negroes in an attempt to stop a fight. One negro was wounded.

Chief of Police Schuetler has ordered a force of reserves held at the Fifth street station, in the colored section, to prevent any disorder today.

GERMANS SEIZE NOTED BELGIANS FOR PUNISHMENT

London, July 4.—A dispatch to the Times from The Hague says that as a reprisal for the alleged ill-treatment of Germans by Belgians in German East Africa, Germans have seized twenty-three distinguished Belgians and removed them without warning to their notorious punishment camp in Germany. They all had directorial or other connections in the Congo, among them being the seventy-year-old Count Jean D'Oultremont, the late King Leopold's lord chamberlain; also M. D'Ursel, who is aged sixty-seven.

INDIANA MAN NO SUCCEED PROF. M. A. BRANNAN WEST

Moscow, Idaho, July 4.—Dr. Ernest Hiram Lindley, of Indiana university, has been elected by the state board of education as president of the university of Idaho, to succeed Dr. M. A. Brannan, resigned. Dr. Lindley, who is a graduate of Indiana, has been professor of philosophy at his alma mater since 1902.

DOCK STRIKE IN AMSTERDAM.

Amsterdam, July 4.—All Amsterdam dock workers struck yesterday. Builders workmen and shipyard laborers struck in sympathy. A big protest meeting of strikers was held for the afternoon. The burgomaster has forbidden street demonstrations and open air meetings.

The married ladies of St. Andrew's parish are to have a Pedro party at their school hall, corner of Lombard and New Haven avenues, on Thursday evening.

EXPECT CALL IN FEW DAYS

Adjutant General Orders Federal Inspection of Signal Corps.

STRICT DISCIPLINE IS TO BE ENFORCED

No One Will be Excused From Any Activities of the Company.

A call for Company B, signal corps of this city, is confidently expected by officers within the next few days.

First Lieutenant Kuhns and Second Lieutenant Hawkins have just returned from Indianapolis, and have orders from Adjutant General Harry B. Smith for a federal inspection of the local company to be held in the near future. Lieutenant Colonel William H. chief, signal officer from the central department, will probably be the inspecting officer. However, no definite decision has been made.

Orders have been received that no one will be excused from drill or any of the activities of the company. Anyone not reporting will be brought to the drill or meeting as the case may be. The company has progressed rapidly since its formation here a few weeks ago.

FOOD RELIEF MEN WORKED ON FOURTH

Fourth of July was only another work day for F. W. Gies, superintendent of city food relief work, and Mike Costello, who has given his efforts to the campaign since early spring. The two men spent the day in inspecting back yard garden over the city. The crops are coming in excellent form, both men say, but many gardens are needing cultivation in the form of hoeing.

PARISIANS WILL SALUTE TROOPS WITH MUCH JOY

Paris, July 4.—"The population of Paris in saluting the American troops July 4," says Le Temps, "will express the joyous confidence that military operations in the United States are American inspired in us. Every eye will feel instinctively that victory is ours on seeing march by these soldiers who have come so quickly from the country that sees everything on a large scale."

"Germany, which has just witnessed the crushing of the Russian army, will count with anxiety the regiments massed on the other side of the Atlantic. Events in Galicia rob her of all immediate hope, while American preparations make vain all aspirations of the distant future."

COCCHI EXCULPATES POLICE.

Rologna, July 4.—Alfred Cocchi, confessed slayer of Ruth Cruger, the New York girl, said he had no secret connection with the New York police, and that they were not at all involved in the crime. Cocchi's statement came after a new inquiry by the royal prosecutor.

Pedro Party at St. Andrew's.

The married ladies of St. Andrew's parish are to have a Pedro party at their school hall, corner of Lombard and New Haven avenues, on Thursday evening.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, etc.

HON. ALVAN J. RUCKER SAYS COURTS ARE FOOTBALL OF POLITICS IN ADDRESS AT SWINNEY PARK

Hon. Alvan J. Rucker, prosecuting attorney of Marion county, was the principal speaker Wednesday afternoon at the Fourth of July celebration at Swinney park. He spoke in part as follows:

HON. ALVAN J. RUCKER.

noon at the Fourth of July celebration at Swinney park. He spoke in part as follows:

We are now engaged in a great progressive movement to make our fundamental law ring clear to present day enlightenment. We are about to make a new state constitution.

I am interested in the placing of great and needed reforms in that law to the end that our state courts be made respectable; that our cities be given "home rule;" that taxation be made just; that we have the short ballot; that the voice of women be heard for our mutual welfare; and that the unholy traffic in intoxicating liquor be forever banished from Indiana.

Our courts today are not respectable; they are the football of politics and of every malign influence in our midst. Whether or not a citizen ever enters the courts, they guard or should guard his life and property by day and by night; they are the final and perhaps the most important of our three great departments of government. But what do we see? Our state courts today are powerless to try rich and powerful offenders; it is almost impossible for it to convict a real prime mover in crime. We look with great admiration upon our federal courts and do well to praise them, but the weakness of our own courts are lamentably a by-word. Our state judges and our lawyers are learned in the law; they have the same ability and character as a rule as federal judges, but their courts are shamefully weak in comparison. I need not cite the way the state courts handled the California dynamite conspiracy nor the Donnan election conspiracy. We know what the federal court did. Just last week the federal court convicted men guilty of election outrages in Indianapolis, but who were so high up the ladder that the state courts were powerless to punish. Our trouble is that the key-stone as well as every other supporting stone in our judicial system, is infirm. The judge is the keystone, but we immerse him in every election into the maelstrom of politics; we make him a politician; we make him timid and fearful of re-election; we deprive him of his livelihood in the practice and having kept him long enough to lose his talents, we banish him from the bench on the ground that Bryan or Taft would or would not make good presidents of the United States.

Not a Political Office.
We have forgotten that the judicial office is not a political one. Our present constitution compels our judges to stand for a short term and to appear on a party ticket. He is human like the rest of us; he fears the four year "recall;" he seeks to avoid defeat and he does as a rule what a federal judge in his place would do, he renders political decisions; he does anything to make himself popular with his party. With all these handicaps, it is wonderful that we possess even as good a judiciary as we have.

If we admire the federal courts so much, why shouldn't we pattern our courts after them? They are powerful because their judges serve on good behavior and are not subservient to politics nor the four year recall. But some lawyers say it would give us a tyrant. Better a tyrant at any time than a weakling. However, there is no general charge of tyranny directed toward federal judges except by those justly punished for their crimes. At least if we are so timorous we should appoint our judges for from ten to fifteen years to give them at least some respite from political inundations; we could also make impeachment easier to rid ourselves of a tyrant.

Judges Are Only Umpires.
By our constitution and laws we so hobble our courts that our judges sit only as umpires or chairmen; he is powerless to prevent the selection of a dishonest jury; he stands in constant fear of the iniquitous charge of venue laws and "feign's relief bills" passed by every legislature which any lawyer can invoke to make him stand along the side lines in his own court; he dare not even bind the jury as to the law of the case; the law which he has spent his life to know and understand.

Our constitution limits the prosecuting attorney to a two year term. He therefore wishing a second term is always running for office; the result being that the high position of the state's attorney is generally governed by public service corporations, the breweries, gamblers and the underworld.

What we need in our courts is power; remove your judges and judicial officers from temptation; make them respectable and you will get respectable service.

Under our present constitution almost all the time of every legislative session is spent on local legislation for cities. It seems ridiculous to me that the citizens of Fort Wayne, for instance, should be compelled to ask men from Vermillion or Floyd county for permission to obtain their local needs. Cities and towns should be permitted to govern themselves on their purely local concerns.

Places Burden on Poor.
Under our present constitution our scheme of taxation places the burden on the poor; and our election ballots from presidential electors down to constable are so long that no voter can use his suffrage intelligently. If we had the short ballot with only a few names of men whom we can trust for the appointment of state geologist, clerk and constable, the public would breathe a great sigh of relief.

That the viewpoint of woman on great moral, economic and social questions is necessary to the full expression of the people's conscience, can no longer be gainsaid. Woman's suffrage should be firmly established not only for the sake of the woman, but for the men and the needs of our growing sons and daughters.

No argument is needed in behalf of perpetual prohibition of intoxicating liquor. Its ravages, every family knows. From the graves of its millions of victims comes a voice to every voter in the land and we will in our new constitution abolish it forever as a temptation and a snare to ourselves and our future generations.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Now is the time to buy a bottle of this remedy so as to be prepared in case that any one of your family should have an attack of colic or diarrhoea during the summer months. It is worth a hundred times its cost when needed.—Advertisement.

DESIGNS MEMORIAL FOR RUTH CRUGER.

Onorio Ruotolo, an earnest Italian sculptor, has designed a memorial for Ruth Cruger. Deeply saddened by the fact that the murderer of the hapless girl was an Italian, he felt impelled to give expression to his sympathetic emotions. Mr. Ruotolo communicated the idea to the girl's father in a letter in which he expressed his sympathy for the bereaved family and begged them to accept the memorial.

BODY TO BE PLACED IN CEMETERY VAULT

Funeral Services Over Remains of J. W. Hunter to be Held Thursday.

The remains of the late Superintendent J. W. Hunter, of the northern division of the G. R. & I., will be temporarily consigned to a retaining vault in Oak Hill cemetery at Grand Rapids. The funeral services will be held from the family residence, 430 Morris avenue S. E., and will be largely attended by friends of the deceased from railway, business and other circles, a number going from this city for that purpose. The pallbearers will be men who were associated with Mr. Hunter in railway work. The active bearers will be W. B. Wood, B. H. Hudson, John M. Mothman, C. L. Barnaby, V. H. Eddy and F. D. Newman, all actively connected with the G. R. & I. The honorary pallbearers will be J. H. P. Hughes, C. L. Lockwood, H. R. Griswold, Henry Sullivan, C. V. Ganson, James H. Campbell, Charles P. Rathbun, Henry T. Stanton, David Wolf, Dr. Louis Barth, Dr. Emmett Welsh and Hugh E. Wilson. Fort Wayne people who will attend the funeral will be relatives of the deceased, some business men and associates in railway work of the deceased and the staff officers of Superintendent B. H. Hudson. Among the latter will be Division Engineer R. G. Jones, Trainmaster R. E. Casey, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lophshire and Division Operator J. F. Betts. Agent John E. Ross, of the Pennsylvania, will also attend the funeral. He became acquainted with Mr. Hunter forty years ago and the warm friendship then formed was maintained to the present. The date and place of final interment has not been announced.

FIREMEN ARE PATRIOTIC.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will continue to insure the lives of members without any change on account of the war, or the participation of members in war. Many Canadian members of the brotherhood have already gone to the front, and some have been killed. The policies on these lives have been paid in the usual order.

NETTLETON NEFF RESIGNS.

An unconfirmed rumor in railway circles in Fort Wayne is that Nettleton Neff has resigned from the engineering corps of the United States army for service in France and has tendered his resignation to the Pennsylvania. He was superintendent of the C. A. & C. division of the system.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

J. Asies had a leg bruised and F. Summers sustained an injured hip when he fell from a ladder, Tuesday. Both are General Electric employees. Frank Hebert, Karl Bahlinger and John Mannock, Pennsylvania machinists are at Hoffman lake, spending the Fourth fishing.

Cecil Vaughn, clerk for Master Carpenter D. C. Zook, of the Pennsylvania, is spending the Fourth with relatives at Alwood, Ind.

Passenger Conductor Nick Murphy, of the G. R. & I., has gone to Niagara Falls to spend a two weeks' vacation. His mother resides in that city.

Harry Fertig, G. R. & I. passenger brakeman, is now on the road to recovery from a surgical operation performed for relief from appendicitis.

Nick Merz, Pennsylvania machinist, is expecting to have a surgical operation performed at the Lutheran hospital next Monday. The malady is not of a serious character.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Nichter, Monday. This is the first in the family. Mr. Nichter is a Pennsylvania motive power inspector.

Loyal lodge, No. 85, Ladies' Auxiliary to the E. R. T. will have a tea party in Unity hall Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. All friends are invited.

Robert Neher, a stenographer who is awaiting a call to the colors, having enlisted recently, has taken temporary employment in the motive power office of the Pennsylvania.

G. B. Anderson, of the Nickel Plate, and his family went to Rome City this morning to remain the remainder of the week. They own a cottage at that resort.

Bollemaker H. W. G. Helme, of the Pennsylvania, is still suffering from the effects of a cold contracted while doing some work at Wabash for the company. He has been unable to work since last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora S. Collins left last night on a tour of the eastern cities, which will cover a period of three weeks. Mr. Collins is a conductor on the G. R. & I. road and this trip is his annual vacation outing.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Guy are spending the Fourth with friends in Detroit. Mr. Guy, who is the Wabash division storekeeper, will return home Thursday, stopping at Delray to look after some business connected with his office, but Mrs. Guy will spend the remainder of the week at Detroit.

The Hughes-Kennan company, of Mansfield, is to move its factory to Bellevue and consolidate it with the Klein Iron Works, providing suitable location for factory can be obtained. The people of Bellevue agree to subscribe for $150,000 worth of stock of the new company and the latter agrees to employ over 100 laborers.

An electric sign, one hundred feet long and thirteen feet high, will soon adorn the roof of the carpenter shop building at the General Electric works. It will be particularly visible from the Wabash tracks and is designed to attract attention of passengers on that railway. It will bear the legend, "General Electric Co., Fort Wayne Works."

PERSHING, THE PADLOCK.

General Pershing and his American army will form the padlock that will close the steel chain around the Teutonic alliance and lock the Germans in for the final crushing blow. The entry of Pershing's army on the battlefield of Europe is conceded to be the locking of the great allied chain from which Germany can have no escape.

NAMES J. H. KOEHLER AS CO-RESPONDENT

Chester W. Shannon Charges His Wife Ollie With Adultery in Suit.

Trouble comes not single handed. John H. (Sammy) Koehler has been named correspondent in a divorce suit filed in superior court. Chester W. Shannon has sued his wife, Ollie Shannon, for divorce, charging adultery. He states that they were married in May, 1913, and lived together until May 1, of this year when he alleges the defendant committed adultery with one John H. Koehler. In his complaint the plaintiff further recites that the defendant has been cruel and inhuman to him in that she associated with lewd men, visited rooms and drank intoxicating liquors. He says that when he discovered this he left her. The plaintiff asks for the decree and asks that she be restrained by order of court from contracting debts in his name.

Transient Merchants Pay.
County Assessor William Eggeman has been busy the past few days assessing taxes on transient merchants. W. C. Woods, of Toledo, who has opened a shoe store in this city was assessed $76 taxes on $2,500 worth of goods. C. C. Winkler, of Indianapolis, who has been shipping car loads of watermelons into Ft. Wayne and dispensing them with the commission houses was asked to pay $650 on a car now standing on the Nickel Plate tracks.

Damages for Auto Crash.
Fred F. Reinking, a milkman, has sued H. G. Dygert et al., for damages to the amount of $50.64. The plaintiff states that the defendant operating a big truck on Harrison street on May 6, 1917, carelessly bumped into the plaintiff's car at Killea avenue and damaged it to the extent of $45.64. He was forced to rent another auto to deliver milk which he says cost him $5.

Lawyers Sue for Fees.
Emrick & Emrick, partners in the law business, have begun suit against Peter P. and Josie Pierce for $200 alleged to be due on an account. The plaintiffs state that they performed legal services for which they were never paid.

Will Open Bids.
Trustee Allen Hamilton will open bids for schools number 6, 7 and 8 in his office Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. If the bids are within the limit work will be begun at once.

Will Is Filed.
The last will and testament of Oscar L. Perry has been filed. He bequeaths his entire estate to his sister-in-law, Hattie Perry.

Session Ends.
The annual session of the Allen county board of review came to a close Tuesday. Thirty strenuous days were spent in equalling assessments.

Marriage License.
Albert O. Schneek, billing clerk, to Lillian Gaskill.
Willard Milfred Thomas, assistant secretary, to Bernadette Marie Dittos.
Norman J. Shondell, city employee, to Odella M. Harris.
Paul A. Hunt, cook, to Anna Chapman.

PIONEER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Henrietta Kolthoff Had Lived in City for 53 Years.

Henrietta Kolthoff, widow of Frederick Kolthoff, died at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night at her home, 810 Huestis avenue. Mrs. Kolthoff was 75 years old and death resulted from the infirmities of old age. She had suffered a fall three months ago, in which she sustained a broken hip, and this hastened her death. Mrs. Kolthoff was an old resident of Fort Wayne. She was born in Dielen, Westphalia, Germany, and had lived in the city for the past fifty-three years. She was a member of the Emmaus Lutheran church and of the Ladies' Sewing society. Surviving relatives are three children, William Kolthoff, Mrs. Ferdinand Paul and Miss Louise Kolthoff; one sister, Mrs. Henry Winkelmeyer; one sister, Mrs. Charles Solomon, of Washington township, and three grandchildren.

CONNER.
Charles Conner, aged 35 years, died at the Lutheran hospital Tuesday night at 11:45 o'clock. His home was on New Haven avenue, rural route 13, and he had been confined in the hospital since June 28. He was a laborer employed in the concrete gang working on the Lincoln highway. He was born in Champane county, Ohio, and had lived in Fort Wayne for five years. He was a member of the United Brethren church. Surviving relatives are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Conner; the wife, Daisy Conner; five children, Charles, Carl, Irwin, Hazel and Harry, all living at home; five brothers, David, William, Aey and Clarence, all of this city, and Albert, of Montpelier; four sisters, Mrs. Stella Smith and Mrs. Clara Harper, of this city; Mrs. Florence Atkinson, of Baldwin, Ohio, and Miss Susie Conner, of Indianapolis. Funeral announcements later.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.
Foster—Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Foster will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Kleahn & Melchior chapel. Interment in Lindenwood.

Gorman—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Gorman will be held Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence, 513 Masterson avenue, and at 9 o'clock at the St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment in Catholic cemetery.

O'Melia—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna O'Melia will be held Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home, 1402 West Main street, and at 9 o'clock at the St. Paul's Catholic church. Interment in Catholic cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.
We desire in this manner to thank our many friends for the assistance, kindness and beautiful floral offerings during the sickness and death of our beloved mother. We especially thank the Rt. Rev. Monsgr. J. H. Oechtering for the kind tribute and comforting words.
Anna E. Bothner.
John G. Bothner.

NAME OFFICERS FOR COMMERCIAL CLUB

H. B. Clugston is Chosen Head of Organization at Columbia City.

[Special to The Sentinel.]
Columbia City, Ind., July 4.—H. B. Clugston was chosen president, A. S. Nowels was re-elected vice president and Charles J. Eyanson was made secretary, with W. H. Carter succeeding himself as treasurer of the Columbia City Commercial club at the regular meeting held Monday evening in the club rooms. The directors were re-elected as follows: C. J. Eyanson, A. S. Nowels, W. F. Rossman, H. B. Clugston and D. V. Whiteleather. The club's receipts for the year were $1,500, and the balance on hand is $328. The retiring officers of the club, former President W. W. Williamson and Secretary Walter T. Binder, had served two years very efficiently, and Monday evening expressed their gratitude to the other club officers and to the membership of the club for the loyal support given them during their incumbency.

Viewers Named.
The county commissioners Tuesday appointed viewers for the new proposed gravel road improvements in Columbia township, extending along the main traveled roads into Columbia City, after having over-ruled the remonstrance filed against the improvements by Attorney Joseph R. Harrison, whose contention was that by the time illegal names had been withdrawn from the petition there would be less than the number of remonstrants. The commissioners decided to call an election, to be set later, for all the roads, including those that could be passed under the three-mile law, and the viewers appointed to act and report at the next term are Levi Keiser, Edward Scott and Engineer David A. Walter. Columbia City Short Items.

Gray, of Richland township, and Mrs. Lela, daughter of Jacob Heister, of Noble county, who has been residing in South Whitley, were wedded Tuesday afternoon at the home of Rev. D. B. Kessinger in this city, and will reside on the groom's farm in Richland township.

Opal Dillie, alias Jack Morley, who is accused by his friend, Otis E. Snyder, of having forged $400 worth of checks against the latter's account, remained in the county jail over the Fourth, none of his relatives or friends having volunteered to furnish him $1,000 bond.

John Emrick is having a cottage erected on the north shore of Tri-Lake. L. Didier, employe in the Electric works at Fort Wayne, who is now on a vacation at the Tri-Lake resort, is suffering with a severe case of blood poisoning in the right hand, which was injured several days ago while he was engaged in his work.

CHIEFS OUTSWAT BENDERS AND WIN BY SCORE OF 8 to 2

FORT WAYNE TAKES

LAST OF SERIES

Norton, Local's New Shortstop, Plays a Sensational Game.

South Bend, Ind., July 4.—Gathering thirteen hits and playing sensational ball, the Fort Wayne Chiefs defeated the Benders here yesterday. Both pitchers, Higbee, of Fort Wayne, and Schettler, of South Bend, fell before the swats of the two teams, Higbee having the best of the argument. Today's win makes the Chiefs cop the long end of the series. South Bend was off in the fielding and the Chiefs a great deal by their blunders.

The visitors put the game on ice in the seventh when five markers were chalked up by the scorers. In the same frame the locals were not after them but were checked by Kowalewski, who came to the aid of Higbee. Norton, the Chiefs' new shortstop, played a wonderful game of ball, taking many chances that looked good for hits.

Fort Wayne got two in the first when Breaux started it with a swat, Norton following with another of the same variety. Breaux scored when Schettler let the ball go through him. Siegfried sacrificed and Norton was safe at the plate when Smith grounded to short. The Chiefs were only paying the way for the fateful seventh when they played horse with the Benders. The seventh started with Norton being thrown out and Siegfried being walked and Smith safe on Allen's error. Kelly and Brown booted two and helped to gather the five needed. The locals came back hard in the eighth and failed to gather enough to cover the lead of the Chiefs.

NO APOLOGY HAS BEEN NEEDED FOR AMATEUR AND COLLEGE ATHLETES

(By Paul Purman.)
No greater tribute can be paid to the effect of amateur athletics on the average youth than the way college and amateur athletes respond when Uncle Sam went to war.

Hardly had the call been sent out for recruits when college men, many of them the country's greatest athletes, rushed to the colors and enlisted in their favorite branches of the service.

Golfers, tennis players, amateur ball players, athletes of every description sought out recruiting offices or applied for places in the officers' reserve corps.

College baseball teams were broken up, hopes of football teams in many colleges were shattered, track teams and crews were disbanded, coaches joined with their pupils, golf tournaments were abandoned, tennis classics given up.

Amateur athletes are doing their bit, they are showing that their athletic training has done more for them than simply making them good physical specimens, it has built up their courage and made them self-sufficient and unshakable.

Professional baseball has done its bit in

HARRY SMITH TOPS FORT WAYNE BATTERS

Former Local Player, Now With Springfield, Heads the League.

W. T. Morrissey, secretary of the Central league, gives out the league's batting, with Catcher Harry Smith topping the list of Fort Wayne pill busters. Harry just now is swatting something like .346, and seems to have the ability to make it more. Smith is one of the best catchers in the league and is sure to rank among the high birds in the league standing. He has one beautiful peg to second and carries himself well when on the field.

Whitely Hartle is the league's leading batter with .362 to his credit.

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

Richmond, Ind., July 4.—Shoup and Turner were forced to crawl into the dug-out by the locals here yesterday when they made life unbearable for Evansville, winning with ease 11 to 3. Ainsworth was invincible, holding the visitors to one hit until the eighth.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 4.—Muskegon was running like a top yesterday and had the game on ice when the locals scored four times off of one hit, taking the contest 6 to 5.

Dayton, O., July 4.—Scoring all their runs in the first, Dayton protected themselves from the runs which the Reapers made during the closing rounds of the game, winning 6 to 4.

FACULTY NO LONGER IN CHARGE OF ATHLETICS

Change is Made at the University of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, July 4.—The government of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania has passed out of the hands of the faculty. Hereafter the control of sports will be distributed among the athletic association, the board of trustees and the faculty, with the trustees having as much power in actual vote as the combined number of the undergraduate representatives of the athletic association and the teachers. The new body will be known as the university council of athletics. This action was announced today by the board of directors of the athletic association. The new arrangement will go into effect as soon as members of the council are selected, which probably will be in the fall.

THE STATE SPORTSMEN CALL OFF THEIR MEET

Officers of the Tri-State Sportsmen's association have issued the following letter to its members:

Inasmuch as your president has been called to follow the flag and your secretary is expecting a call at any time; further, as there is a great war on our nation's hands, and from the heads of the government we are implored to be industrious, productive, economical and patriotic.

Your officers have concluded that it would be the part of wisdom, as our annual meetings are principally occasions for the renewing of acquaintances for the cultivation of deeper friendship and more lasting sociability, to postpone our 1917 meeting, to have been held at the Elks' club here Aug. 22, to 1918, same date and place.

Dr. A. G. Emrick, Secretary.

Dr. James W. Squires, President.

BASEBALL A MELTING POT—ALL NATIONS PLAY NATIONAL GAME

That baseball is one of the great agents in converting foreigners into Americans is shown by the lineup of Connie Mack's ball club.

Rube Schauer, a Russian, is one of the pitchers; Meyer, a Pole, is the second string catcher. Schang, the other catcher, is of German descent. McNinn, of Irish parentage, is at first; Grover, thesecond baseman, is German; Shortstop Witt really answers to the name Whalldemar Witski, and is a Pole; Bates at third is English.

Other teams in the league could furnish several other nationalities. Cioetto, of Chicago, is French; several Cubans are playing in the majors. Burns, of the Giants, is of Scotch descent; Olson, of the Dodgers, can trace his ancestry back to Scandinavia, and Chief Myers is an Indian.

FAIR DIANAS WHO ARE TRAPSHOOTING CHAMPS

(By Peter P. Carney.)
Editor National Sports Syndicate.

Not many years ago women were conspicuous by their absence in trapshooting matters, but such is not the case today. Thus far eight states have held women's trapshooting championship events as follows:

Illinois—Mrs. A. H. Winkler, Chicago.

Delaware—Miss D. H. Hammond, Wilmington.

California—Miss M. Wilson, Tulsa.

Pennsylvania—Mrs. F. H. Mellon, Pittsburg.

California—Mrs. C. E. Groat, Los Angeles.

New Jersey—Mrs. F. A. Johnson, Atlantic City.

Connecticut—Mrs. F. F. Rodgers, Stamford.

Iowa—Miss E. Wetleaf, Nichols.

It will be a matter of a few years only when there will be a women's trapshooting championship event held in every state, the same as is held for men, and the women will have a little grand American trophy of their own. Trapshooting is an ideal sport for women and they should be encouraged in shooting at all tournaments.

The best score made by a woman in championship competition was by Mrs. Groat, in the California-Nevada shoot, when she broke 95 of the clay saucers.

These fair Dianus and many more will be found in the Grand American trapshooting tournament, which takes place at the South Shore Country club, Chicago, the third week in August. There will be special events for women in this tournament.

Four—eleven—forty—four!

The signal's called, the game's begun.

The halfback hits the stone wall line.

The end men circle on the run.

Four—eleven—forty—four!

The gray line shivers at the fall

Of rushing backs, of plunging men.

But on he dashes with the ball.

Four—eleven—forty—four!

Perhaps that signal call of old

Will stir the athlete's heart again

As he stumbles toward the goal.

Toward a strange and distant goal,

As shrapnel screams and mortars roar,

CONCORDIA AND ST. PAUL KIDDIES FROLIC

Annual Picnic Being Held in Campus Grounds of Concordia College.
School children of St. Paul's and Concordia Lutheran churches frolicked Wednesday at the annual picnic and field meet held at the Concordia campus grounds. The children marched to the grove at 8:30 o'clock in the morning where opening exercises were held.

A band concert was given at 10 o'clock and at noon dinner was served. The afternoon was to be devoted to athletic events, the winners of which were to be awarded with prizes.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the Auditor's office at Fort Wayne, Indiana, until 10 o'clock A. M. on Monday, July 30th, 1917, for furnishing material and construction of Tuberculosis Hospital on new County Farm. Bids will be received separately for the general contract and for the plumbing, water fitting, steam heating and electric wiring in connection. Bids must be accompanied by good and sufficient bond equal to the amount of the bid, as required by law, and the necessary affidavit required by the Act of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, in such cases made and provided. Bonds signed by two freehold sureties, residents in the State, or by properly authorized and qualified bonding or surety company will be accepted by the Board. Bids must be according to the plans and specifications approved by State Board of Health now on file in the Auditor's Office of Allen County. Bidders must submit their proposals, bonds and affidavits on blank forms to be furnished by the County Auditor on application. The Board of Commissioners reserves the right to reject any and all bids. By order of the Board of Commissioners of Allen County, Indiana.
HENRY A. WETZEL,
AUDITOR OF ALLEN COUNTY, Indiana.
Attest: WILL JOHNSON,
Auditor Allen County, Indiana.

TO MOBILIZE BEFORE AUGUST 5 IS BELIEF

Major B. E. Wimer Inspects
Company E.

Company E, Fort Wayne's unit of infantry in the First Indiana regiment, will mobilize before August 5, is the belief, according to Major Ben E. Wimer, who was in the city Tuesday night and conducted an inspection of the records and books of the infantry company. A few weeks may find them under orders as the major gave final instructions for mobilization.

The major found the records of Captain Ray McAdams in excellent condition. Everything else was found in tip-top shape.

Three members of Battery D, who were unable to get to Fort Wayne, Monday, when their organization entered for Fort Harrison have reported to the officers of Battery E and will be given transportation to the fort Thursday morning. Several more are expected.

All efforts will be directed Wednesday afternoon towards securing more recruits for both the battery and the infantry.

LOCAL GIRLS TAKE CONFERENCE HONORS

Convention of High School Girls at Clear Lake Was Great Success.

Fort Wayne high school girls who attended the conference at Hazenhurst hotel at Clear Lake, held under the auspices of the High School Friendship club of the Y. W. C. A., carried off honors in the athletic contests.

Miss Flora Gerberding was winner in the singles in tennis and received a large "Y" at the banquet. Small "Y's" were awarded to the following Fort Wayne girls: Victoria Gross, Flora Gerberding, Gertrude Schwehn and Elizabeth Rogier.

Nearly thirty Fort Wayne girls attended this convention, at which representatives from Muncie, South Bend and Indianapolis were also present. The advisors and chaperones were Misses Moore, Cline and Mershon, of Indianapolis; Miss Marsh, of South Bend; Miss Ickerman, of Muncie, and Misses Cole, Gwinn, Harrah and Wingert, of Fort Wayne.

A Bible class was conducted each day by Miss Ickerman. The council hour in which club work was discussed, was led by Miss Harrah. Recreation period was in charge of Miss Mershon. E. W. Pierce, general secretary of the Fort Wayne Y. W. C. A., talked to the girls on Sunday evening. The conference began June 25 and ended Monday evening, July 2.

A "kiosk party" will be held Friday night at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock. High school girls interested in the conference pictures are invited. A banquet will be held Saturday night.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS BIG PATRIOTIC PARADE

Special Exercises Are Held in Spencerville M. E. Church.

Special to The Sentinel). Spencerville, Ind., July 4.—Patriotic day was observed at the M. E. Sunday School on Sunday, by special bible readings and songs and special collection, which amounted to $9.57. In the evening Children's Day services were held. The house was filled to overflowing, even standing room being taken up and many on the outside. Many fine readings and songs were enjoyed, but the top notch was reached when the "True Blue" class gave a Red Cross drill. They were assisted by two soldiers boys, Standly Shutt and Ray Zimmerman. Mrs. John Denninghoff had charge of the drill.

Spencerville Short Items.
Riscoc Walter and wife, of Auburn, spent Sunday with their respective parents, Henry Walter and wife, and Cora Steward and family.

G. W. Rectenwal and wife accompanied by Charles Chapman, wife and son, Richard, motored to Robinson park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Webb spent Sunday at Auburn, the guests of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Kees, of Ft. Wayne, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Betz, of this place; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Betz and son Forrest, of Woodburn; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Billman and Glenn Stewart, of Wises Corners; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jermer and family, of Harlan were entertained on Sunday

PLACES POPULATION OF CITY AT 88,500

Polk's New Directory Shows 1,140 Increase Over Last Year.

According to the estimate of the new city directory, which has just been published, the population of Fort Wayne is 88,500, the figures for 1917 showing an increase of 1,140 over the figures of last year. The book is published by R. L. Polk & Co. and is the forty-fourth volume. The book contains 44,250 names. This figure, multiplied by two, the lowest multiple used in any directory in the country, gives the figures of 88,500.

FOURTH OF JULY GREAT DAY FOR FRENCH

AMERICAN TROOPS IN PARIS RECEIVE UNSTINTED HOMAGE

Ceremonies at Grave of Lafayette Are Marked by Solemn Inci-

POPULACE AGAIN WILD OVER TROOPS

Paris, Wednesday, July 4, 3:15 p. m.—(Delayed)—When the 230th regiment of French territorials with its band escorted the battalion picked from the regiments of United States infantry into the court of honor as a part of the Independence Day celebration, the court, the arcades and the corridors of the invalids resounded with the prolonged acclamation of the company of massed spectators that left just room enough for the troops to form a hollow square.

Standing in the center were descendants of soldiers of the American revolution with fanions in United States colors and the colors of a major general of the United States army—a flag of red ground with two silver stars—embroidered by French women, and American veterans who fought with the French in the war of 1870 with the flag of the American volunteers in the French foreign legion.

Children from all the primary schools in the quarter were given the best places. Along part of the Avenue Daumesnil there were thousands of them calling: "Teddy, Teddy, Teddy," and throwing flowers. The American soldiers, affected by all this enthusiasm, smiled and waved their hands at the children.

French military men frequently commented on the appearance of the American soldiers, their snappy marching gait and their soldierly air.

At Grave of Lafayette.

At Peches cemetery, where General Lafayette is buried, the American troops passed through the arched gateway to the old convent, where they rested in the large garden. In the little burial ground adjoining were gathered three or four hundred persons, including prominent Americans and Frenchmen.

WHAT IT COSTS TO KEEP UP AMERICA'S FIGHTING FORCES

Washington, July 5.—An idea of the enormous cost to maintain America's fighting forces is given in a statement issued by the committee on public information today showing the relative amount expended in 1915, when the country was at peace, and to be expended this year. Subsistence, for instance, which in 1915 was supplied at the modest cost of $9,800,000, this year has been provided for in the appropriation estimates at $133,000,000. Clothing and camp garrison equipment, which two years ago were had for $6,500,000, will cost this year $231,000,000.

Ordnance stores and supplies which in 1915 were furnished for only $700,000 this year will cost more than $156,000,000.

Manufacture of arms, which in 1915 cost $450,000, this year will cost more than $25,000,000.

Ammunition for small arms which in 1915 was had at $875,000, this year will cost $148,000,000. Transportation, which in 1915 was furnished at $13,000,000, this year will cost $222,000,000. Regular supplies, which in 1915 cost $10,000,000, this year will cost $110,000,000. For aeronautics $450,000 was appropriated in 1915, while $47,000,000 already has been appropriated for this year. This does not include, of course, the administration's big aircraft program, which calls for an initial appropriation of $639,000,000. Among the items already purchased are: 5,000,000 blankets, 37,000,000 yards of bobbinette, 2,000,000 coats, 45,500,000 yards of cotton cloth, 21,200,000 of unbleached drilling, 6,000,000 pairs of shoes and 11,191,000 pairs of light wool socks.

UPHEAVAL IN SAXON STATE

Kingdom Faces Grave Crisis
Unless Political Re-

NO LOYALTY FELT FOR THE MONARCH

Soldiers Fight Only for the Fatherland and the Mon-archic Principle.

Copenhagen, July 5.—Saxon soldiers are not fighting out of loyalty to the king but for love of the fatherland and monarchy principle. Saxony is suffering badly from the mistakes of an incompetent bureaucracy and conditions have reached a state that all parties in the Saxon parliament are forced seriously to warn the government of the danger of the situation. Such were the disagreeable declarations which the government was forced to hear from all parties except the conservatives, in a debate in the Saxon diet yesterday, a report of which has reached here.

Demand Reforms. The discussion was on necessary internal reforms. The occasion for the debate was a socialist resolution demanding that the government make an effort to secure liberal reorganization of the empire. After Count Vitzthum, premier of Saxony, had declared on the contrary that the Saxon government would fight any attempt to secure any franchise reform in individual states, through the reichstag, the socialist vice president of the house, himself an ex-soldier, flatly denied that loyalty to the king played any role with the soldiers.

Warns Against Reaction. He warned Count Vitzthum against persisting in his reactionary attitude, saying that reform would come, if not from the crown then from the mob. Count Vitzthum attempted to meet the storm with the old formula, devotion to the crown, but even the national liberals backed the socialists with identical declarations, regarding the sentiment of the people.

After this debate, almost unparalleled in a German legislature since the days of 1848, the diet adopted the socialist resolution, the conservatives also dissenting.

The minister said the abandonment of the Saloniki campaign was impossible, but he regarded the Italian offensive on the Isonzo and in the Tyrole as shattered. His view of the Russian offensive are unreported if expressed.

Garrett, Ind., July 5.—William Depew, 70 years old, a well known farmer living a mile and a half west of here, was hit by a Fort Wayne & Northwestern traction car at midnight at the Baker street crossing in Altona and instantly killed.

Depew had stooped over to light a match with which to flag the car when it crashed into him, hurling him for some distance. He was dead when members of the crew reached him. The right side of his skull was crushed. His body was not mutilated in the least. It is thought that he had failed to reckon the distance properly, thinking the car was farther away than it was.

Depew was single and lived on his own farm west of Garrett with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wilmot. He was born and reared on this farm. The surviving relatives include two sisters in Chicago, a brother and sister in California, a sister in Detroit, a sister in Canton, Ky., and a sister in Oceanville, N. J.

Following the accident the interurban car backed up and brought the body to Hinklin's undertaking establishment in this city.

GERMAN U-BOAT SENDS DOWN AN ARGENTINE SHIP

Rome, Tuesday, July 3.—The sinking of the Argentine steamship, Toro, last month by a German submarine, was announced today in the following official statement:

"The Argentine steamer, Toro, laden with wool for Switzerland, was shelled and sunk by a German submarine in the Atlantic outside the barred zone on June 22. The Toro had the Argentine flag painted on her sides and before the shelling showed papers demonstrating her nationality to the submarine commander.

"A French steamer picked up the thirteen sailors and an officer. The captain and the remainder of the crew were landed on July 2."

The torpedoing of the Toro was announced in Buenos Aires on June 25. The Argentine foreign office declared that the ship would be entered against Germany.

LOOKING OUT FOR

National Advisory Council is Named to Report to the Emperor.

Tokio, July 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Belief that the European war is nearing a climax, and Japan's conviction that she should carefully examine her own internal situation are thought to be the chief reasons for the recent creation of a national advisory council, which shall be responsible to the emperor. It is an unprecedented step that Japan has taken. The new council is officially called the temporary diplomatic investigation committee, and it is composed of prominent men both inside and outside the cabinet. Premier Count Terauchi originated the idea and it received the sanction of Emperor Yoshihito.

Count Terauchi is anxious to secure national unity particularly on questions of foreign relations. He seems convinced that Japan has reached a period of life when a sturdy constructive policy should be rigidly adhered to in the interest of national progress. As a means to this end he seeks the support of the elements in the diet who are opposed to his administration.

The council, which will meet at the palace, will be a guide to diplomacy, something as the genro, or elder statesmen, have been in the past. For the execution of matters decided on by the committee the cabinet will bear a responsibility.

AMERICAN FIRE LADDIES DOUSE BLAZE IN JUAREZ

Juarez, Mex., July 5.—An American fire company crossed into Mexico last night and put out a fire which was beyond control. The loss was estimated at $100,000 gold.

GERMAN SECRET AGENTS INFEST UNITED STATES

Officials at Washington Declare the Would Startle World.

BIG HUNT FOR SPIES NOW UNDER WAY

Washington, July 5.—Officials, who for obvious reasons, cannot be quoted, declared today that if the government's activities against German spies in the United States could be published, the news would startle the world.

While not admitting they are convinced that the spy system was entirely responsible for the massed submarine attack on the transports of General Pershing's expedition, it was said that the combined forces of the state, war, navy and justice departments were working together and systematically unearthing information of an amazing character, and of great value to the government. It was pointed out that even with the strictest censorship of mails, cables and press, the European allies have not been able to meet the situation to their complete satisfaction. The problem is of far greater magnitude in this country with thousands of aliens, an immense border and countless possible means of outside communication.

Secret service operations, necessarily carried on under cover, are given little or no publicity and this fact, officials say, gives rise to a surmise

Summary of the Day's War News

With Russia proving that her army, now rehabilitated, can strike telling blows again, the entente forces apparently are preparing to resume the forward movement on the western front.

Notable activity is developing in Belgium, Germany senses the trend of things there, without question and extraordinary efforts by her airmen to find out what is going on behind the British lines are reflected in the official statements.

From all appearances the German fliers are having poor success. London's report last night, for instance, showed nine German airplanes put out of action to one lost by the British.

That the British blow will fall north of Arras is the German expectation, according to General von Stein, the Prussian minister of war. He told a German reichstag committee yesterday that General Haig apparently was preparing for an offensive on a large scale in this area.

All Hobo and Gypsy Camps

Sheriff George W. Gillie announces that he has warned people for the last time who allow their hogs, geese, cows and horses or any other kind of animal to roam around and destroy other people's gardens.

He was called to the rolling mill district again Thursday morning, where he spent the greater portion of the forenoon in chasing geese and hogs out of gardens and notifying the owners that the next time he came out he would seize the animals and hold them for damages.

He also states that people are given permission by section No. 3244 of the Indiana statutes to seize all animals that are found on their property. The owner can then be notified in writing and if he calls immediately he can be made to pay $1.50. If the owner does not call immediately he can be forced to pay $3 for the trouble and also be made to pay for all expenses incurred.

If the sheriff seizes the animals they will be held for damages and if the owner does not call for them within a reasonable space of time they will be sold. The sheriff is emphatic in making these statements and will not hesitate to realize his plan if needs be. This does not only apply to the rolling mill district but all other districts in the county which are

POCKETS TO GO; KNAPSACKS FOR MEN NEXT YEAR

Chicago, July 5.—Fat men will look fatter and thin men thinner if they conform to the styles forecast for the coming season by garment authorities for the convention of the National Association of Clothing Designers, which opened today. The scant English styles are to be resumed, they say, and suits will be patterned with sharp, form-defining lines. It is also predicted that spring suits in 1918 will be without belts, cuffs or pockets, and that men will be compelled to carry knapsacks or bags for the belongings which formerly rested in pockets.

Scarcity of wool is credited with much of the responsibility for these radical changes in style and government orders for cloth conservation have prompted economy in coats and suits. The contemplated elimination of excess cloth from men's clothing will save, approximately, 100,000,000 yards during the next season.

Formerly a knee-length garment, the suit coat will be cut to the waist, and the trousers will be restricted to Uncle Sam's uniform makers and several designers said those who wish to do military garb must go into some arm of the service.

$25,000 FIRE ON FOURTH

Many Autos Destroyed in Blaze at Ft. Wayne Transfer Barn.

SEVENTEEN HEAD OF HORSES ARE RESCUED

Damaged Building Will Be Repaired at Once—Other Conflagrations.

The Fort Wayne Transfer company barn, 1311 South Harrison street, was gutted and twenty-seven automobiles consumed, at a loss of $23,000 in the fiercest of four blazes which marked the fourth of July in Fort Wayne. Thousands of people crowded the streets and lawns in the region of the garage conflagration, between 6:30 and 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. Work of the firemen was hindered by the throng of spectators and an extra squad of police were called out to force the people back from the burning structure.

Company employees rescued seventeen head of horses from the second floor of the transfer company building before the blaze had spread over the entire second story.

Origin of the blaze is unknown. Electrical apparatus connected with the elevator may have started the fire, say employees, who state that the fire seemed to have moved out from the elevator shaft. A woman living across the street from the building discovered the fire when tongues of flame broke through the roof. She ran over to the transfer company building and told employees. Firemen were summoned from the office.

The heavy auto truck from the central fire station was badly damaged by an accident, when Driver John Harvey ran the machine across the Harrison street curbing in order to avoid striking a passenger laden automobile, which was being speeded towards the fire. The piece of fire apparatus crushed the curbing for several yards and broke off a pole, supporting a patrol box. D. S. Graney, perched behind the driver, was almost thrown from the fire truck. Other firemen saved themselves by jumping when the machine started across the curbing. The truck, with one front wheel wobbling, continued to the fire.

Everett Lamb, colored, barn man for the transfer company, was a host of the blaze. He was instrumental in removing thirty-five automobiles from the first floor of the building. After he had run ten cars from the main floor to Harrison street, his calls for help brought him a long line of firemen aided in pushing other automobiles from the blazing structure. Lamb was drenched with water from the plying fire streams as he drove the last car from the bottom floor.

Damage to the elevator shaft prevented the rescue of autos from the second story of the building. Most of the twenty-seven cars, reduced to junk, belonged to A. L. Randall. They were partly insured. Two limousines were in the number. The majority of autos were second-hand machines, although nearly as good as new.

A tallyho, four horse drawn baggage wagons, four horse cabs and some scenery were also consumed in the blaze. Fixtures in the office at the front of the building were rescued before water poured into that part of the structure.

Firemen broke windows in the second floor and finally worked their way into the blazing apartment despite the fierce heat. They soon had the fire under control but found nearly every auto on the second floor a total wreck. The horses, removed from the rear of the second story had been protected by a fire proof wall.

The building will be repaired at once. Business of the transfer company will not be slackened. The loss to the structure is partly covered by insurance.

Other Fires.

Two homes were badly damaged and an automobile partly destroyed by other blazes which called out firemen.

Fireworks started the blaze in the home of Henry Horstman, 608 East Lewis street, at 12:30. Children were playing with firecrackers. Rear of the house was damaged.

A defective stove pipe set fire to the home of H. G. Hrelia, 201 Grater street. Loss is set at $50.

Firemen were also called to Wells and Huffman streets at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, to answer a false alarm.

An over-heated engine set fire to the automobile belonging to Henry Berghoff, of the City Carriage works. The chemical wagon from No. 1 station was called. The auto was badly damaged.

Fourth of July was truly safely and sanely celebrated in Fort Wayne. People swarmed by thousands to the various parks and lakes and enjoyed the day in this manner. The above semi-official reports give an idea of where the people spent the day.

The day was an extremely quiet one in comparison to former years. There was very little boisterousness and although the children enjoyed the day the noise of the big cannon crackers was not heard. Only one minor accident was reported. Harry Todd was taken to St. Joseph hospital suffering from a burn in the face from a fire cracker.

Robison park drew the largest crowd of the day. Every car which traveled to the park until nine o'clock in the evening was filled and cars coming from the park from six until midnight were over-filled.

It is estimated that at least ten thousand people attended the good citizenship picnic at Swinney park in the afternoon and evening. A patriotic program was rendered and drills were given by Company E and veterans of the civil war, and a demonstration by the Red Cross.

Hon. A. J. Rucker, of Indianapolis, delivered the principal address of the day and others who spoke to the large assembled audience were Judge Samuel S. Hench, Col. D. N. Foster, Postmaster E. C. Miller and Mrs. C. S. Ridenour. Rev. T. M. Cole, of Huntington, gave a splendid patriotic address in the evening.

Red Cross Exhibition.

Company E gave a drill, after which the Red Cross girls rushed to the scene of a sham battle and cared for the "wounded." The "injured boys" were rushed to the field hospital where they were cared for by Dr. W. W. Barnett and Dr. A. H. Macbeth.

The Sahara quartet added much to the pleasure of the day by the rendition of many numbers. The entire affair was a great success. Much of the credit is due to Rev. E. Q. Laudemann, who labored hard and faithfully to make the celebration a success.

Veterans Drill.

The drill of the civil war veterans at Swinney park was a big feature of the demonstration. Thirty veterans took part. They were:

S. M. Hench, Eighty-third Indiana; D. L. Beaber, Thirty-fourth Indiana; S. S. Keiser, Eleventh Indiana; Henry

B. Otto, 207th Pennsylvania; Ephraim Hunt, Second Ohio battery; William E. Williams, Seventh Indiana; Noah Knepper, Thirty-eighth Indiana; William Donnell, First Ohio Infantry; Henry Frech, Twelfth Indiana; E. H. White, Tenth Michigan; Jacob Reiling, Forty-seventh Indiana; William Kinck, Seventy-fourth Indiana; John O'Hara, Tenth United States cavalry; Peter Monnett, 142d Indiana; C. N. Thomas, Forty-fourth Indiana; Joseph Kieckley, Eighty-eighth Indiana; Zachariah Herren, Forty-first Ohio; Michael Latty, Seventy-second Ohio; J. W. Miller, Seventy-fourth Indiana; William Griebel, 157th Indiana; John W. Rhine, Forty-seventh Indiana; John Kress, Forty-fourth Indiana; Samuel Miller, Eighty-eighth Indiana; Isaac Edsall, Forty-fourth Indiana; William E. Cottrell, Illinois; Samuel K. Waterson, 152d Indiana.

Nearly five thousand people enjoyed the rustic surroundings in Foster park during the day and many families took their Fourth of July dinners and suppers with them and remained for the evening.

The horse racing at Centlivre park attracted nearly a thousand and other parks in the city were alive with people. Amateur ball games were everywhere in evidence. The baseball game at the Central league park was also well attended.

The day was an ideal one and although the air was cool thousands of people went to the lakes near Fort Wayne. Rome City probably attracted the largest Fort Wayne crowds. Automobile riding was another way in which many spent the day.

BADLY INJURED IN FALL ON STAIRWAY

Harry Smith Meets With a Serious Accident at Lake
Wawasee.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Auburn, Ind., July 5.—Harry Smith, who was injured when he fell from a stairway at Lake Wawasee a few days ago, is improving slowly at Sacred Heart hospital at Garrett. Mr. Smith is a foreman at the Auburn Manufacturing company's plant and had gone to Wawasee to spend his vacation.

When preparing to go in bathing he was about to descend the stairway when a board gave way letting him fall to the bottom. It was at first thought his back was broken and he was rushed to the Garrett hospital. After a thorough examination they found he was badly bruised so that he will be laid up for some time.

Auburn Short Notes.

The membership campaign for the Red Cross is in full swing and everyone is doing their bit to raise the list to the required number.

ONE KILLED AND ONE INJURED AT ANGOLA

Automobile Strikes Washout Near Lake James and is Reduced to Scraps.

Angola, Ind., July 5.—Frank Dawson, manager of the Tom Owen poultry farm, was instantly killed and William Adams, driver of the automobile, was injured when the car in which they were riding struck a washout in the road near Lake James at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Adams' injuries are not serious.

Dawson, who was 45 years of age, was thrown through the windshield and alighted on his head in front of the car, resulting in a broken neck. Adams, the driver, was bruised and cut.

It is stated that the car in which they were riding was traveling at a high rate of speed. When they approached the machine of Dr. Humphries they turned out to pass and hit the washout. The Ford car was demolished. It is believed that the driver was blinded by the headlights on the doctor's car.

The physician administered aid to the injured man and brought the body of Dawson back to Angola. Dawson leaves a widowed mother, 88 years of age.

WANT SWEET CLOVER CUT.

Huntington, Ind., July 5.—Sweet clover may be fine food for bees, but it is not pleasing to people who are special marks for mosquitoes. The board of works recently took sweet clover from the list of noxious weeds to be cut down, and now residents are complaining because the tall plants furnish excellent harbors for mosquitoes. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Welker, north of Huntington, celebrated their seventy-first birthday anniversary Sunday. They were born on the same day, July 1, 1846. They will celebrate their golden wedding next year. Frank Yeiter, a member of Company C, may not get to report with his company when it is called to the colors. He was sentenced to the state farm for 18 days for stealing a pair of clothes. The Red Cross has thrown open its sewing headquarters to any body of women wishing to hold sewing parties, the only stipulation being that the sewing is part of some kind of war work.

SAFE FOURTH AT WARSAW.

Warsaw, Ind., July 5.—Warsaw enjoyed a safe and sane Fourth of July. Not a firecracker was heard. This was due to the ordinance recently passed by the city council, at the suggestion of Governor Goodrich, prohibiting the sale, storage or use of fireworks. Thousands of people were at Winona Lake to see the elaborate patriotic program there. Several thousand children appeared in a "human flag drill."

MITE BOX FOR RED CROSS.

Kendallville, Ind., July 5.—A simple way by which voters in this city may make small contributions to the Kendallville Red Cross, if they so desire, has been provided by O. E. Michaels, city clerk, who has put a mite box in his office. He will ask every voter (man or woman) to drop donations in the mite box after they have registered for the coming city election to be held next fall. Michaels in turn will not accept any fee for his registration work.

NEW WITNESSES IN BROWN CASE

Hartford City, Ind., July 5.—The state has a number of new witnesses to introduce at the second trial of William Fishback, which is to begin July 16. It is said that a number of state witnesses who were to have appeared in the first trial left to avoid taking the witness stand.

BUSINESS AT STANDSTILL.

Hartford City, Ind., July 5.—Business was at a standstill in Hartford City for the Fourth. There was no celebration and many people left the city. Because of a ban placed on the sale of fireworks by the city council the Fourth was celebrated quietly for the first time in many years.

BLUFFTON MAN KILLED ON HIS WAY TO WORK

George Scotton Receives Fatal Injuries Beneath Wheels of Train.

Bluffton, Ind., July 5.—George Scotton, 31 years old, received injuries yesterday afternoon that caused his death half an hour later, when he was hurled beneath the wheels of the cars and badly mangled.

Scotton, an employee of the Bay piano factory, was on his way to work and jumped on a Clover Leaf freight train he was hurled beneath the wheels of the cars and badly mangled. As he did so he was thrown against a cut of box cars on an adjoining track, which threw him back beneath the wheels of the freight. The deceased was unmarried.

WHISTLES BLOW; BELLS RING.

Noise at Huntington, But There Are No Fireworks.

Huntington, Ind., July 5.—Huntington had its first firecrackerless Fourth of July celebration yesterday. The ordinance adopted by the city council prevented the sale of fireworks, and few towns in the county did not follow the lead of the county seat. At 9 o'clock the factory whistles blew one minute, the church bells rang for three minutes. Following this the D. A. R. held flag-raising exercises, with the M. E. church playing the "Star Spangled Banner." The Rev. L. A. Swisher, pastor of the M. E. church, made a short talk and the crowd followed to the parade. The parade was headed by the band of the county board of defense, and the Rev. W. T. Arnold, of Bluffton, delivered the address of the day.

The Huntington contingent at Fort Benjamin Harrison added to the patriotism of the day. The boys were met at Marion and brought overland in time to take part in the parade, and occupy a place of honor on the stage at the theater.

COLUMBIA CITY HAS SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

Larger Part of the Population Spends the Day at Tri-Lake.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, July 5.—The Fourth of July passed off quietly in Columbia City, nearly every place of business being closed down, while the proprietors, as well as business and professional men, clerks and men in other walks of life, took a day of rest, many of them going to the Tri-Lake resort, where a celebration occurred and where Roy Campbell made a balloon flight in the early evening. A short patriotic program was conducted at the resort in the afternoon. Frank M. Northam reading the proclamation of war of April 2, by President Wilson, and Rev. D. B. Kessinger making a short patriotic address.

Columbia City Briefs.

Under the direction of the outdoor committee of the Civic league, of which Mrs. Fred Morsches is chairman, ninety children of the city are maintaining gardens in three different plots of large size in the city. Most of the children have sold the produce from their garden plots and have taken some also for home use. Each child has a plot 20 by 20 feet and the lots are located on North Line street, north terminal of Elm street, and on the south side.

August Kelly and family moved Tuesday from the Ricker property, on North Line street, to the Grissler flat, on East Van Buren street.

William F. Peist of the Clubston Dry Goods Co., is now on a three weeks' vacation and Sunday she and her sister, Mrs. John Raupner and family, will leave for Louisville, Ky., to spend some time with their sister, Mrs. Earl Smith and family.

Upon invitation of S. J. Peabody, who owns the large Wilkeswood farm, southwest of the city, several local children enjoyed an afternoon's picnic party on the farm, and bathing and the "shoot-the-chutes" were enjoyed. In the evening a fireworks display was held and the parents of the children attended the latter event, during the course of which Rev. E. E. Hoshour, of Grace Lutheran church, this city, made a short address on patriotism to the children and their parents. The children all brought well-laden baskets and enjoyed a picnic lunch at the supper hour.

Mrs. Myra S. Gordon, of Logansport, daughter of Rev. Stewart, a former pastor of the Methodist church, will spend Sunday in the city and play the new pipe organ at both morning and evening services at the M. E. church.

The highway petitioned for construction in Richland township, starting at Loraine and joining to the new Corneliussen road improvement, and known as the Cyrus Keiser road, was sold late Tuesday afternoon by the county commissioners to Wolfendale & Crow for $4,897. Arley Fry bid $5,200. Bride No. 8, over Clear creek, in Cleveland township, north of South Whitley, was sold to James E. Clifford for $1,195. The bridge will be constructed of cement and iron, with a concrete block floor. The county board has appointed Earl Wise, of Ellettsburg, as superintendent of construction of the Evans highway, which starts at the Wise corner, goes north to the Swihart corner, and then runs west to the Jesse Miller farm, west of Ellettsburg—a total length of little less than three miles.

When a heavy piece of iron fell on his foot, while he was working on the Gallivan farm, west of town, Tuesday, Oliver Sampson received a fractured toe.

MEET AT FORT BEN.

Purdue and Princeton Stars Divide Individual Honors.

Indianapolis, July 5.—Madden, former Princeton star, and V. Campbell, of Purdue, one of the best distance runners in the west for a couple of years, divided individual honors at the R. O. T. C. track and field meet for Fort Harrison soldiers, at the state fair grounds yesterday afternoon. Each won two firsts, Madden taking the 100-yard dash and the broad jump, while Campbell won the half mile and mile runs.

Miller, formerly of Notre Dame; Lowery, former Franklin college student, and Sayre, ex-University of Minnesota star, were runners-up to Madden and Campbell. Each scored eight points, with a first and a second apiece. No records were broken, but the dashes were run off in creditable time, and Campbell turned the half mile in the fast time of 1:59.

FINALS OF TOURNEYS SLATED FOR SATURDAY

Ed Bond and C. H. Pidgeon Will Play for Spring Title of the Club.

Final rounds in the two golf tournaments now in progress at the Fort Wayne Country club will be played next Saturday. Ed Bond and C. H. Pidgeon will be opposed for the spring championship and a leg on the MacDougal cup, while Jules Simon and J. T. Toy will play for the directors' meet.

In the semi-finals played yesterday Pidgeon defeated E. G. Hoffman, 6 and 4, while Bond defeated A. S. Bond, 4 and 3. In the other meet Simon defeated A. E. Smith on the eighteenth green, 2 up, while Toy won from H. J. Miller, 5 and 4.

In the special tourneys held yesterday for the Red Cross F. I. Brown won the morning match with a score of 76, while W. T. Shepard and A. S. Bond tied for afternoon honors with scores of 70. The proceeds of the entries will be turned over to the local chapter of the Red Cross society.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburg, July 5.—Hugo Bezdek, former athletic trainer and football coach of Oregon university, and lately scout for the Pittsburg Nationals, yesterday accepted the management of the Pirates. Hans Wagner declined to shoulder the responsibility. He will, however, remain field captain and play either first or third base.

Ex-Manager Jimmy Calahan saw both games from the grandstand, and after he was informed last night of the appointment of his successor he said he was reporting every day according to his contract. He avers that he has not been released, but simply relieved of the management of the team, according to written instructions from President Dreyfuss. He is going to report every day and demand full pay for the year. Cal intends staying here until a financial settlement suitable to him is made.

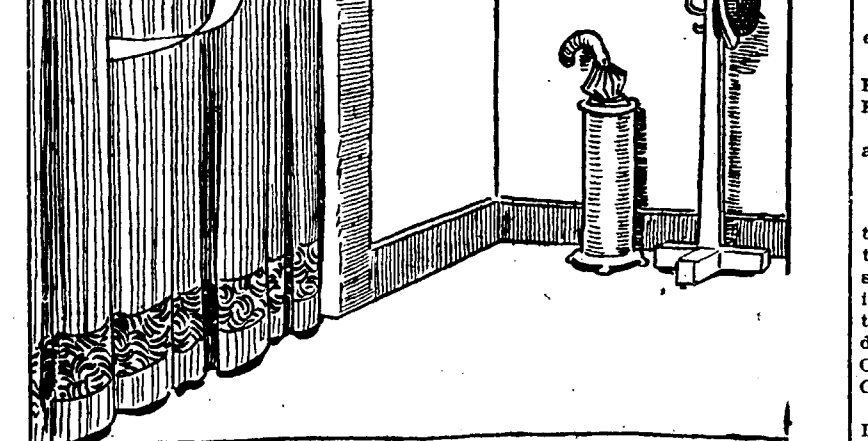

Bezdek was in charge of the Pirates yesterday and they lost a double-header to St. Louis 4 to 3 and 4 to 1. Score morning game: R.H.E. St. Louis 1 0 0 0 3 0 0—4 8 0 Pittsburg 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 5 2 Afternoon game—R.H.E. St. Louis 0 0 0 0 2 0 1—4 10 8 Pittsburg 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—1 5 2 Batteries—Doak and Gonzales; Cooper and Schmidt.

Giants Nail Dodgers.

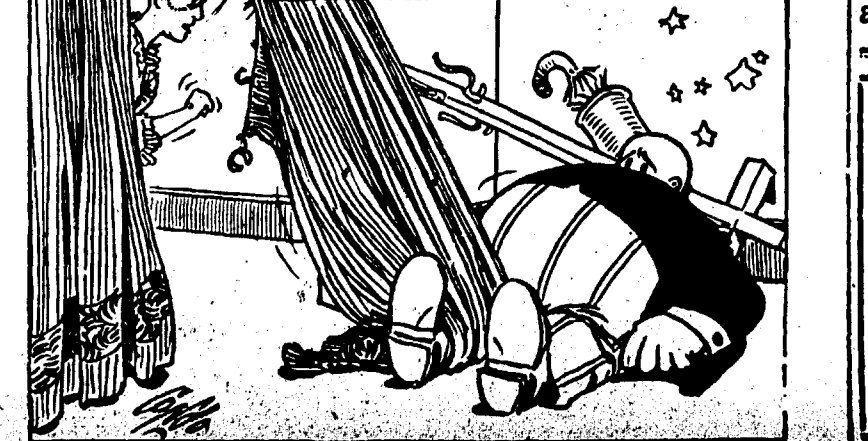

Brooklyn, July 5.—The Giants won two games from Brooklyn, 3 to 2 and 5 to 0. Marquard had a record of winning three and losing none of his games with the Giants since he left them to join Brooklyn last year, but he was knocked out of the box yesterday morning. Jack Coombs had never been beaten by the Giants when he Firemen are paid for fighting fires.

It is no part of the public obligation to block the way and hinder the work of the professional blaze battlers. Police Chief Lenz understands. The chief expects to remove from the natural danger of every conflagration the attributes of curiosity, speed and an over-willingness to assist in the fire fighting. The action of hundreds of citizens in thronging about the burning transfer company garage Wednesday evening and the growing tendency of many people to visit every fire, is the cause of new police orders pertaining directly to city blazes. Motorcycle police will make every fire. They will trail the speeding fire apparatus. Their function will be to see that other citizens do not speed after the big red wagons. Many lives have been endangered of late by reckless auto driving when fire alarms have been sounded. Chief Lenz setates. All persons caught speeding after the fire apparatus will be arrested and fined. The public must not congest about the scene of a blaze, Lenz also commands. Police will order citizens to "stand back" but once. A second offense will mean arrest on a charge of hindering the work of firemen. A fine will follow. Furthermore this is the last and lasting order on this subject, the police chief states.

THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1917.

OIL INSPECTION.

The state function of inspecting oil in Indiana is a wellspring of unending gaiety. It provided most of the oratorical inspiration for Governor Goodrich in his campaign for election last year and it furnished the legislature this year with so much employment that only desperate contriving made it possible to dispatch other essential matters. Later on oil inspection got into the federal courts, out of which issued an injunction to prevent the inspection of oil.

Governor Goodrich appointed an oil inspector and the inspector at once fell in with a willing hand and swept the state clean of democratic deputies. Now comes State Geologist Barrett with a bale of competent law opinions showing that his failure to appoint an oil inspector, as provided by an act of assembly years ago to insure the placing of republican deputies, is a defeasance of office of a culpable sort and immense liability. Wherefore and thereupon State Geologist Barrett, who is a democrat, brings the besom of parliamentarianism to bear on the state and again the state is swept clean—of republican inspectors and deputies. State Geologist Barrett is going to leave no heritage of infamy for his descendants. Whatever else may be written by the iron pen of history pertaining to the Barrett regime, there at least will not be inscribed that he defaulted in duty. So Indiana has two outfits of deputy oil inspectors, with each of them nosing the barrier of a federal injunction that says they must not inspect.

Might it not somewhat aid the situation to pursue the sage advice of Lord Dunsyre respecting the civil war and let "the parties compromise?" There is no inspecting to do, nor will there be, while the federal injunction interposes. But there are the offices to hold, even if no emoluments to share, and that is something for all—perhaps to some of them a great deal. If the injunction finally shall stand the oil inspectors and their deputies—both sets of them—will all round have as fat and onerous and interesting jobs as the board of trustees of a village cemetery. But there will be offices to have and to hold until the next legislature comes along and does some sweeping itself with impartial disregard and lands the law and all its fixtures in the dustbin.

It is rather a pity that with much of moment bothering the country, bothering also the state—with a regular fuel problem to solve—that so much energy, temper and contention should be brought to a wholly profitless dissipation over inspection of oil. Meanwhile, just project your prophetic gaze into the future a perhaps short way and behold the possibilities, in case the federal courts finally rule that the state of Indiana has a right to inspect oil and collect fees for it. Isn't it going to be a splendid and inspiring sort of fight in the courts between Governor Goodrich and State Geologist Barrett for determination of legal authority and function in the appointment of an oil inspector? And won't it outlast the Goodrich administration and the Barrett regime and possibly that other war for which the nation is arming and to which young men are going?

This nonsense would be bad enough if we of Indiana had nothing better to do. But in this stormy crisis what are we to think of it?

BRITONS GET ENTHUSED.

America has fought the mother country twice—once to cut leading-strings that had been made galling, tyrannous and hateful and again to assert and preserve rights won and acknowledged at the end of the first conflict. There was some thought in the earlier days of the civil war that we might have Great Britain for an enemy, but the peril was much less real than supposed. There was no great feeling among the mass of the British people against the north and the cause of the union. For upwards of a century following the establishment of this nation it was much a fashion to bait the British and "twist the lion's tail." The feeling that expressed itself this wise for many decades ran rampant in the press, on the stump and in congress. It was the stock stuff of the Fourth of July orator and the unfailing resource of the political spellbinder when all else should no longer serve. America had a heap of fun through a long period of her history contriving to keep alive the feeling that the mother country was still as hostile to us as we were trying to convince ourselves we still were to her. At length, the folly of it became understood and the ludicrousness of it appreciated. The two great English-speaking states had something in common—had had all along, of truth, and had in many ways promoted it—but it was a long time before consciousness of it superseded the popular prejudices that had been so studiously cultivated.

The point of all which is that yesterday in London the Fourth of July was altogether as explosive, wordy and sentimental as it was in Washington, New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Chicago. The British vied with Americans in giving proper tone and color to the occasion. Of course Britain and America are for the present allies in war, but even that fact would not compel or cajole the British into acclaiming the Fourth of July out of all measure and reason and calculated effect. The thing could have been done with much less pretense and eclat and made quite well to answer.

The fact is that Britons, way down deep in their hearts, are inordinately proud of the United States of America. Some things we do and the way we do some things they do not altogether always "get," but America is very big, very rich, very resourceful and very promising. The genius of America and American institutions of liberty and government is Anglo-Saxon. The heaven of popular freedom here was brought by those who came from England. America is not English by a long shot and never will be, but whatever is here and whatever it may at length come to in the processes of unfolding centuries was started here by English, no matter how great a hand Teuton and Celt and Scandinavian have had in making it grow and become something new and individualistic as a nation and people.

If the British want to let all bygones be bygones, let the dead past bury its dead and all that, and out-America Americans in whooping up the Fourth of July and painting their old town red in honor of Washington and Prescott and making fete days of Lexington and Yorktown, let them go to it. The spirit of America is a good thing to animate in any land and to put kick and punch into any celebration anywhere. We are glad to see the British making something of Independence Day and the heroes of the Revolution. It will do them good. It already has done them good to have lost their American colonies. It taught how to govern colonies.

A NEW SPY CHASE.

Secretary Daniels announces that there is a spy cavorting around in the navy department. The proof is that Germany must have had advance notice of the coming of the American expedition across the Atlantic. This itself is deduced from the preparations made for attack in force by German U-boats.

That is clear enough, to be sure. Without the intervention of a most subtle spy's work Germany never could have discovered that a great fleet of troop transports and supply ships conveyed by squadrons of cruisers and flotillas of destroyers was pursuing its dark and secret way across the broad Atlantic. And Germany never would have thought to be on the lookout for such an expedition if the spy had not found out somewhere in Mr. Daniels's office that it was going to sail and cabled the news disguised in an order for two cases of cheese and one Westphalia ham.

We trust this spy is going to be caught, because he is getting news that the American newspapers are unable to get and in the interest of fair play and a square deal, the press of this country ought not to be getting scooped right along by the kaiser's diligent news scouts.

Meanwhile, can anybody name anything that has happened so far that would have been in any way to any degree played the devil with by publication in the newspapers? The Germans knew about the destroyer flotilla before the folks at home did. They knew about the military expedition before the newspapers published it. They probably know Secretary Daniels is now looking for the spy and it may be they will tell him where to find the follow.

There is nothing formal about helping the Red Cross. Any sum from a dime to a million is acceptable and accepted at any time. Those who did not get in on the big drive for the hundred million fund still have a gilt-edge opportunity to do as much good, dollar for dollar, as anybody. Keep that in mind and along with that the thorough understanding that there are the same privileges and immunities respecting giving twice or thrice or once a week or every day.

Perchance I drownded and dreamed—I much forgot—
Of ladies' love, and twining, yellow hair;
Of crimson blood, and dripping, warm and wet;
Of whispered meetings up a winding stair!

Meseems I stood beneath the tapestry,
And flame leaped down and clung upon my brow;
Methinks no words were said—she gave to me
Her lips; I clasped her then as I do now!

And then, her lord came bitterly between;
He spake no word, but voiceless as the dead,
Before I was aware, his dagger's sheen
Flashed gleaming vengeance on her tumbled head!

For me the Cup ran salt and brackish wine;
A dash of darkness; then, all ghastly wan,
Out in the starless gloom her soul mist mine;
And both went sobbing till the sunless dawn!

A Double Aim

INDIANA DOCTORS HAVE DECLARED GRIM WAR ON THE TYPHOID CARRIERS

Indiana doctors have declared war on typhoid carriers and drastic measures are urged to meet the baffling problem of the proper quarantine for contagious diseases which, in most cases, are spread by healthy carriers of germs. It has been shown that a certain portion of our population, although they themselves never have the sickness under consideration, act as intermediary agents in scattering it broadcast. The fact that these men and women never show any symptoms themselves constitutes the whole problem, for it greatly decreases the chances of discovering who they are.

The case is well known of Typhoid Mary, of New York, a cook who never had the slightest trace of typhoid herself but who, in working from kitchen to kitchen, infected several hundred people and caused many deaths. A milkman was discovered recently who had given the disease to more than 200 victims and even a trained nurse was found who had been freely distributing typhoid bacilli among her patients. Members of the Indiana Medical society favor a measure similar to the California law which gives a detected typhoid carrier his liberty only a specific term. This law provides that all convicted typhoid carriers must make a written agreement that they will take no part in handling food or participate in the management of a boarding house, restaurant or food store. They must notify the health department of changes of address, must report twice a year, must report all cases of typhoid with which they come in contact and must submit to examination on request. If they violate any of these rules, they are deprived of their liberty. These measures must seem harsh interference with personal liberty, but doctors assert that innocent carriers of typhoid are now the only agencies in enlightened communities that prevent the eradication of this disease.

work of the army doctors will start at the cantonments where they will not only examine soldiers as to their physical fitness, but will safeguard the water and milk supply and guard against camp diseases.

When the army lands in France the doctors will guard against trench diseases such as typhus, tuberculosis, pneumonia and rheumatism. But, of course, the biggest job will be manning the field hospitals.

DIGGING IN PRACTICE.

(Grand Rapids Press.)

Grand Rapids men who are in camps training for the officers' reserve corps write that they are passing through the pick-and-shovel stage in their instruction. This is America's echo of the British and French answer to the German method, for trench fighting, as it is now known, was unheard of until a little over two years ago, when the Germans retired from the Marne to chosen ground and proceeded to fill the country-side with huge ditches and a seemingly endless system of cyclone cellars with thick concrete roofs. It cost the Anglo-French forces a good many men to learn how strong the German works were and in the end they paid the Germans the compliment of duplicating their fighting plan. So modern trench warfare, evolved from our own civil war, came into existence.

If the American army could take to France a generous amount of the sort of excavating machinery that has been perfected in this country the trench problem would be easy. Such equipment, however, provides a fine target for artillerymen, so there is nothing left but to rely on the pick and shovel, hence the drudgery of digging in. The work itself is hard enough, but frequently it is done under fire, which circumstances, while it automatically hastens the operation, renders it precarious and stimulates the engineers to evolve short cuts. Trench digging is now systematized, each man knowing precisely what he is to do. Barbed wire entanglements are put up in the same way. Both operations require long practice and expert superintendence.

It has been said by French military authorities that during the war the several armies have dug the equivalent of the Panama canal through European country and practically all of it has been done with pick and shovel. If the Germans on the west front are forced slowly to retreat to the German border the whole of occupied France and Belgium will have been dug over on the same scale. The winter trenches, which are substantially built for long occupancy, will long survive the efforts of the French people to restore their farms to a tillable state unless the army is employed for the work, in which case pick and shovel tactics will go on for several years.

THE MAYOR WHO "WONT."

(Lafayette Courier.)

William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, is mayor of America's second city. It is no small burg. It's motto is "I Wont!" Thompson's motto is "I Wont!" When the French and British commissions came to America Thompson refused to invite them to Chicago. He gave out a grouchy interview about them. Then came the liberty loan. Thompson didn't buy a bond. Thompson hasn't done anything to root the slackers out of Chicago, either. Chicago ought to add the three words "kick him out" to its motto and apply the whole thing to its "I Wont" mayor.

Uncle Harry Tells About the Kings of Europe

"Well, children," called Uncle Harry, cheerily, as he entered the house, "how many burned fingers have we today?"

Not a word. Then Joe slowly drew one hand from his pocket revealing a bandaged forefinger. "I've got one," he said, humbly.

"He held a firecracker too long," said Helen, smiling. Jimmy was more serious.

"We celebrated yesterday because 141 years ago, we declared our independence of King George, didn't we?"

"Yes, Jimmy," replied Uncle Harry. "Well, tell us," continued Jimmy.

"Will there be any kings or emperors in Europe when the war is over?"

"Good gracious, Jimmy," said Uncle Harry. "That's a remarkable question. Well, I am no prophet, or the son of a prophet, but I'll venture to predict try, but an Asiatic one. She is an intruder in Europe and should be, and I believe will be, pushed back into Asia where she belongs. About eight years ago Sultan Abdul Hamid was deposed.

"I remember seeing him about ten or twelve years ago when I was in Constantinople at the Selamluk, where he was surrounded by thousands of troops and appeared to be firmly seated, but a few years later the young Turks arose, deposed and imprisoned him and put the present sultan on the throne. If, as I expect, Turkey is pushed back into Asia, he will no longer be an European ruler and that will be one less.

"A few years ago King Manuel, of Portugal, was deposed and was exiled to England, where he is now living.

"One of the saddest cases in the present war is that of the grand duchess of Luxembourg, who is practically a prisoner in her own realm. Her duchy has been overrun by German troops, although she has never been at war with them."

"But Uncle Harry," said Helen, "all kings are not bad, are they?"

"On no indeed, Helen. There have been and are many good kings in history and in the present day. The king of Italy is one of them and his people dearly love him. Then we must not forget the greatest king of all, King George, of Great Britain. There's no possible danger of his losing his throne. Love of monarchy is one of the deepest seated sentiments of the nation.

"The king is beloved and respected by all classes, not only on the British Isles, but in Canada, Australia, Newfoundland, India, South Africa and in numberless smaller colonies throughout the world.

"The king of Great Britain is, however, more of a social leader than a governmental one.

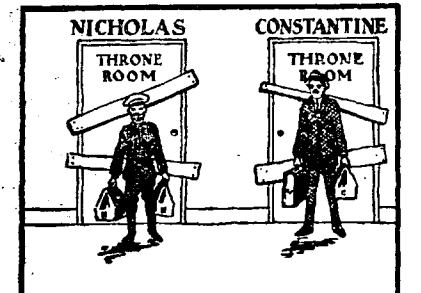

"The government is conducted by the premier and his counselors with colonial governors or viceroys in the respective colonies. All the legislation and administration of law is performed by them. The king as the visible head of sovereignty is highly honored and carries in his person all the dignity that attaches to a continuous monarchy of hundreds of years. Although we of the United States fought the revolution from the unjust practice upon us by George III, Lord North and the British ministry of that day, we have a profound respect for the present king and government, our allies in the great war in which we are engaged."

Uncle Harry rose to go.

"There is another king in Europe who may lose his throne before many years. When a great monarchy becomes suddenly a democratic government through the demands of its people—as befell the Russian monarchy—the king is apt to lose his crown, if not his head. I'll bet you guess whom I'm thinking of."

that there will be kings in Europe then, though perhaps not so many as in the past. War is a great shaker-up of nations and many changes will doubtless be made in the ruling families as there have been in the past.

"For instance, there did not appear to be a more firmly seated monarch than Napoleon III in 1870. He forced war on Prussia and within three months he was captured, deposed and an exile, and France has been a republic ever since."

"Then," spoke up Joe, "the czar of Russia has also been driven out of power and is a prisoner."

"Yes," said Uncle Harry, "that is so and recently King Constantine, of Greece, has abdicated in favor of his son, Alexander. In fact, the provisional government has already announced his deposition, but this final action settles the matter definitely. It seems to be a bad year for kings. Some other kings, who are not actually deposed, are driven from their capitals and are wanderers in remote parts of their lands.

"The heroic King Albert, of Belgium, has lost his capital and almost all of his country and is holding his court at a little place in Flanders, called Dixmude, but I firmly believe his hour of triumph will come and he will be restored to his capital and probably to a larger kingdom than before."

"Uncle Harry," said Helen, "aren't there a whole lot of little kings and queens in trouble? I mean kings and queens of small countries in Europe?"

"I should say so, Helen," replied Uncle Harry. "Rumania is overrun with the enemy and King Ferdinand has lost his capital and is practically without a kingdom and brave old King Nicholas, of Montenegro, who is 76 years old, is an exile. He is the father-in-law of the king of Italy, but his eldest son married the sister of the grand duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, and so King Nicholas was in hot water, no matter which way he turned.

"Then there is King Peter, of Serbia. He is 73 years old and has practically lost all his country and his power. But he looks (and I think with reason) for brighter times to come."

"How about Turkey, Uncle Harry?" said Jimmy.

"Well," said Uncle Harry, "I don't look on Turkey as an European country, but an Asiatic one. She is an intruder in Europe and should be, and I believe will be, pushed back into Asia where she belongs. About eight years ago Sultan Abdul Hamid was deposed."

"I remember seeing him about ten or twelve years ago when I was in Constantinople at the Selamluk, where he was surrounded by thousands of troops and appeared to be firmly seated, but a few years later the young Turks arose, deposed and imprisoned him and put the present sultan on the throne. HERE'S A CIRCUS DRAMA THAT IS BORROWED FROM REAL LIFE

THE "ETERNAL TRIANGLE" VARIED BY THE INTRODUCTION OF A FOUR-FOOTED CHARACTER.

The Girl—Edna Kingsland. The Man—Tom Sheehan. The Horse—Silver King.

This is the "cast" as pictured in the accompanying illustration and around these three is built a playlet taken from life in Spangland. Here is the plot:

Some fifteen years ago there was a one ring circus in England known as "Clark's International Shows." At that time Edna Kingsland was a wee mite of a girl with pigtail and face smeared with jam. Her father was one of the circus equestrians. Edna's principal "act" consisted in getting in everybody's way. But she had one friend, tried, staunch and true. That was Tom Sheehan, the circus blacksmith. It was Tom who taught her to ride, taught her to ride her first horse and it was Tom who went with her childish woes. As the years passed Edna developed into a beautiful girl and became a bareback rider of international fame.

Last winter when the Ringling Brothers' foreign representatives were engaged in Europe to present the present season's tour they secured Miss Kingsland's services. Among the host of friends that gathered to bid her bon voyage was her old friend Tom Sheehan. Just before the ship's officers called "visitors ashore," Tom announced his surprise and parting gift. It was a beautiful Arabian steed which he had christened Silver King. The purchase price represented the savings of years but Tom was happy. When Miss Kingsland finally arrived at the Ringling Brothers' winter quarters it was found that King refused to allow any of the grooms to come near him. The equestrian director was in a serious dilemma until Miss Kingsland saved the day by determining to send for Sheehan. Two weeks later Tom reported for duty, saying to Miss Kingsland with a merry twinkle in his eye, "Sure, and I knowed all the time that you'd have to send for me."

And when the circus comes here, Thursday, July 12, the trio will be with it. There are scores of riders and hundreds of horses touring under the Ringling banner this season, but none present a prettier picture than Edna Kingsland and Silver King.

Mrs. Harker has just been in New York, where she attended a convention of dancing teachers and of which organization she is the instructor of the teachers.

Mrs. Frank Gilbert and family, of West Pontiac street, were agreeably surprised this week when her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Westlake, of Norwich, N. Y., arrived in their big touring car for a visit with Mr. Westlake's mother as well as his sister and family. The visitors were six days on the trip to this city and are en route to Omaha, Neb. Their route here was by way of Canada and Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Westlake had as their passenger their valuable pet dog, Princess Pat, who apparently enjoyed the trip as much as they did.

Mrs. James D. Willson is coming here about July 10 to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benoy, of East DeWald street. Lieut. Willson has been transferred from St. Paul, Minn., to Kansas City, Mo., where his work in recruiting men for the United States navy will be continued. Lieut. Willson has had charge of the station at St. Paul and has been remarkably successful and his change is for the improvement of the western station. Mrs. Willson will remain here for a month.

An agreeable surprise party was given in honor of the birth anniversary of A. H. Saffen on Wednesday evening that was arranged by Mrs. Saffen with the aid of a merry party of friends. A game of buncie, music and luncheon were the principal features of the good time. Mrs. Saffen and Mrs. Knothe furnished music. Prizes in buncie were won by Mrs. Otto Schultz, Fred Schultz, Mrs. Fred Wiegman and Alfred Hoffman. The rooms were gay with patriotic colors. There were present Mr. and Mrs. Will Hitzeman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knothe, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Braun, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiegman, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Engelking, Miss Tillie Anderson, Miss Wilma Engelking, Miss Louise Dreyer, Miss Tina Dreyer, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schultz, Dr. Meyer, Master Richard Saffen, little Virginia Felger.

Thomas-Dittos. Miss Bernadette Marie Dittos, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Dittos, East Wayne street, and Mr. Willard M. Thomas, son of Mr. P. Thomas, of 908 Columbia avenue, were married at 8 o'clock this morning at the rectory of the Cathedral by Rev. Father John R. Quinlan. Miss Amelia Moran, a cousin to the bride, and Mr. Frank Rinehart were the attendants. The bride wore her traveling suit of blue silk with white satin hat and she held a bouquet of white roses and white sweetpeas tied with tulle ribbon. Miss Moran wore a white voile gown with yellow trimmings and held a bouquet of sunburst roses tied with yellow ribbon. Her hat was a picture hat of white lace. At home, before leaving on her wedding trip the bride replaced her white hat for a darker one for motoring, as the wedding trip is to be to Detroit and other points of interest in Canada and points adjacent to Detroit, for ten days. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will begin housekeeping in their home which is all ready for occupancy at 1015 Columbia avenue. The bride is lovely in character and an accomplished housekeeper. Mr. Thomas is assistant secretary of the Citizens' Trust company and is held in the highest esteem by everyone.

Non-Partisan League. Centre section of the Non-Partisan league will meet in the assembly hall of the court house at 8 o'clock this evening. Mrs. C. S. Ridenour will be the principal speaker. The chairman and the secretary of every section in the city are requested to be present, as business of importance is to be transacted. Everyone is welcome.

Strawberries as Easy to Can as Other Fruit

"Don't judge the success of canning by your first effort with whatever product you happen to find in the market, when you begin operations," says a statement just issued by the United States department of agriculture. "It is more than likely that if you are a beginner at canning you will start with strawberries, the first fruit available. If you do you should realize that strawberries are one of the most difficult of all products to can satisfactorily. It is next to impossible, in fact, to can this fruit, as distinguished from preserving it (in which case a much larger proportion of sugar is used), so that its color, size and texture will be preserved."

"It is normal, if ordinary canning practices are followed, to have strawberries shrink, turn more or less brown, and float to the tops of the jars. The product is palatable, however, and will keep perfectly if the sterilization has been done properly."

"Don't feel, therefore, that your strawberry canning is a failure. Above all, don't become discouraged and fear that all your canning will be unsatisfactory. Practically every vegetable and fruit worth canning may be canned and kept in a condition fairly comparable in flavor and texture to the fresh product."

"Canned food will be needed next winter as it has never been needed before. Let your slogan be, therefore: 'Can all the food you can, dry the surplus foods which can not be kept well otherwise.'"

"In canning, specialize on nutritious foods and concentrate to small bulk by cooking down all vegetables high in water content."

AN ECONOMICAL WAY OF PEELING POTATOES

Drop washed potatoes in a vessel of rapidly boiling water and allow them to remain 10 minutes. Remove and strip the thin skin as when potatoes are peeled after thorough cooking by boiling. The potatoes will still be practically raw and may be handled like raw peeled potatoes in preparing any dish, as scalloped, French or German fried potatoes, potato chips, etc.

One excellent way to cook the skinned potatoes is to bake them. The entire potato, including the thin, golden brown crust may be eaten.

This recipe for economical peeling of potatoes was furnished by a housewife and tested by the United States department of agriculture. The department will be glad to have other better

Mallet Wielder is Garbed for Fray

(By Betty Brown.) This fair girl's costume has no military significance whatever. She is simply a mallet wielder in the exciting sport called polo and she now lacks only a pony to outfit her for the fray. Her costume is perfectly correct in the most minute detail. The coat is of bottle green cloth, the shirt of white silk, the cap of green velvet and the breeches of white poplin.

How the Summer Girl Will Look This Summer

In georgette crepe or organdie, in lace frock a la lingerie, the summer girl's a sight to see and just as sweet as she can be. In voile, batiste or muslin pink she makes all eyes admire and blink, and when she dons a gingham gown, she's quite the smartest thing in town. For gingham plaid in divers hues is quite the newest of the new, for frocks that stand, "Aye, there's the rub," in any "washer lady's" tub. A stunning one of yellow plaid has chic suspenders just like Dad, with blouse of organdie to show beneath the garters, you know. Another plaid of white and green displays a most seductive mein, with loose coat blouse and white array of cuffs and collar of pique. A patent leather belt of black it has and buttons down the back. A dashing gingham, mauve and white, has deep hip pockets, left and right, and joins a blouse of organdie with buttoned belt quite childishly. The bell sleeves of the blouse are bound with plaid-bands of the gingham round, while just to balance things a bit, each dashing pocket's flaring slit that makes the skirt so smart you see is lined well with the organdie. Just think with what consummate art, now maids an air naive impart to these new frocks whose fabrics show the fancies of the long ago, when maidens sighed and clung and waited and only lived that they be mated. Book muslin, yes and dainty it sure takes art you will agree for females erudite today to wear these frocks and get away with it sufficiently to look like cuts from "Godey's Ladies Book." That fashion book of long ago the great-grandma of "Vogue," you know.

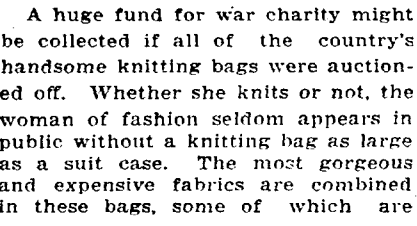

The Greeks and the Hebrews met for the first time in the slave market. The medium of communication seems to have been the Tyrian slave-merchants. About 800 B. C., Joel speaks of the Tyrians as selling the children of Judah to the Grecians (Joel iii, 6). In Ezra xvii, 13, the Greeks are mentioned as bartering their brazen vessels for slaves.

KINGDON GOULD, HEIR TO MILLIONS, WEDS FORMER ITALIAN GOVERNESS

The marriage a few days ago of Kingdon Gould, eldest son of George J. and Edith Kingdon Gould, and a grandson of the late Jay Gould, to Miss Annunziata Camilla Maria Lucci, formerly a governess in the Gould family, caused much surprise to his parents and his friends. He was expected to make a brilliant social and financial alliance, as the coming head of the family. The bride, who has been studying art, is 31 years old and her husband is 30.

ONE OF MILLION KNITTING BAGS.

BY BETTY BROWN. A huge fund for war charity might be collected if all of the country's handsome knitting bags were auctioned off. Whether she knits or not, the woman of fashion seldom appears in public without a knitting bag as large as a suitcase. The most gorgeous and expensive fabrics are combined in these bags, some of which are mounted with silver and semi-precious stones. Hand-blended linen, English chintz and ordinary American cretonne are used by the practical workers who already number their Red Cross sponges by the hundred. Painted baskets are the fad of the moment. One designer uses the blue bird for an effective decoration, the cord and lining of the bag being of harmonizing shades of blue.

BOWSER CLUB TO BE PRESENTED WITH FLAG

At Patriotic Tea to Be Given by W. R. C. at Home of O. L. Bickel.

A program of unusual merit has been prepared for the patriotic tea to be given by the W. R. C. at the home of O. L. Bickel, 610 Lawton place, Friday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon Mrs. Jessie Calvin, general secretary of the Port Wayne chapter of the Red Cross society, will address the women on Red Cross work, and in the evening short addresses will be delivered by Judge S. M. Hench, Dr. W. C. Calvin, T. W. Blair and Attorney Lee Hartzell.

At 7:30 o'clock members of the drum corps, Columbia drill team, Bowser Military club and other organizations will meet at the court house and march to the Bickel home in a body.

One of the features of the evening's program will be the presentation of a beautiful American flag by the Daughters of Veterans to the Bowser Military club. Miss Wilhelma Haaga, 8 years old, will sing several selections and several little girls of the neighborhood will recite. A special feature will be the old fashioned "baked bean and Johnny cake" lunch, which will be served to all patrons carrying the necessary ten cents.

Of the fable as distinguished from the parable there are but two examples in the Bible. The first of these is that of the trees choosing their king (Judges ix, 8-15); the second that of the cedar of Lebanon and the thistle (II Kings xiv, 9).

A convenient device in the form of a good-sized depression in the center or end of a kitchen sink does away with the necessity of drawing and emptying water for a separate pan. By the addition of a double set of sleeves the dishes may be washed and drained without being touched by the hands.

CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING BY MAKING BRIDAL TOUR ONCE MORE

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE SUNLEY.

Twenty-five years ago—July 5, years ago. They start this evening 1892—Miss Anna Raquet and Mr. George Sunley did three things they have never repeated. On that day they were married at the Cathedral, the ceremony being performed by the late Rev. Father William Quinlan. Another was to make a bridal tour that led from Port Wayne to Detroit, thence to Cleveland, on to Pittsburgh and to other interesting places east. The third was to begin their domestic life by becoming subscribers to the Evening Sentinel. So well have they prospered and so happily has their domestic life run under beginning auspices, that they have decided to make no change. As, for instance, Mr. and Mrs. Sunley will stick right together until "death do them part," a they vowed this day twenty-five

OH, "THEY'RE WEARING LESS THAN LAST YEAR IN CHICAGO," ARE THEY?

The above is what Bessie Compton of Los Angeles said after reading the caption over a recent picture. "Well," she continued, "if these are what they're wearing, I'll not make Chicago jealous by disclosing what they wear at OUR beach." And then she got behind her parasol.

FOURTH IS ONE OF QUIETEST NIGHTS

Not a Drunk or Fight Marked Close of National Birth-day.

The Fourth of July is the latest temperance recruit. The time when Independence day included in its casualties the riot of half a dozen joy parties at the transfer corner is gone. The line of pain crowded heads in police court on the "morning after" was missing when Judge Kerr took his place in the city court Thursday.

The only intoxication case on the docket was placed on record before noon on the Fourth. Not a disorderly conduct charge appeared on the blotter. There were only two new cases registered on Independence day, a proud record for the most orderly day on the calendar of the year.

Sorry to Stop.

"I am only sorry that I have but one alternative in this case," is an echo of that ringing sentence which has stirred the heart of every loyal American for more than a century.

Judge Kerr gave the 1917 turn to the valiant utterance when William Fessell, 35, Cedar Creek farmer, inquired if the judge had not been a bit heavy in his finding.

Fessell was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. He was taken on Pontiac street Wednesday morning, when he was causing his Ford car to cut Chaplin capers between the curb stones. When brought to the station he was able to walk with difficulty. He was fined $50 and costs and an order made that his license to operate a car be revoked.

"I believe that is too hard a sentence," interposed Fessell.

"I would like to add a jail sentence of thirty days," said Judge Kerr as a part of the scathing lecture to the swain.

Not Used to City.

Elmer David, from the wilds of Michigan, had never driven a car in a city before he visited Fort Wayne on Independence day, he told in police court Thursday. He drove past a street car at the corner of Masterson and Calhoun streets. Miss Pierce, a telephone operator, was alighting from the car. She was struck by David's machine and knocked down. She was not injured.

David was arrested on a charge of violating the traffic rules. He was fined $10 and costs.

Will Release Lads.

Glen Ruppel and Ralph Blust, two boys charged with hurling stones through the windows of the Lutheran Reformed church, corner of Union and Jefferson streets, will have a hearing before Judge Kerr Thursday afternoon. They will be released. The boys testified that they only threw stones on the church roof and were not a part of the party which smashed the costly church windows.

John Burt, charged with loitering, will be tried Friday.

Twenty-four thousand American young people took part last year in temperance medal contests of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

AN AIR ATTACK ON BRITISH COAST

SAILING TIME OF TRANSPORTS IS GIVEN U-BOATS

Attack of German Submarines on the Pershing Expedition to France Was Completely Foiled.

SINKING OF ONE OR MORE IS CLAIMED

Washington, July 4.—An air of satisfaction today pervaded administration circles over the safe arrival of the first American overseas expedition after a voyage in which submarine attacks were twice repelled with the loss of one of the undersea raiders. The forces landed intact at a French port without the loss of a man, ship or animal.

The first encounter, on the night of June 22, was a complete victory for the convoying destroyers, whose accurate gunfire directed on the enemy craft, as revealed by the roving rays of the searchlights, speedily routed the attacking force.

American gunnery told effectively in the second skirmish a few days later. A protecting screen of destroyers thrown around the transports held the raiders at a safe distance while the presence of oil and wreckage on the surface of the sea after the battle indicated the destruction of one and probably more of the undersea vessels.

Both attacks were made far out on the Atlantic beyond the ordinary range of submarine activities. This is taken to indicate that the German admiral had been furnished with information regarding the precise route to be taken by the American contingent. Every effort is being made to run down the spies who are believed to have furnished this information to the enemy.

The navy department has issued a statement giving details of the submarine attack and the success with which it was countered and one or more of the attacking U-boats sunk.

MEETING IS HELD AT INDIANAPOLIS

Ed C. Miller is Made a Director of Hoosier Automobile Association.

The Hoosier State Automobile association will devote its principal efforts for the next year to the organization of a comprehensive system of automobile trails in Indiana, according to a decision reached at the second annual meeting of the association at Indianapolis this week.

A committee headed by Martin H. Luecke, as chairman, was named to work out the details. The selection of roads between towns which are to be part of the trails will be left to the highway superintendents and motor clubs in the counties through which the trails pass.

Mr. Luecke was also elected first vice president of the state association and Postmaster Ed C. Miller was made a member of the board of directors. Other officers named were: President, A. G. Lupton, of Hartford City; vice president, Mr. Luecke, M. O. Reeves, Columbus; D. M. Peck, Crawfordsville; W. C. Hand, Union City; treasurer, Thomas A. Wynne, Indianapolis; secretary, M. E. Noblet.

Officials of the local motor clubs are requested to work along the following lines:

To get county commissioners to erect road signs under the provisions of a law passed by the last general assembly.

Watch automobile theft cases and endeavor to have convicted persons adequately punished.

Encourage enforcement of the new state dinner law.

Urge the passage of muffler ordinances and obtain adequate parking regulations.

Fourteen Hundred Soldiers Enforce Order in East St. Louis Today.

East St. Louis, Mo., July 4.—With approximately 1,400 Illinois national guardsmen in East St. Louis today and details patrolling the streets with orders to "use all force necessary" to enforce order if an attempt is made to resume rioting, all danger of further trouble seemed to have passed. Fourteen companies now are on duty here and six companies of the Second Illinois infantry are expected to arrive from Chicago early in the day, increasing the number of guardsmen to about 2,000.

Aside from numerous small fires, involving but slight loss, there were no disorders last night and the death list remained at twenty-eight. The number of white men killed in the rioting was increased to four by the death last night of Detective Frank Wogley, who was shot Monday night.

Realization of Seriousness of the Hour Puts Damper on Boisterousness.

A realization of the seriousness of the hour marked the celebration of the Fourth in this city. The day was observed in many ways, but not with the boisterousness and noise that has characterized the celebration in former years.

The day's festivities started with a street pageant at 10:30 o'clock in which many hundred people participated and hundreds of others witnessed.

Line of March.

Major John E. Miller was grand marshal of the parade which started shortly after 10 o'clock. The marchers formed at the corner of Berry and Barr street. The line of march followed was: West on Berry to Cal-

FOOD RIOTS IN GERMAN CITIES MET BY TROOPS

Copenhagen, July 4.—A semi-official German report reaching here says that food riots occurred not only in Stettin and Dusseldorf, but also in two Silesian cities, Gleswitz and Hindenburg. Troops had been called to restore order, which was accomplished without actual firing.

Hindenburg is the city which discarded its Polish name and assumed the field marshal's as a mark of loyalty to the state. The siege of Dusseldorf has been raised but an extraordinary court martial is still sitting to try participants in the riots, some of whom received sentences up to six years.

SOMETHING NEW FOR POTATO BUGS

J. W. Brown, of Monroeville, has discovered that guinea hens can be used most effectively in the eradication of potato bugs. He says that the hens will eat the bugs and keep the plants cleaned. When guinea hens are turned loose in the potato patch there is no need of spraying. He declares he has tried the scheme with great success. Mr. Brown is 73 years old and has been a subscriber of The Sentinel long before he was married.

GERMAN SQUADRON OF AIRPLANES IN ATTACK ON A PORT

Harwich Attacked by Swarm of Sky Battlers and a Number of the People Are Killed.

DEFENSE GUNS BREAK UP THE ATTACK

London, July 4.—From twelve to fourteen German air raiders today dropped bombs on Harwich, a seaport town in Essex, it was officially announced today. Eight persons were killed and twenty-two others were injured.

The text of the official statement follows:

"A squadron of some twelve to fourteen enemy airplanes attacked Harwich from a northeasterly direction about 7:05 o'clock this morning. A number of bombs were dropped and the latest reports state that eight persons were killed and twenty-two injured. Only slight material damage was caused.

"Fire was opened from the anti-aircraft defenses and the enemy's formation was broken up, although the low-lying clouds rendered the visibility bad. The raiders also were engaged by our own aircraft from a neighboring station.

"After dropping their bombs the enemy's squadron turned seaward without attempting to penetrate inland. The whole raid only occupied a few minutes.

LLOYD GEORGE NOT LUKEWARM TO THE PART OF AMERICA

Paris, July 4.—The Matin publishes an interview obtained by Hughes Leroux with Premier Lloyd George, who contradicted emphatically a suggestion that Great Britain was only half pleased with America's entrance into the war. The French writer said there were persons in this country who permitted themselves to be persuaded, no doubt by German propaganda, that England feared the idealism and passion for justice of America as it would be felt when the time came to discuss terms of peace. The premier shrugged his shoulders, M. Leroux writes, and said:

"We not only desired the entrance of the United States into the war, but we solicited it. At the present moment we ask that America shall send us fighters in the greatest number possible and as soon as it can be done. We wish her valiant soldiers who have just landed in France, inspired with such a fine spirit to mingle their blood with ours and ours for the triumph of the common cause. Is that clear?"

WARNS CHICAGO OF CONDITIONS FOR RACE RIOT

Chicago, July 4.—Victor A. Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and a member of the state council of defense, has issued a warning to Chicago and other northern cities "where the same conditions which brought about such frightful results in East St. Louis exist." He calls attention to protests by organized labor against what he terms the unnecessary importation of negro labor at East St. Louis, and says:

"I don't care to say much about the situation here in Chicago, but there should be an investigation. Unemployment is increasing. Certain classes of employers are seeking cheaper labor—negroes and women—on the pretext that additional labor is needed on account of war conditions. As a result thousands of white men are being thrown out of employment."

At a mass meeting of negroes last night, F. L. Barnett, colored, a former assistant states attorney, urged his hearers to be ready to protect themselves against any mistreatment. He said that a short time might see scenes here similar to those enacted in East St. Louis, and that Chicago negroes should be prepared to make a stand for their safety and rights.

The navy department at 5 o'clock this afternoon received word of the safe arrival at a French port of the last contingent of General Pershing's expeditionary force. At the time the information was released announcement also was made that the transports were twice attacked by submarines on the way across.

"No ship was hit, not an American life was lost, and while the navy dispatches report the sinking of one submarine only, there is reason to believe that others were destroyed in the first night attack."

Secretary Daniels made this statement:

"It is with the joy of a great relief that I announce to the people of the United States the safe arrival in France of every fighting man and every fighting ship.

"Now that the last vessel has reached port, it is safe to disclose the dangers that were encountered and to tell the complete story of peril and courage.

"The transports bearing our troops were twice attacked by German submarines on the way across. On both occasions the U-boats were beaten off with every appearance of loss.

One was certainly sunk, and there is reason to believe that the accurate fire of our gunners sent others to the bottom.

"For purposes of convenience the expedition was divided into contingents, each contingent including topography and a naval escort designed to keep off such German raiders as might be met.

"An ocean rendezvous had also been arranged with the American destroyers now operating in European waters in order that the passage of the danger zone might be attended by every possible protection.

"The first attack took place at 10:30 on the night of June 22. What gives it peculiar and disturbing significance is that our ships were set upon at a point well this side of the rendezvous, and in that part of the Atlantic presumably free from submarines.

"The attack was made in force, although the night made impossible any exact count of the U-boats gathered for what they deemed a slaughter.

"The high seas, circled with their searchlights, answered with heavy gun fire, and its accuracy stands proved by the fact that the torpedo discharges became increasingly scattered and inaccurate.

"Count Five Torpedoes.

"It is not known how many torpedoes were launched, but five were counted as they sped by bow and stern.

"A second attack was launched a few days later against another contingent. The point of assault was beyond the rendezvous and our destroyers were sailing as a screen between the transports and all harm. The results of the battle were in favor of American gunnery.

"Not alone did the destroyers hold the U-boats at a safe distance, but their speed also resulted in the sinking of one submarine at least.

"Grenades were used in firing a depth charge explosive timed to go off at a certain distance under water.

"Wreckage on Surface.

"In another instance, oil and wreckage covered the surface of the sea after a shot from a destroyer at a periscope, and the reports make claim of sinking.

"Protected by our high seas convoy, by our destroyers, and by French war vessels the contingent proceeded and joined the others in a French port.

"The whole nation will rejoice that so great a peril is passed for the vanguard of the men who will fight our battles in France. No more thrilling Fourth of July celebration could have been arranged than this glad news that lifts the shadow of dread from the heart of America."

Army Thanks Navy.

Secretary Baker wrote the following letter to Secretary Daniels, conveying the army's thanks to the navy:

"Word has just come to the war department that the last ships conveying General Pershing's expeditionary force to France arrived safe today.

"As you know, the navy assumed the responsibility for the safety of these ships on the sea and through the danger zone. The ships themselves and their convoys were in the hands of the navy, and now that they have arrived, and carried, without the loss of a man, our soldiers who owe the first to represent America in the battle for democracy, I beg leave to tender to you, to the admiral and to the navy the hearty thanks of the war department and of the army.

"This splendid achievement is an auspicious beginning and it has been characterized throughout by the cordial and effective co-operation between the two military services."

DAY BRINGS

American fleet had destroyed Cervera's fleet at Santiago.

Today, America again at war, was informed that its fleet of transports and destroyers had successfully landed an army in Europe to fight for world democracy. Not only did the United States navy safely land a force of fighting men in France, but on the long voyage through submarine-infested waters the German U-boats were completely foiled in their attempts to prevent safe passage of the ships.

Another circumstance to make the day especially significant is the fact that in the brief space of three months the United States has been converted from a peaceful nation into a war power whose economic and military strength is counted upon to accomplish the downfall of autocracy.

Here in the nation's capital the day was observed with the usual patriotic exercises. With congress in recess and all the executive departments closed, governmental machinery virtually was at a standstill.

The day was featured by a joint public celebration of patriotic societies at the base of Washington's monument with Speaker Clark the orator of the occasion. Most all of Washington accepted invitations to attend.

hour: south on Calhoun to Washington, and west on Washington to Swinney park.

The order of the various organizations in the parade was:

First Division—Captain W. L. Richmond, commander; city police, Citizens' band, Company B, First Indiana infantry, signal corps, Battery B. W. C. T. U., G. A. R., Spanish war veterans, Sons of Veterans and Daughters of Veterans.

Second Division—Captain L. O. Wetzel, commander; Red Cross, General Electric girls, lamp works, knitting mills, Bowser Military club, Boy Scouts, lodges, newboys and Western Union boys.

Third Division—Captain Pearl Riblet, commander; Y. W. C. A., Sunday schools, churches, speakers', officers' and other machines participating in parade.

Soldateness Marks Day.

General tenor of the day is one of soldateness. Pride and solemnity walk hand in hand and cast the spell of their presence over all the city. The rollicking, excitement-making Fourth of July spirit is lacking. Not a boy or a girl but realizes something of the soberness of the day which commemorates the principles for which the nation stands upon the dark threshold of war.

Patriotic parade and military drills at the Swinney park gathering display the interest of the public in the military life of the city. Every address of the day bore upon the solemn and grand possibilities of the future mission of the United States as well as the heritage of the past.

It is a day for honoring Fort Wayne's soldier boys anew. Every man who possesses a soldier's uniform is proud to wear the garb of loyalty today.

police order that big fire crackers would not be tolerated is being carried out to the letter. Many citizens are forbearing the accustomed joy of an evening fire works display because the request of military authorities has been to "save the powder."

A few small fire crackers, touched off by very small boys, awakened and startled peaceful citizens shortly after dawn. There was a touch of the proper introduction of the natal day.

Despite the general trend against the waste of noise and ammunition there have been hundreds of dollars worth of small fire works sold in Fort Wayne in the past two weeks, merchants stated Tuesday evening.

Harmless, dazzling little sparklers found the greatest sale from local counters this year, fire works salesmen say. Their nearest rivals were the toy pistols, which resound with a snap when a small cap is exploded. Many dollars worth of the noise-making caps were bought by Fort Wayne lads during the past few days.

Business Is Suspended.

Roar of industry is stifled. As is customary the stores and factories have suspended business for the day. Many small picnic parties are formed from groups in the several mills and foundries.

The postoffice is closed for the day. There are no city deliveries and no rural route deliveries. All outgoing mails are dispatched as usual. The lobby of the postoffice is left open to the public for mailing matter, which is already provided with stamps.

The county court house and city hall are deserted as far as the offices are concerned. Police court, the never resting institution of the city, ground away during the morning hours at its grist of crime. The court session was a long one because of several continued cases.

All Day Meeting.

The largest celebration in Fort Wayne is under way at Swinney park. Several thousand people were on the grounds at noon. The number is expected to grow before night fall. The celebration opened by the military parade. At noon a free lunch was served to all enlisted soldiers by the W. C. T. U. Addresses were made by Colonel D. N. Foster and Captain W. A. Kellogg, both civil war veterans.

Speaking starts at 1 o'clock from the raised platform at the west side of the lawn. Edward C. Miller talks on "The Red Cross," Hon. A. J. Rickert, of Indianapolis, speaks on "The New Constitution," and Mrs. C. S. Elden on "Why Women Should Vote."

There will be music by the Citizens' band at intervals during the afternoon. Later in the afternoon will be a demonstration of Red Cross and a series of athletic events. The Red Cross took a prominent part in the day's festivities. In the evening there will be a band concert and an address by Rev. T. M. Cole on "Good Citizenship," and others.

Many Picnics.

Many lodges, schools and religious organizations are enjoying outings in the park and groves near the city. Every city park is being used for picnicking bands.

Members of the Precious Blood congregation are enjoying an outing at St. Andrew's grove. Masons are holding a celebration at Lakeside park. There will be music and sport events. The socialists of the city have gathered at Lawton park. Many prominent socialist workers from all over the Twelfth congressional district have a part in the gathering. There will be speeches and athletic events. Members of the Robin Hood lodge, Sons of St. George, are picnicking at Harry Grosvenor's country home. Members of the St. Peter's parochial school and their parents are holding a picnic at the school.

Go to Resorts.

Hundreds of Fort Wayne citizens are at the lake resorts over Independence day. Lake James, Reeds City and Tri-Lake are the points of destination of most of those who motored from the city before dawn. Aquarian and athletic events are on the programs of the celebrations at Tri-Lake and Rome City.

"Drive" for Red Cross.

At the country club the best golfers of the city are carrying on a number of spirited contests for the benefit of the Red Cross. Several hundred citizens have expressed their intentions of following the trail of a part of the matches. A number of scores of a year's standing are to be settled between the city golfers.

Double Header.

The Central league ball teams will perform twice during the day. Fort Wayne plays two games with South Bend. One contest was on during the morning and another will follow this afternoon.

The two independent ball teams of the city are out of town for fast diamond contests. The Lincoln Lifers play at Convoys and the Shamrocks at Paulding, Ohio. Several other semi-pro teams have journeyed away for battles on foreign soil today.

Horse Racing Also.

Horse racing will be on during the afternoon at Centerville park. There are four racing events on a card which promises to be a blue ribbon matinee. More than thirty horses, all trained since early spring, will thunder down before the judges' stand in the different race numbers.

Special Shows.

The movie houses of the city are planning special features for the evening. Only the best known and the highest priced stars will bow before the public from the stage of the silent drama in the down town picture shows. It is promised. A band concert and dancing will be carried on during the afternoon and evening at Robison park.

yet used on the Russian side, smashed great fields of wire work after two days' bombardment, and cleared the path for stormers. These were necessarily picked men.

Men at Front Worthy.

Considerable precaution had been taken to assemble regiments of infantry upon whom more or less reliance could be placed, although until put to a test even their own officers could not pretend to know what would happen. The trial proved, whatever may be the case on the rear, that there are at the front men worthy of Russia's great name.

The losses have been heavy, which is in accordance with Russian tradition. Russian armies holding world's record for ability to suffer without losing military qualities. Southwest of Bzenany the fighting seems to have been even more severe and success still hangs in the balance. This region is also hilly and wooded.

The Germans had special redoubts which withstood a severe artillery fire. The defenses were held by the Germans and Turks—a combination which has always proved formidable.

Lost Many Officers.

After very hard fighting the Russians won several points and captured 2,000 prisoners. Some points changed hands several times. It was here that the Russian loss in officers was particularly serious.

The general scope of the action indicates that the movement is on an extended scale and that the battle now begun is likely to take weeks to reach its conclusion. The fighting is in a territory which before the war belonged to an enemy. The provisional government announces that all regiments engaged in this new initiative will be henceforth known as "Eighteenth of June" regiments, that being the old style date of the battle. June 18 has been a memorable day for Russia for more than a century.

Shanghai, July 4.—Tang Shao Yi, ex-premier, in a statement to the Chinese press, said that General Chang Hsun's coup in restoring the monarchy affected the whole world. "I'll leave it to the world," he said, "to decide whether it is right. The republic never had a chance. Real republicans from the beginning had been checked by the reactionaries and now when the whole world is talking of liberty and liberating itself from autocracy, China is reverting to the past. It is a challenge to new China."

All It Costs to Reclaim Unfit for Army Service by Plan of Cleveland Physician—
Will Get After 2,000,000
Shirkers.

Washington, D. C., July 4.—Millions of men rejected from service for physical reasons will have a chance to enter the army or navy after going through a combined medical and military training, if the plan of Dr. John H. Quayle of Cleveland is adopted by the government.

Dr. Quayle has seen Secretary of War Baker and Brigadier General Gorgas, and both officials enthusiastically approve his plan. It is left to congress to pass upon it.

According to Dr. Quayle, it would cost $100 to reclaim each man for service, but would mean a saving of $1,000, addition of another soldier against the Kaiser, and prevention of an inferior race, after the war.

"According to statistics on the percentage of men accepted under the volunteer system, it would be impossible to get more than 2,000,000 from the 10,000,000 men who have registered," says Dr. Quayle. "Between 5,000,000 and 7,000,000 would be barred for physical defects."

Half these, Dr. Quayle estimates, may be exempt because of their relatives. About 3,000,000 remain to be reclaimed.

Dr. Quayle's plan would get after the shirkers especially and force them into proper physical shape, put them into service and make the country safe from parasitic influence.

"A thoroughly trained medical man could put 90 per cent of these rejections in condition to pass the examination in from three to six months," says Dr. Quayle. Military training would be a part of their routine.

"Two million men between the ages of 21 and 31 have absolutely no visible means of support and are loafers and leeches on society. They are physically unfit because of their self-indulgence and vicious habits which could be regulated under my plan.

My plan is the appointment of a commission by the government which should organize a training camp in every state with suitable hospital facilities to reclaim rejected men. Each camp should be supervised by military officers who would carry out the recommendations of the medical men."

Dr. Quayle has already volunteered his services and has been joined by other prominent physicians throughout the country. His plan has been heartily approved by military officers who see in it a way to make the army of the United States the largest and most physically fit in the world.

EXEMPTION BOARD ORGANIZED.

Huntington, Ind., July 4.—Huntington's exemption board organized Monday by selecting Dr. C. W. Fry, president; Judge C. W. Watkins, clerk, and Dr. W. R. Beck, physician. The board is numbering the registration cards and will forward the lists to Washington. The Huntington contingent at Fort Harrison will take a prominent part in the Fourth of July celebration here, Wednesday. At the request of Peter Martin, chairman of the county council of defense, General Glenn consented that fifteen of the eighteen men in camp will be permitted to come home, Wednesday, in a body. The men will be met at Marion by automobiles and taken back to that place to entrain for the fort.

STOP FEEDING TRAMPS.

Auburn, Ind., July 4.—Feeding of tramps in Auburn and every other town and section of Dekalb county will be stopped if the wishes of the Dekalb county council of defense are carried out. At the regular monthly meeting of this new organization in the court house at Auburn, Monday afternoon, the council voted to ask the co-operation of the citizens of Dekalb county in stopping this begging by able-bodied men who travel through the country living off of others.

AUTOMOBILE THIEVES CAUGHT.

Van Wert, O., July 4.—Harry Smith and Martin Abel, both 16 years old, have been convicted at Mansfield and sent to the reformatory for the theft of an automobile belonging to the Converse Taxicab company, of Converse, O. The young men were arrested near Coverdale, O., by the sheriff.

HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Huntington, Ind., July 4.—Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Wolf, their two daughters and a son, and J. Kramer, of Marion, were injured when their automobile left the road south of Andrews and crashed into a telephone pole. All the occupants of the car were cut by broken glass.

DAVID CHAMNESS DEAD.

Huntington, Ind., July 4.—David Chamness, age 76, died Sunday at his home near Andrews. Mr. Chamness was a veteran of the civil war. He leaves a widow, four sons, four daughters, thirty grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, a half-brother and three uncles.

GREAT FAIRYLAND SPECTACLE COMING

"Cinderella" is Big Feature on Ringling Bros.' Circus Program.

"Cinderella," best-loved of fairy stories, is this season's spectacle feature with the Ringling Brothers' circus. The production is said to be the biggest thing of its kind ever produced under canvas. The gigantic pantomime was rehearsed for two months prior to its initial presentation. It then opened the program during the Ringling engagement at the Coliseum in Chicago this spring, where it delighted children and grownups for seventy consecutive performances. "Cinderella" and the entire aerial program is to be given here Thursday, July 12, exactly as it was produced in Chicago's great convention building.

The spectacle is by far the most pretentious of anything yet offered by the Ringling Brothers. It was built by a corps of dramatists, including men prominent in the hippodromes of Europe—men who have been obliged to transfer their talents to this country because of the great war. The fairyland story has been preserved in its entirety. One sees the great valley of the gnomes and fairies, the streets of the magic city, the palace of the king, the home of "Cinderella," the grand ball room in which the maid of the chimney corner loses the glass slipper, the throne room where the ladies of the kingdom contest for the royal favor and many other scenes incidental to the well known tale. These various scenes are peopled by a cast numbering more than a thousand characters. The costumes are in keeping with the splendid subject, and vehicles, horses and trappings are of a type especially built or selected. The lighting and mechanical effects surpass those of a Wagnerian production. Most beautiful of the many scenes is that in which the entire fairy band numbering hundreds of woodland sprites give their wonderful "Dance of the Flowers." The fairyland atmosphere has been preserved throughout, even to the handsome paintings which adorn the mammoth curtain that falls and rises before the great stage. The stage itself is by far the largest ever constructed. Fifty-two mechanics are required to move the scenery and operate the mechanical devices during the progress of the dramatic action. The costumes total almost 5,000 and are as beautiful as the name "Cinderella" would suggest.

While "Cinderella" is the feature of this season's Ringling program, it is followed by fully two hours of remarkable circus acts. Approximately 400 artists take part in the aerial numbers, the great majority of whom are entirely new to American audiences. A trained animal exhibition is introduced during the course of the main tent program, specially arranged for the enjoyment of the little folks. It includes an unusual number of trained bears, monkeys, dogs, Shetland ponies, birds, cats, seals and other creatures dear to the hearts of the young.

GETS DISCHARGE FOR PHYSICAL DISABILITY

Maurice Neizer Has Been Rejected From Officers' Training Camp.

Maurice Neizer, the democratic candidate for mayor of Fort Wayne, has received a physical disability discharge from the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison. The army physicians have discovered that he has a defective ear-drum. In a communication to this city he announces that he will return to Fort Wayne the latter part of the week.

Mr. Neizer has spent nine weeks at the training camp and was very enthusiastic about the work from the beginning. He always expressed the idea that he wanted to see service in France.

STATE OF SCHELL BOY OFFERS RAY OF HOPE

Latest word from the St. Joseph hospital was to effect that Alfred Schell, who was shot through the head while out riding, Sunday evening, may recover. The youth has been resting well during the past few hours. Chances of infection from the wound, which follows the trail of the bullet through the boy's face, have been reduced, says Dr. J. Frank Dinnen, in charge of the patient. Dr. Dinnen holds a growing hope in the youth's recovery, the physician said at noon, Wednesday.

Louis Daniels, horse trader, held in the county jail charged with firing the shot which wounded the lad, is unchanged in his calm attitude of denial of any knowledge of the boy being shot, when the automobile passed near his camping outfit.

IN UNITY, JULY 4, 1917.

The unanimous Declaration of the allied Free Peoples of the World.

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for the enlightened people of the World to dissolve the bonds which have chained the liberties of mankind and to assume the high and democratic station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, we deem respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to their action. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People of the World to abolish it and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect the Safety and Happiness and to insure the liberty in Democracy of all the Peoples of the World. Prudence indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes, and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are most disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same aim, evinces the design to reduce the World under absolute Despotism, it is the right of all Free People, it is their duty, to throw off such despotic Governments and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of the Democracies of the World, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to unite in abolishing autocratic Governments. The history of the present Government of Germany, and its allied autocracies, is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over the World. In every stage of these oppressions and usurpations, as long as human forbearance could endure, we have sought redress and reform most patiently. Our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Government whose character is marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be accepted among the Governments of Free Peoples. Nor have we been wanting in attention to our German brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their Government to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over the World's Free People. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our injuries at the hands of their Government. We have appealed to their spirit of justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by all the ties of human brotherhood to disavow these usurpations. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of magnanimity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which compels our action, and hold them, as we hold their Government, enemies in war, but friends in the Peace of Liberty which must follow.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United Free Peoples of the World, in common cause assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the Good People of these Free Nations, solemnly publish and declare, That all Peoples of the World are, and of right ought to be Free and Independent; that they are absolved from all allegiance to autocratic Governments wherever they may be; and that All Governments that do not derive their powers from the consent of the governed of right ought to be dissolved and must be dissolved, to the end that Liberty may be the lot of all People everywhere and Freedom the common state of Man. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor. Done by order and in behalf of the World's Democracies.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1917.

THE EAST ST. LOUIS LADIES.

In whatever glory was won by the white mobs of East St. Louis the women share about equally with the men. In their display of spirit and exhibition of frenzy, in their ruthlessness and savagery, the ladies gave ample proof that their fellow mobbists, the men, had "nothing on them." Their shortcomings in performance of the high tasks in hand were of the arm and not the heart and in that respect they showed themselves obliged to yield little to the superiority of the males.

Here is a small detail of the general picture as drawn by a writer for the Associated Press that shows the women of East St. Louis in all the pristine charm of native savagery:

Another of the innumerable brutal incidents of the night was the attack on a young negroess. White men and women were among the assaulters.
"Let the women have her," was the cry among the men and white women, began tearing the garments from their victim. The negroess cry of "Please, please, I ain't done nothing," was stopped by a blow in the face with a club which a woman swung like a baseball bat. Another white woman seized the victim's hands and the blow was repeated. Fingers tore at her hair and her waist was stripped from her.
"Now, let's see how fast she can run," suggested a bystander, as the negroess broke loose. The women were loathe to leave her alone, but after following her with their blows for a short distance they stopped and she ran crying down the street.
The women next tried to get an aged negroess who was guarded by three militiamen. One of the women wrestled with the soldier for his rifle and others succeeded in getting in a few blows.

The narrative of events in East St. Louis during the twenty-four hours that the mobs held sway are rich in incidents of which the foregoing is a proximate average. All over the mob-ridden city the white women did their bit with courage and energy. To the splendor of that effulgent chapter of American lawlessness the women contributed all that could have been expected. It was a charming instance of poetic discrimination, reflecting no credit less upon the gallantry of the male mobbists than upon the intrepidity of the female mobbists, that women victims of the uprising were left, where practicable, to be dealt with by women. And the white ladies of East St. Louis rose gloriously to the occasion. Upon the heroic scenes of that triumphal hour they shed a lustre of imperishable renown and when History comes to emblazon the heroes of that imperial day she will wield no reluctant pen to emblazon also the heroines. There was glory enough for all.

The lady bobcats of East St. Louis proved their mettle in many a glorious melee. Perhaps it is a pity that the saloons had been closed, else they might have gone farther and disclosed unconceived talent for savage cruelty.

GOOD NEWS FOR THIS DAY.

It fits well to the spirit and occasion of this day that the government is able to announce the complete success of the first military expedition to France.

Not a man or an animal was lost. Not a pound of supplies was destroyed or damaged. Not a keel was injured. Through the murder zones of Prussian autocracy the navy and the army sped their ships and their men, their horses and their stores and, arrived safely in port, everybody and everything checks up as "there."

This achievement cannot be cheapened. It was no fault of German vigilance or German good intent toward the expedition. It would have been something to the credit of the U-boats and something certainly of great value to the German morale to have sunk an American transport with two or three thousand troops. That there was no want of purpose in the Prussian war plans to accomplish such a stroke is furnished proof in the report that submarine attacks were launched against the expedition. It is a satisfactory detail of this that the American destroyers conveying the expedition engaged the U-boats and sunk one or more of them.

Just how many men have been successfully and safely landed in France is not stated, but it is probable that some twenty-five thousand are there, since it is announced officially that all of the first expedition is now ashore in Europe, including animals and supplies. That so much should have been done without the intervention of a single unfortunate incident, without casualty and so utterly without confusion, disorder or delay as that the people of this country were in ignorance that an expedition had been embarked until they got news that it had safely arrived is something in which there may be a great and reasonable pride.

Notwithstanding a deal of criticism of the war and navy departments—and not all of it without reason—these two branches of the government have displayed initiative, energy and efficiency in the organization and dispatch of the first expedition to France that furnishes a most happy and impressive augury for the conduct of America's part in the war. We mean nothing invidious in saying that the success of this expedition stands in sharp relief against the history of the American expeditions to Cuba nineteen years ago. The ignominious failures of that day have not been forgotten nor have the lessons of them gone unlearned.

It is fine news for the Fourth of July that our first important military essays in this great war have been accomplished with high success and without loss of man or ship under circumstances as perilous as could be imagined.

IT MAKES TALK CHEAP.

It is better than a half century since Fourth of July oratory faced such emergence of events as to put the old afflatus of the day in painful straits. Spread-eagleism won't "get over" on this one hundred and forty-first anniversary of the nation's birth. Our men in France, our men in the training camps, our men awaiting the fateful dictum of the conscript, our women in the Red Cross—our conscripted people everywhere—on this day make talk cheap.

This is the day of service, the hour of devotion, the moment of decision. It has ceased to be the inherited glory of the deeds our fathers did in the "days that tried men's souls." The rather is it the time of what we ourselves shall do in these present days of the soul's trial. The deeds of the fathers will take care of themselves perpetually. The fruits of those deeds are our supreme heritage and their perpetuity is with us. Today we face the great crisis, stand under the decisive test. The democracy born on this July day seven score and one years ago was submitted above a half century since to the first great test of its existence. Then it was to determine if among ourselves we harbored a lie in cherishing the declaration that we held to be self-evident the truth that all men are created free and equal. In four years of fratricidal strife we settled it that the keystone principle of our arch was not a fraudulency, and that we were no longer ourselves to be hypocrites respecting it. Now not only our democracy but all democracy is challenged, threatened and assailed. We are in arms and moving to battle to try how it shall henceforth be with democracy here and all places else.

If there was anything worth fighting for, worth achieving, worth a single sacrifice of a solitary man on the dear-bought fields of the Revolution, or worth preserving at still greater cost on still dearer fields of the stupendous conflict of the states, it is worth all that we now can put in to turn the scale to democracy in this crisis wherein a world's liberties are frankly and audaciously assailed. In a sacred jointure of blood the free nations of the earth are today shoulder to shoulder in the greatest war of all history for the greatest cause that ever has challenged the devotion and valor of men.

So, while orators today may here and there take text from ancient glory of deeds and seek inspiration in the valor of the brave now long gathered home, the mass of the people will be looking about upon the work of going into the greatest of all our conflicts for the most precious of all our possessions. Talk today seems cheap and is cheap unless, as Colonel Roosevelt so stubbornly yet so truthfully insists, it is translated into deeds. We cannot all go to the firing line, but there is for everybody a service of some sort and of vital moment. Duty has neither times nor seasons, but the Fourth of July is, nevertheless, a good day in which to take your consecrations to your country's service.

A contemporary observes with some force that what East St. Louis did to the negroes took place in the state that gave Lincoln to the nation. Just so. But we recall that a few years ago the white folks of Springfield, in the same state, "lynched a nigger" in the shadow of the monument that marks the Great Emancipator's resting-place.

Maybe Sec. Daniels' navy has got something up its sleeve for the U-boats that the censor refuses to pass. Anyway, there was almost smooth sailing for the transports with twenty-five thousand of Pershing's fighters.

THE TRANSFER CORNER

By R E M

"Fare, please! All the glad ones, and the sad ones; all the good ones, and the bad ones—get on here!"

IN PLACE OF THE POEM

Hip! Hip! Hoo-rah! This is the glorious Fourth of July!
You may be aware of the fact, or you may not—just according as you are alive and awake, or dead and drunk!
But the main thing is—you expected to see a poem perched on this spot; and we're refusing to spot you one!

What a shock it is when one asks for bread and receives a biscuit like your wife used to make—what a shock it is to expect something, and then get something else!

We have been there, too—it hurts, but is interesting!
What we started out to say was this—we had a space to fill; and, lo! it is filled—or nearly so!

However, if you were dead set (this is sporting language) on poetry, this kind of filling will not tank you up; because it is plain prose, and pretty plain at that!

If you wish to preserve the illusion, you may imagine that every third, fourth or fifth word of this infamous piece begins with a capital letter, and that each capitalized word starts a verse (does verse ever start?)—then, old dear, you will have regular Cass street "free verse" of a highly superior quality!

As we said before—this is the Fourth of July; and, out of courtesy, we must speak softly to our English allies!
Personally, we are glad this is over! Now, we can go on more comfortably!
Hoo-rah, for the Fourth!

With Apologies to Whoever Originated This.
Willie put some powder by.
Used it up Fourth of July.
Curiosity doesn't pay—
It's rained Willie this whole day!

Stimulants Required.
Pedestrian (dashing into a saloon)—Hurry!
There's been a horrible accident out here! Cannon cracker exploded just as a boy was about to throw it!
Bar Keep—What can I do for him?
Pedestrian—Give him two fingers.

Our Daily Affirmation.
IF YOU HAVEN'T ANY CANNON CRACKERS TO SHOOT OFF YOU CAN USE YOUR MOUTH.

Staying With Him.
Hub—This Fourth of July breeze is amusement-loving—it takes my breath clear away.
Wife (with acerbity)—Not altogether. I can still smell that last smile you took down at the corner saloon.

They Could Wait for the Rest of the Meal.
Inventor—The future will give me my deserts.
His wife—Yea, but how fine it would be if we could have the first and second courses right now.

Quarrel.
A shady nook,
A babbling brook,
A pleasure long deferred;
A kiss, a slap,
A scream, a scrap,
And she won't say a word!

Remosphy.
What is pink lemonade without a Fourth?
The firecrackers were mostly used on the French front today.
After all we prefer it safe and sane—even in war times.
If little Johnny could only have exploded his giant cracker on a U-boat periscope how joyful we would be.
We must put the soft pedal on the declaration of independence for there may be suffragists about.

She Consented Quickly.
Burglar—I demand your life.
Miss Quince—This is very sudden; but if you have an engagement ring with you I suppose I can fulfill my part of the contract by offering my finger.

Our Tiresome Friend Says:
THERE ARE ODDLES OF PRUDES WHO OBSERVE THE DICTATES OF PRUDENCE ONLY WHEN IT IS PRUDENT TO DO SO.

Question of Speed.
He—How far would you let a fellow go with you?
She—That would depend on whether we traveled on the day coach local or on the Pullman limited.

Those Eager Advertisers.
"Ribbon presser and pants creaser by mail, 25 cents."
Cheap enough, but rather forward, don't you think?
"A 25 cent puller."
Add—for any dentist.
"Miss Ethel Martin cordially invites you to attend her after dances each Thursday from 9 to 12 p. m."
If only our wife would relent, and let us have a little fun now and then!

Proper Way to Quarrel With Suffragist.
"I understand that Jones and his wife had a quarrel over registration."
"They did."
"They came out best?"
"I don't know. I heard that he threatened to go home to his parents."

Vacation Maid.
He—Pardon me, but didn't I propose to you on this spot last year?
She—I don't know, I'm sure—try it again, and perhaps I shall be able to remember.

Reason Why.
Why do the nautical experts
Speak of a spanking breeze?
Because so many lady ships
Act naughty on the seas!

Our Daily Tip to the Kaiser.
WILLIAM, IT IS HARD TO THINK UP ANY SORT OF TIP THAT WILL HELP YOU—WHAT YOU NEED IS A DOWNRIGHT GOOD CUSSING.

Then They Were Picked Up.
"Heavens!" cried Mrs. Worrit, who, as you may easily guess, was somewhat excited, having been cast adrift with her husband in a small rowboat, thirty feet from a pleasure steamer. "I think that is a shark back there."
"Courage, dear love," responded her husband gallantly, having been in trouble in company with the same lady before this; "I do not think sharks infest these inland lakes. However, in any case, do not let one stern reality frighten you."

Educational.
French Student (in America)—I look in ze late M. Webster's dictionary, but him not show ze "sliver."
Professor—Your trouble, sir, was that you did not look for "river"—perfect synonymes, I assure you.

Correspond-DENTS.
C. Q.—"You're such a funny little feller." Pleased to amuse.

Not by cheers alone or the flattering vaunt of speeches
Is the strength of a nation shown in the strain of the crucial hour
But by trust in a righteous cause and a glorious love that reaches Deep down to a people's soul with its searching and poignant power,
So the flags that float on the breeze have a tarnished and tawdry splendor
If they are not raised aloft by hands that are real and true,
And the test of our loyal might is the faith that we gladly render,
Not the words that our tongues may speak, but the tangible deeds we do.

All that our fathers dreamed of, all that they ever sought for
When they shivered at Valley Forge and battled at Bunker Hill,
Is again at stake in the world—a guardian that must be fought for;
It is ours to hold and defend with all of our strength and will;
And if we would keep our banners proudly and freely flying
We must gird ourselves as others have girded themselves of old,
And prove by the fact of service, living or bravely dying,
That the torch our fathers carried has never grown dim or cold.

Not by cheers alone, or waving of flags and singing
Is a nation's spirit shown, but only when brain and nerve
Are trained to the instant need—and the nation's call is bringing Her bravest children forth—crying,
"We serve! We serve! We serve!"

CHANGE OF TACTICS AT HAND FOR MEETING THE MENACE OF SUBMARINES

(By L. HARPER LEECH.)

The submarine warfare has reached a stage which will probably lead to a complete change of tactics. The change of method will probably be as revolutionary as the change in land warfare which followed the battle of the Marne, when the war of maneuvers was superseded by the war of the trenches.

On land the airplane and the machine gun have relegated the tactics which man has used on land since he first began to make war.

But the British admiralty has followed the same ideas in fighting the submarine which have been followed by all the victorious maritime powers of history. It is the simple offensive. "Find the enemy and fight him."

The method is in thorough accord with the traditions of the British navy and the national anthem, "Britannia Rules the Waves." Until very recently it was fairly successful. There was never any trouble about the "fight" end of the plan. But "find the enemy" has proved the almost insoluble problem.

Reduced to tactics, there are four methods of fighting the submarine:

1. The Offensive—Hunting for submarines with destroyers and patrols, covering the sea with submarine chasers, dragging the sea with nets, scouring the air with aëros.

2. The Defensive—Dropping the idea of exterminating the submarines by bottling up the German coast with nets, mines and bomb-carrying cables.

3. The Sea Trench Method—Imprisonment of the submarines by bottling up the German coast with nets, mines and bomb-carrying cables.

4. An Attack on the Bases—"Digging the rats out of their holes."

To date, the submarine has followed the simple offensive. It was fairly successful so long as the submarine had a limited cruising radius and had to keep close to the shores of Britain. By covering the North sea and the channel with patrol boats and dragging them with nets, the British practically drove the smaller submarines from the narrow seas.

The Germans countered with 350 foot submarines that could cruise out in the Atlantic.

The admiralty is up against a mathematical impossibility. The further out it extends the patrol, the bigger grows the ratio of patrols to submarines.

Assuming that one patrol boat can cover twenty square miles of sea, it would require four times as many patrol boats to cover the sea 200 miles off shore as it would take to protect the sea for 100 miles out, while only twice the number of submarines would be required to blockade the circumference of the patrolled area 200 miles out as would be required for the smaller circle.

Extending the limit to 400 miles would require sixteen times the number of patrols to combat four times the original number of submarines.

The only solution of this problem, in the opinion of many naval men, is for the British navy and its allies to change its tactics and devote its energies to convoying and protecting merchant shipping.

Ships must wait until all the convoy is loaded, sail at the same speed, and make the same ports. The number of trips per ship will be cut down. The docking facilities of the ports will have to be enlarged. The quantity of freight which can be delivered will be lowered perhaps 50 per cent.

This tremendous traffic problem has prevented the adoption of the convoy system up to this time.

But that way safety lies, according to experts who have the facts.

The convoy and the patrolled sea lane will cut down losses to a negligible amount.

Especially is this the case in fair weather, when airplanes can be carried along on mother ships to scour the surrounding waters for submarines. Naval airmen say that the submarine will never come to the surface when an airplane is about in fair weather.

In rough weather the submarine suffers terrible handicaps of limited vision and torpedo range, which offset the impossibility of using airplanes.

To the convoy system it must come, unless the third or fourth methods of fighting the submarine can succeed.

From the beginning of the war Britain has tried to wait the submarines in with mines, but as long as Holland, Denmark and Norway remain neutral this plan cannot succeed, for the submarines are believed to escape through "neutral" waters in which the allies cannot lay mines.

A plan is being considered by the United States navy to build a huge "wire fence" in the North sea from Scotland to Norway, and to close the Strait of Dover with a similar fence.

This would be a huge net, 200 feet deep, loaded with contact bombs at every intersection, held in place by steamers stationed every few miles and also held up by buoys.

Improvements in submarines and anti-submarine devices are adopted.

At present the submarine is ahead in the race, not because there are no weapons to fight it, but because of the tactical difficulties of catching it.

That is why it is believed the next step in the submarine war will be a change of tactics.

SCORE OF SOCIETIES ARE JOINED TO KEEP DRINK FROM TROOPS

BY REV. CHARLES STELZEL.

Twenty leading national temperance societies in the United States have combined for a united campaign for total abstinence in army and navy concentration camps.

While the law prohibits giving intoxicating liquor to a man in uniform, there is no guarantee when our soldiers go abroad to fight in the trenches the same prohibitory law will be enforced. Indeed it is assumed they will be face to face with the same temptation to drink that exists among the fighters in Europe. In order to prepare the men for this situation these temperance societies propose to convince the American soldier that the use of intoxicating liquor is a distinct detriment to him as a fighting man.

A special committee of experts on the liquor question is making an intensive study of the relation of liquor to the war and is preparing an aggressive program consisting principally of a series of temperance lectures by prominent publicists, the preparation and display of posters in training camps, the distribution of suitable literature, the supplying of stereoscopic views and the maintenance of stereomicrographs.

The committee will operate through the chaplains in the army and navy and the secretaries of the Young Men's Christian association. The association has already planned to furnish five secretaries for each brigade of 5,000 men and the equipment for each brigade will consist of a suitable building and such other apparatus as may be required for social and religious work among the men.

There will be something like 200 such units. All these workers and equipment will be available for use by the committee on war-temperance activities.

An executive secretary will be appointed by the united committee, who will have general supervision of the work in the training camps.

An initial budget of $100,000 will be raised for the campaign by the twenty co-operating agencies.

MODEST BUCK.

(From the Topeka Capital.)
The Buck Kilbys are giving their daughter, Mabelle, the benefit of musical instruction. "But we are not fitting her for the grand opera stage," said Mr. Kilby yesterday. "About all we expect is that she will, in a year or two, be able to earn $15 a week singing in a moving picture theater."

VARIOUS DEGREES.

Some people are unmercifully born jokers; some unthinkingly acquire the habit of joshing, and some have kid-ners unendurably thrust upon them.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

We had grand weather for the Fourth of July.

S. L. Morris and family will leave this week for Denver, Col., to visit.

Hefty Frauenfelder was accidentally shot through the calf of the leg while patronizing a shooting gallery at Zion's picnic yesterday.

C. G. Smith, of the Newspaper Union, while touching off fireworks last evening, had one hand badly burned and will carry the member in a sling for sometime.

A dispatch from Cleveland today says that F. Delf Robison has abandoned the Fort Wayne club of the Western league. The club is now being run on a co-operative plan.

John P. Evans, treasurer of the Hoosier Manufacturing company, left for New York last evening, where he will meet George P. Evans, who has just returned from a four months' tour of the continent.

Attached to the Keystone express on the Fort Wayne road this afternoon were two special Pullman cars, taking from this city an enthusiastic delegation to the big Christian Endeavor convention in New York.

John A. Kline, a farmer living near Sheldon, lost a team of fine horses Saturday night, the animals being killed by lightning. The storm was severe and some pronounce it a cloudburst. A drove of hogs, which were in low pasture land on Mr. Kline's farm, were drowned.

Planning Meals for a Week Ahead Saves

By BIDDIE BYE.

Many a housewife prepares her meals by inspiration rather than by careful planning to get the best out of the least.

A week's program of carefully planned breakfasts, lunches and dinners should be so arranged as to make for a healthier family as well as a saving in the food budget. The problem is complex, for not only must the housewife consider her own purse and the local market, but the size of the family, their ages, occupations, health, individual tastes, national customs and even religious views.

The purse, of course, is the greatest factor. To keep the budget low, substitutes should be used for meats, eggs, fruits and vegetables except in mid-season. The cheaper meat substitutes may appear in limited quantities, cheaper fats may replace butter, and milk, bread and cereals may furnish the main foods.

The housewife should consider these substitutes in making her formulas for the week. The usual breakfast in its simplest form consists of fruit, bread and butter and a beverage. A cereal is added in many cases. Instead of the fruit, a fruit preserve may be served.

Dinner, the heaviest meal of the day, which may come at noon or evening, according to the conveniences of the family, comprises meat or a meat substitute, a starchy vegetable, a green salad, bread and butter and dessert.

Planning for a week ahead gives the housewife a chance to buy more advantageously and more economically and a chance to use the leftovers. Each meal should be planned with relation to the one preceding and the one following.

Prepare foods in larger quantities for more than one meal, especially those requiring long cooking. Sauces, prunes, cranberries, rhubarb and other side dishes can easily be prepared at the beginning of the week for all seven days.

Cold Pack Method of Home Canning is Easy

Canning fruits and vegetables in the home by the one-period cold pack method is a relatively simple process and can be done with ordinary kitchen equipment and with comparatively little labor. Much of the surplus of the home garden can be saved for winter use by this canning method which is fully described in a special bulletin just issued by the United States department of agriculture. Farmers' Bulletin 839, "Home Canning by the One-Period Cold Pack Method." This bulletin is of special interest and value to all housewives, canning clubs, societies or persons interested in conserving the food supply of the nation. It may be had on application to the United States department of agriculture.

The bulletin contains very explicit directions for canning practically all of the common garden vegetables including tomatoes, peppers, sweet peppers, pumpkin, squash, sweet corn, field corn, beans, peas and root vegetables, also various combinations of vegetables. It also includes canning directions for soft fruits and berries, hard fruits as apples, pears, quinces. Directions for the canning of camp rations, meals and soups are given in detail.

Each step in the canning process by the one-period cold pack method is carefully outlined from the preparation of the equipment and the raw materials to the sterilizing of the canned products. A special time table showing how long fruits, vegetables, soups and meats should be sealed, blanched or sterilized, is of particular value to the housewife. Various types of home made and commercial canning outfits are described.

LITTLE ROOM REQUIRED TO KEEP DRIED FRUITS.

Women who live in flats and small apartments usually consider themselves free from preserving food. The nation's demand that every woman shall do a little bit conscripts the flat-dweller as well as the farmer's wife.

Dried vegetables take up one-tenth the space required for storing the wet or fresh vegetables. A woman who can not find a cupboard for canned goods can keep a stock of dried vegetables and fruits on a shelf.

Of an onion, 87.5 per cent is water without nutrient; of a parsnip, 83 per cent; of a potato, 78.3; of a tomato, 94.3 per cent; beets are 87 per cent water and cabbage are 91.5 per cent water.

Dehydrated or dried vegetables shrink in bulk in an astonishing way, which makes them easy to pack in a small space. The water must be restored by soaking before the vegetables are cooked.

WATCH FOR INSECTS BEFORE PUTTING DRIED FOODS AWAY.

Insects are the chief foes of dried vegetables and fruits. They are more likely to get into the fruit during the process of drying than afterwards, is the warning of one of Uncle Sam's cooking experts.

Moths deposit their eggs on fruit generally at dusk or after dark. It takes from three to ten days for the eggs to hatch into grub-like caterpillars and from five to ten weeks till

By WINONA WILCOX.

Our patriotism is as old as the Fourth of July. This year it is born again. We have celebrated past triumphs of our national spirit annually. Now we consecrate it to future victories.

We are in the great war for a well-defined end. Democracy—perhaps world democracy—is to be the direct product of our new patriotism.

We expect valuable by-products also—surely the unity of the various peoples within our borders, perhaps the vote for women, probably government control of public utilities and the necessities of life.

Men desire, doubt or have faith in these side results according to their political creeds.

To women, the war so far means potatoes at $4 a bushel, while patriotism means knitting sponges for the Red Cross.

But there is one by-product of patriotism which is particularly woman's, and which is not peculiar to any flag. It is Patience.

It is a great modern wonder, this unending patience which began when the first Belgian mother snatched up her babe and fled before the swift gray German hordes. The aged women of Poland knew it as rival armies swept back and forth across their harvest fields. The Armenian women knew it as they left the skeletons of their starved little ones on the desert sands. The Serbian mother knew it when she saw her man-child fight besides his father and his grandsire. French wives know it as they bind up the limbs of their husbands and sons and send them back to the trenches. English women know it as wave after wave of their brave men go up against the Hun. Canadian women know it as they send their big boys overseas.

Of the great nations of the earth only the women of this country have been spared their share in the sorrows of humanity, have been deprived of their lesson in eternal patience.

But at last it is here, conscripting every woman, on this Fourth of July.

It is not yet time for us to be patient with God for the day to weep over our dead is not yet come.

But the earth is full of misery. And it is high time for us to practice patience with common things against the hour of dreadful need; time to smooth out the petty wearinesses of living, to give up our pet grouches, to sacrifice the worrying, weeping, carping, bickering, selfish nagging and hysteria which put so much unnecessary torture into so many homes; time to make ourselves fit to receive the Great Patience which is the by-product of patriotism and woman's heritage of war.

Small cartons or containers have the advantage of confining the injury from these moths to small quantities of material.

In sun drying, if the drying racks are screened early in the evening and at night, and the dried fruit and vegetables stored in tight paper sacks in a cool place, no danger ordinarily need be feared from these insects.

As an additional precaution, the dried product, before being stored, may be heated to 140 degrees long enough to allow the heat to penetrate throughout. This will sterilize it if already infested.

In drying by artificial heat, the process itself ordinarily will sterilize the product. But after drying it should be stored promptly.

COLORED ORGANDIE GOWNS FAVORED FOR SUMMER WEAR.

While white is mostly used in association with silk or cloth, colored organdies have not been neglected by any means. One finds it principally in rose, old blue and orchid, combined with crepe de chine, foulard and the resuscitated crepe meteor. Also it is to be noted that the return of the guimpe frock has given impetus to organdies and kindred weaves.

Undoubtedly there is a disposition to treat the summer wardrobe in the simplest fashion. Some women affect to do this because of the wish to economize during the period of war. This, however, has little to do with the cost of empire garments, since every one knows that it is easier to design a fussy dress than to evolve a simple frock whose style quality depends almost solely on fabric and on line distinction.

Women who have plenty of money should not take a pose of economy just now. It is always reprehensible to spend money if one can not afford it, but if one does not have to count the dollars and cents it is wise to keep them in circulation, and thereby help those who are in need of work. Hysterical alarm and ruthless economy are harmful rather than beneficial.

With the idea of appealing to women of artistic instincts who have money to spend for tentative fashion, a group of women craftsmen has been holding exhibitions of simple garments, which are in several instances made of materials hand woven, hand dyed and entirely put together by hand.

CALLED TO THE COLORS.

SOME HOUSEWIFE DON'TS WELL WORTH REMEMBERING

Don't if you husband comes home looking tired or feeling cross, begin to talk to him to find out the trouble until after he has eaten a hearty dinner.

Don't pick on your husband for little faults. Make one big suggestion that he improve and then let it go at that.

Don't knock his friends. You need not accept them, but you can be courteous always.

Don't invite company to dinner and then serve something you have never tried out before.

Don't, whatever goes wrong when you have company, apologize more than once, and don't apologize then if you don't have to.

Don't think that you are so busy with your new household duties and with your husband that you can't find time for your friends.

DR. CALVIN TO SPEAK.

Will Tell of the Work of the Red Cross at Patriotic Tea.

Dr. Jesse Calvin, general secretary of the Fort Wayne chapter of the Red Cross, will be one of the principal speakers at the patriotic tea to be given Friday afternoon and evening by the Woman's Relief corps on the lawn of O. L. Bickel, 610 Lawton place. Other addresses will be delivered by Capt. T. W. Blair and L. Hartzell. An interesting program has been arranged, including several selections by Wilhelmina Marquie, a talented young singer of this city. Members of Company E and Battery B will attend in a body.

How to Be Red Cross Nurse

One of the Great Tasks Will Come When Maimed Soldiers Return to Be "Rebuilt."

MABEL BOARDMAN

By MABEL T. BOARDMAN.
President American National Red Cross.

Charity and kindness must run to meet the tragedies of war. We cannot afford to wait until they are upon us. I do not like to remind all who come to see me asking for national service under the Red Cross of this. There are thousands of simple tasks, but to some this message must go in time for preparation.

War does not alone kill the young men of the land. It leaves great numbers blind and broken. For these there must be some salvage and expert guidance back into the semblance of normal usefulness.

Few of the mutilations of war are without their counterparts in peace—blindness, crippled and amputated limbs, deafness. The nation that served the unfortunates of peace best will have the largest stock of science to meet the wreckage of war. It is in the blind asylums of peace time that Winifred Holts first do their work; in the homes for crippled children that the fine experiments with crippled limbs are working out. The work that will begin six months from now is a strangely beautiful combination of nursing and teaching.

"The heaviest burden on the blind," Helen Keller said once, "is not blindness but idleness, and they can be relieved of this great burden. Give the blind man the help that shall secure him comfort or partial independence."

The French soldiers blinded in battle have found teachers who have offered themselves in war service and been willing to teach the fingers of these men to see a way to new trades and professions. Blind weavers, stenographers, potters have found a chance to work at these new trades.

If we are to be ready for these men, so ready that they do not have to suffer needless periods of disheartenment while we fumble over plans, we must begin at once to systematize our institutions and enlist our teachers for this service. We must find willing and patient volunteers who will begin to study at once how to meet the needs of these men, and we must find money to command the best institutional care that the nation has developed. Those who choose this service should communicate with the department of civilian relief, or the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

"Suppose," that is sometimes what I want to say to women, though I know that it is a cruel demand upon the imagination—"suppose it should turn out to be your William, today so strong and with so fine a career in engineering before him, whose sacrifice should come in the way of eyes that shall never see again. Would you hesitate then to give your money willingly that the best in the world should help to somehow make it up to him? Would you hesitate then to spend six months studying now how best to aid him then? Well, war means this. Every woman must say to every other, 'Thy son shall be my son, thy son's sorrow shall be mine.'"

This is the problem we must meet. The money should come quickly. And over the country everywhere women should study the peace time institutions for succoring the blinded and crippled.

Learn Some French Today

FIRST LESSON

PREPARED BY MME. ARCHINARD

What is the name of that city?
Quel est le nom de cette ville?
Kel ay luh nôm duh set veel?

Where is the station, if you please?
Où est la gare, s'il vous plait?
Oo ay la gahr, sil voo play?

At what time does the train leave?
A quelle heure part le train?
A kay-luhr par luh tran?

At what time will we arrive?
A quelle heure arriverons nous?
A kay-luhr areevrohn? noo?

In these lessons the English sentence appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second and the pronunciation in the third line. In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U denote the long sound, as in "hate" and "dûce;" curved lines over the letters denote the short sound, as in "hat" and "bûte;" two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat like the German "ue," which Americans may approach by pronouncing long U and long E at the same time. Cut out these lessons and paste them in your note book.

Here Are the Independence Days of America's Allies

JUNE 15 GREAT BRITAIN

Great Britain's famous "unwritten law" is founded actually on a highly respected document, the Magna Charta. It is the Declaration of Independence for the British.

Oppressions of a tyrannical ruler, King John of England, causing an uprising of the English barons who drew up this charter and forced the king to sign it at Runnymede, on June 15, 1215.

Although the charter was designed to protect the rights of barons and feudal proprietors, and did nothing to help the common people, it was the basis for legislation and court decisions in later years that have made England democratic.

JULY 14 FRANCE

Ten days from today, France will celebrate her Independence day. On July 14, 1789, the people of Paris burned the Bastille, where political prisoners were confined and the visible sign of generations of tyranny. The same day, next year, King Louis XVI signed the first draft of the first constitution for France.

Although the French were to be ruled twice again by kings and emperors, their third republic finally has succeeded. It has existed since 1871 and its constitution is the development of the one signed on July 14, 1790.

MARCH 16 RUSSIA

Russia, hereafter, will celebrate March 16 as her July 4.

On the day, this year, the provisional government of Russia issued its famous appeal to the people, which is actually that country's declaration of independence. The next day Czar Nicholas was forced to abdicate.

Independence day to the Russians will mean not only their own freedom from the bonds of autocracy, but the freedom of the thousands of political exiles in Siberia and the democratization of the whole empire. Ex-czar Nicholas may be put on trial for misgovernment.

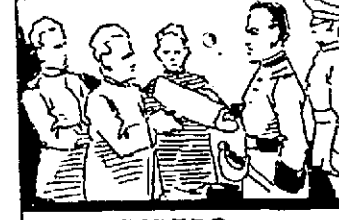

OCTOBER 4 BELGIUM

Although Belgium did not gain complete independence from Holland until 1830, the Belgians issued a declaration of independence as early as 1830.

October 4 is the date which corresponds to our July 4.

This was during the revolt against the Dutch. Belgian independence and neutrality was recognized by the powerful countries of Europe, but Holland refused to give up that country. Settlement finally was made in 1839, when Belgium was recognized as a "neutral" country to be protected by the powers.

JULY 8 SERBIA

The first step toward Serbian independence was taken July 8, 1808, when peace was declared between Turkey and Serbia, after a revolution led by Kara George. The people gained partial autonomy under Turkish rule then, but it was the greatest step forward the Serbians had made.

The Serbians gradually won complete independence from Turkey and then were able to force their rulers to grant constitutional government. King Alexander, on May 21, 1894, granted the people the constitution which is still, almost in its entirety, the foundation for the laws of Serbia.

JULY 2 ITALY

Out of the many dates remembered by Italians for granting of popular constitutions by the rulers of the states making up United Italy, July 2, looms up as the greatest.

On that day, in 1871, Rome the papal seat, became capital of Italy. Until then there were Italians who still suffered the burden of absolutism, although the people of Sardinia and Piedmont lived under almost as liberal rule as today. July 2, when all people throughout the Italy of today came under the same liberal rule, therefore, is Italy's great day of independence.

OCT. 5 PORTUGAL

Oct. 5 is Portugal's independence day.

Portugal had just writhed out of the extravagant and tyrannical rule of King Carlos, when he was assassinated in 1908. Dom. J. P. C. Franco, premier under King Carlos, had been practically dictator of the country. Revolution was brewing when Carlos' second son, Manuel, ascended the throne.

Under Manuel II, conditions did not improve, so, on Oct. 5, 1910, he was deposed and a republic proclaimed under the provisional presidency of Theophilo Braga. Manuel fled to England.

GREAT TREAT IS IN STORE

M. M. Witherspoon, of Chicago, Explains the Various Entertainments.

At a special meeting of the University Club held Tuesday evening for the purpose of laying before the club the plans for and the program of the Chautauqua, President E. G. Hoffman, brought to acclimax the pent up enthusiasm over the project when he said: "This Chautauqua will do more for Ft. Wayne than any other community affair since the Pageant. It is a real community builder. Our weather reports show a clear week for July 17 to 24. We are back of this project but let's get back to it big. Let's make this 'week of Community Sunshine.' The crowd of 135 members present responded almost to a man 'You bet.' Men from the different professions and lines of activities spoke of the benefits which would come to the city from this big tent full of educational entertainment. Paul Guild, of the City and Suburban Realty Co., said 'This is going to be a big thing. I can easily see how this will stimulate civic enterprise. I know how it is going to put added pep into the real estate enterprise of Ft. Wayne.' One of the downtown merchant said that he was going to request his employees to hear 'Gedling Gun Fogelman.' 'If this man can sell more locomotives than any other salesman on the Baldwin Locomotive Co. force, he can tell my men how to sell more goods,' he said. A member of the club who employs a large number of men in his factory said 'I am going to tell my directors to buy 100 tickets for our employees. I want them to hear McGuff on the high cost of living and government conservation of food and Fogelman on 'How to Do Better Work With The Same Energy.' This was the feeling of 'Back It Strong' enthusiasm when Mr. Hoffman introduced M. M. Witherspoon, of Chicago, who told the club the details of the program.

Explains Program. Mr. Witherspoon said 'The chautauqua was a summer vacation for $2.50.' That the chautauqua offered to the citizens of Ft. Wayne 20 of the best numbers obtainable in the land at the nominal cost of 12 1/2 cents a number, or $2.50 for the entire week. These tickets are interchangeable in families so that the wife can go in the afternoon and the husband at night. Children's tickets are sold for $1.25. These will admit children from the ages of six to 14.

But the chautauqua allows the University club only a limited amount of tickets at this price of $2.50. After that number is sold the price automatically raises to $3.

Reason for It. The only reason that the citizens of Fort Wayne are able to get this high class entertainment at such a very low cost is due to the fact that they are on a circuit with 120 of the largest towns in the south and middle west. These towns are the very best in fifteen states where this circuit tours. Then also it is expected to sell so many of these tickets that the crowd will help to make the proposition pay.

The program which comes to Fort Wayne, Mr. Witherspoon says, has been seen already in some thirty of the largest southern cities, and has more than made good. The Mikado light opera alone was worth the price of the entire week's performance.

This is the same company which supported DeWolf Hopper in his New York production. This number would cost you $2 a seat at your local theaters. Played in a tent to 4,000 people it costs 12 1/2 cents.

Program Pleases Knoxville. The Knoxville Sentinel, one of the south's leading newspapers, said: "The Redpath put on a splendid program in Knoxville. They have procured the best talent in the United States. We are glad to know the chautauqua will be a permanent affair here." The Louisville Courier-Journal adds: "It was a success in every way. Creators is without a doubt the greatest band leader in America. The Indian Princess, Watchman and Marie Mayer, the Mary Magdalene of the passion play, are two of the most unique numbers ever seen in Louisville."

"This is the same program that Chicago is putting on this year in three different tents, each holding 4,000 people."

Mr. Witherspoon says Reid Miller is considered the best tenor singer in America. With him is Frederick Wheeler, who has sung quite a few records for the Victor people. Also Miss Van Der Veer and Myrtle Thornburg. Dr. Martin D. Hardin, who appears on the first night of the program, is considered the leading clergyman of the Presbyterian church. He has been all over the war territory and knows the war situation thoroughly. His lecture on "America and the World of Tomorrow" is not only interesting but very instructive.

The speaker concluded by saying: "This is a patriotic year. The chautauqua and this year is a temple of patriotism and is the place where the minds of America can be mobilized. It is the place where the whole community can meet and listen to the greatest minds of America on live, vital issues. No one in Fort Wayne can afford to miss this unusual week of attractions which will be held at the circus grounds in the big Redpath chautauqua tent."

Mr. Witherspoon was kept on his feet answering questions of importance for forty minutes.

Harry Muller Named Director. At the conclusion of Mr. Witherspoon's address, President Hoffman said: "We have guaranteed one thousand seat ticket sale, but these are all bargained for already. We have got to make this thing not only a success but a big success. I have appointed Attorney Harry Muller, director of the chautauqua and he has at last assented to do it. Mr. Muller will have entire charge of the arrangement."

Mr. Muller said: "This chautauqua is a big community welfare project. Because of that and for the further reason that you men are so enthusiastically strong in your support, I am glad to take charge of this. I see no reason why there will be less than 4,000 people out for each evening performance. I know we will have to turn crowds away for the Jeanette Rankin and Creators numbers." "This morning Mr. Muller announced that he had arranged with Wolf & Desmarier for all ticket sales booth in their store which booth would be ready for business Saturday morning. Tickets can also be had at the University club house, 327 West Berry street. Mr. Muller also expects to have ten community centers where tickets can be had.

Committees Announced. Mr. Muller announced the following committees who will co-operate with him. The chairman of these different committees will constitute the general committee of which he is the chairman.

Shop committee "A. A. A. Serva, chairman; S. E. Beckert and S. Bond, Publicity; Paul Guild, chairman. Club member boosters, Dr. Wilbur E. Neuen-schwander, chairman; Frank Hogan, Ralph Sunier, E. L. Newell, F. A. Buelow and W. McLure. Special boosters, J. J. Ritter, chairman. Labor organizations, R. Earl Peters, chairman. Others will be appointed later.

William Green, aged 82 years, for thirty-five years a resident of Fort Wayne, died at Avilla Wednesday morning. Mr. Green was the father of Dallas F. Green, who was formerly a jeweler in this city. The deceased had been in failing health for some time, but had been bedfast for only a few weeks.

While a resident of Fort Wayne, Mr. Green had the agency for the New Home sewing machine. Dallas Green, a son of the deceased, is now engaged in business at Newark, N. J., and has been informed of the death of his father. A daughter, who resides in New Jersey, also survives. The deceased was well known in this city.

LOST FORD RETARDS CROSS COUNTRY TOUR

Los Angeles Farmer on Way to New York for Purpose of Return Journey.

Andrew Purslow, a farmer from near Los Angeles, Cal., told police another Ford story Tuesday afternoon.

Purslow stopped in Fort Wayne when en route from Los Angeles to New York city. He parked the silver, which he is driving over the Lincoln highway from coast to coast, on a downtown street. He had a few drinks. When he issued from the saloon he could not find his automobile. He hunted in vain along Fort Wayne streets for two hours. Finally he appealed to police. He was seized upon a charge of intoxication.

The traveler, who carries a roll of greenbacks as large as an extra roadster tire, put up $25 bond later Tuesday evening. He appeared in court Wednesday morning. He was told that police had placed his auto in a garage.

"Why are you going to New York?" inquired Judge Kerr.

"Just so I can make the trip back home," Purslow replied. He explained that he had a drink or two on Tuesday because he was nervous from the strain of driving his automobile over the Indiana hills between Fort Wayne and Chicago. He was released.

"Be careful when you get to New York. Somebody will get your roll unless you are wide awake," the judge told Purslow.

Single Mayor's Cheese. Harry Henderson, 40, had not met his old friend, Mayor Meyers, of Columbia City, for a long time until Tuesday. Meyers gave Henderson 50 cents. The pair enjoyed a social chat in a downtown saloon. Henderson told Judge Kerr Wednesday morning. Henderson seldom refuses a drink, he admitted. He managed in some fashion to get home, corner of Madison and Lafayette streets.

Mayor Meyers reported to Detective Sergeant Peter Junk some time later that somebody had stolen three pounds of cheese from him. The cheese was valued at $1.80. A saloonkeeper told the detective that Henderson had entered his place with a cheesy looking package in his pocket.

Henderson was sleeping when Detective Sergeant Junk visited his home. The cheese was on the table. Henderson did not remember taking the cheese or carrying it about. He was fined $10 and sentenced to thirty days in jail by Judge Kerr.

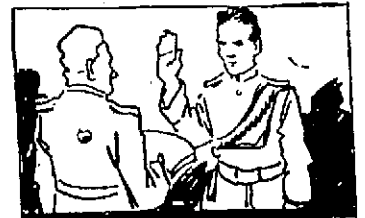

Did Not Get Watch. Carl Haines stoutly maintained that some other member of the signal corps must have taken the watch which is missed by a comrade. The youth admits stealing a suitcase but all questioning fails to reveal the location of the valuable timepiece. Haines was placed on a thirty day parole in the care of a minister by Judge Kerr.

Followed to Fire. August Gordes followed the fire apparatus out Crescent avenue, Tuesday afternoon. He traveled at a high rate of speed, declared Detective Sergeant "Water" Daniel, who saw Gordes and ordered him arrested. Gordes pleaded guilty to a speeding charge. He was fined $25 and costs.

Other Police Court Cases. Cases of public intoxication were Frank White, fined $5; Harry Bassett, held under bond for trial on July 9. William Burton, colored, and Wash Shirley were released.

DR. PORTER APPOINTED ON BOARD OF APPEALS

Governor Goodrich and Jesse Eschbach, state conscription officers, have appointed Dr. Miles F. Porter, sr., on the board of appeals for the conscription draft. Dr. Porter is in the second district of the state and will act during the drafting of the conscripted men. The second district includes Steuben, Lagrange, Elkhart, Kosciusko, Noble, DeKalb, Allen, Whitley, Wabash, Huntington, Wells, Adams, Jay, Blackford, Grant, Madison, Delaware, Randolph, Wayne, Rush, Fayette, Union and Franklin counties.

DECEMBER 19 MONTENEGRO

Montenegro's day of independence is December 19.

The people of this small ally had felt free since their country's liberation from Serbian rule in 1389. But kings continued to rule them as autocratically as elsewhere in Europe.

It was not until December 19, 1905, that popular discontent grew to such degrees that Prince Nicholas was forced to proclaim the abolition of the autocratic system. He summoned a popular national assembly and issued a liberal constitution to which he took oath and which still is the country's basic law.

WELL KNOWN FARMER STRICKEN SUDDENLY

William Bender, 75, Dies at Home in Cedar Creek Township.

William Bender, 75 years old, well known farmer residing in the northwest part of Cedar Creek township, died suddenly Wednesday morning. Although he had been in ill health for about a year, he had not consulted a physician during that time and was able to be up and around practically every day. He had no sooner arose Wednesday morning when he toppled over unconscious and died soon after members of his family reached him.

Coroner J. E. McArdle was called and pronounced death due to organic heart trouble. He leaves a large family.

WILL SPEND FOURTH IN POLICE STATION

Will Feasel, of Cedar Creek Township, Tries to Drive Car While Drunk.

Will Feasel will spend the Fourth of July in the police station. He is awaiting trial on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Feasel was trying to do a Charlie Chaplin stunt with his car on East Pontiac street, and was spied by Detective Peter Junk. He was cutting all kinds of capers on the street, and when the detective approached him he noticed that it was not a moving picture stunt but that the zig-zag driving was due to Feasel being under the influence of liquor. He was taken to the station. Feasel says he lives in Cedar Creek township. His trial is scheduled for Thursday morning.

PRESIDENT TAKES REST.

Washington, July 4.—President Wilson, taking advantage of the day to get a needed rest, this morning boarded the naval yacht Mayflower for a trip down the Potomac river, possibly as far as Chesapeake bay. He was accompanied by members of his family. Arrangements were made to keep the president in touch with developments of the day by wireless.

TAKEN TO LUTHERAN.

Mrs. A. Henderson, aged 78 years, who has been a patient at the Hope hospital for the past nineteen years, was taken to the Lutheran hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. King to Be Hostess. The woman's foreign society of the Wayne street N. E. church will meet with Mrs. King, 628 West Jefferson street, on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Snyder and Miss Millie Rogers.

TIN CAN TROUBLES BROUGHT UP AGAIN

Head of Health Board Wants Action on Mosquito Incubators.

There is no rest for the tin can question. Eventually it is expected that the cast-off fruit bearers will be created up by the city and shipped to Chicago for sale. Dr. H. O. Bruggeman, head of the health board, has appeared before city officials and inquired, "Why not now?"

Dr. Bruggeman points out that these first torrid days are best adapted to propagation of mosquitoes, flies and other insects. He states that the discarded tin cans are the favorite incubator for every form of germ life. Tin cans, in which water is allowed to accumulate, are responsible for 78 per cent of the noisy and hungry mosquito plagues in Fort Wayne, the health board head believes.

City officials have been asked by Dr. Bruggeman to start the process of baling tin cans at once. Even if the cans are not sent away at this time it will be a benefit to the city to have the cast-off containers pressed and banded now, the doctor says.

"Citizens can batter up their cans themselves," Bruggeman tells. "Let the officials order the consumers of canned goods to use a hammer in reducing their cans. A part of the men about the city already follow the process. It is a great health boon. It wrecks the incubators of mosquitoes and flies. Later the cans could be collected and shipped away."

TO TALK ABOUT NEW LAMPS.

Frank Dix Will Accept Invitation to Address Association.

Frank Dix, of the city lighting department, is considered by such electrical experts as Charles Steinmetz as an authority on nitrogen lamps, which are displacing the carbon street lamps in up to date cities. Dix is requested, in a letter from the program committee of the International Association of Municipal Electrical Engineers, which includes in its membership the best known electricians of the United States, to address that body on the subject of "The Nitrogen Lamp, Its Past and Future."

Dix expects to accept the invitation. He will begin soon the preparation of his address, which will be delivered before the body of scientific men at Niagara Falls on September 11. Dix has been on the program of the annual association meeting for the past three years.

Fort Wayne also takes pride in the fact that Robert Gaskill, in charge of the city fire alarm system, is president of the international organization of electricians. He is also expected to talk before the association meeting in September.

Many at Concert. A crowd of 1,500 attended the municipal band concert at Welser park Tuesday evening, despite the chilly weather conditions. The next park concert will be given on Friday evening in Lawton park. The Elks' band will furnish the music.

Nobody Home. Offices of the city hall were desolate on Independence day. Board of works members followed their usual practice of allowing all city clerks a vacation over the Fourth. The only activity, outside of the regular police work, was the session of the city court during the morning hours.

Birth Record. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Helmy, West DeWald street—a girl. To Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Albert Johnson, 713 Taylor street—a girl. To Mr. and Mrs. George Krauskopf, Adams township—a girl.

NAVY WITH REPUBLICANS.

Shanghai, July 4.—It is generally believed here that the navy will support the republicans, while the local military and civil authorities are also proclaiming the republic and opposing the monarchy, but this may be for the purpose of preserving the peace in Shanghai. It is believed the restoration plans are deeply laid and that the military governors are really supporting the restoration.

MRS. SOPHIA HANNA CALLED BY DEATH

Wife of Attorney Harry Hanna Dies at the St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Sophia Hanna, wife of Harry C. Hanna, of 429 East Berry street, died at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning at the St. Joseph's hospital at the age of 44 years. Death followed a prolonged illness due to complication of diseases. She had been a patient at the hospital only a few days.

The deceased was the wife of Harry C. Hanna, well known attorney and widely known throughout the city. She was born in Ossun, but had spent practically her entire life in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Hanna was the daughter of Dr. John Seaton, who was for many years a prominent physician. Her husband survives.

NEGROES MURDER AGED SALOONIST IN CHICAGO SINK

Chicago, July 4.—The killing of Charles A. Maronde, an aged saloonkeeper by negroes in the "Black belt," on the south side early today brought on police reserves who took eight negro suspects into custody. Later the police fired at a crowd of negroes in an attempt to stop a fight. One negro was wounded.

Chief of Police Schuetzler has ordered a force of reserves held at the Fifteenth street station, in the colored section, to prevent any disorder today.

GERMANS SEIZE NOTED BELGIANS FOR PUNISHMENT

London, July 4.—A dispatch to the Times from The Hague says that as a reprisal for the alleged ill-treatment of Germans by Belgians in German East Africa, Germans have seized twenty-three distinguished Belgians and removed them without warning of their notorious punishment camp in Germany. They all had directorial or other connections in the Congo, among them being the seventy year old Count Jean D'Oultremont, the late King Leopold's lord chamberlain; also M. D'Urse, who is aged sixty-seven.

INDIANA MAN NO SUCCEED PROF. M. A. BRANNAN WEST

Moscow, Idaho, July 4.—Dr. Ernest Hiram Lindley, of Indiana university, has been elected by the state board of education as president of the university of Idaho, to succeed Dr. M. A. Brannan, resigned. Dr. Lindley, who is a graduate of Indiana, has been professor of philosophy at his alma mater since 1902.

DOCK STRIKE IN AMSTERDAM.

Amsterdam, July 4.—All Amsterdam dock workers struck yesterday. Builders workmen and shipyard laborers struck in sympathy. A big protest meeting of strikers was fixed for the afternoon. The burgomaster has forbidden street demonstrations and open air meetings.

Pedro Party at St. Andrew's.

The married ladies of St. Andrew's parish are to have a Pedro party in their school hall, corner of Lombard and New Haven avenues, on Thursday afternoon.

EXPECT CALL IN FEW DAYS

Adjutant General Orders Federal Inspection of Signal Corps.

STRICT DISCIPLINE IS TO BE ENFORCED

No One Will be Excused From Any Activities of the Company.

A call for Company B, signal corps of this city, is confidently expected by officers within the next few days.

First Lieutenant Kubus and Second Lieutenant Hawkins have just returned from Indianapolis, and have orders from Adjutant General Harry B. Smith for a federal inspection of the local company to be held in the near future. Lieutenant Colonel Wildman, chief signal officer from the central department, will probably be the inspecting officer. However, no definite decision has been made.

Orders have been received that no one will be excused from drill or any of the activities of the company. Anyone not reporting will be brought to the drill or meeting as the case may be. The company has progressed rapidly since its formation here a few weeks ago.

FOOD RELIEF MEN WORKED ON FOURTH

Fourth of July was only another work day for F. W. Gray, superintendent of city food relief work, and Mike Costello, who has given his efforts to the campaign since early spring. The two men spent the day in inspecting back yards and garden over the city. The crops are coming in excellent form, both men say, but many gardens are needing cultivation in the form of hoeing.

PARISIANS WILL SALUTE TROOPS WITH MUCH JOY

Paris, July 4.—"The population of Paris in saluting the American troops July 4," says Le Temps, "will express the joyous confidence that military cooperation of the United States of America inspires in us. Every one will feel instinctively that victory is ours on seeing march by these soldiers who have come so quickly from the country that sees everything on a large scale."

"Germany, which has just witnessed the reawakening of the Russian army, will count with anxiety the regiment massed on the other side of the Atlantic. Events in Galicia rob her of all immediate hope, while American preparations make vain all aspirations of the distant future."

COCCHI EXCULPATES POLICE.

Bologna, July 4.—Alfred Cocchi, confessed slayer of Ruth Cruger, the New York girl, said he had no secret connection with the New York police in the crime. Cocchi's statement came after a new inquiry by the royal prosecutor.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. The condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 15c.

HON. ALVAN J. RUCKER SAYS COURTS ARE FOOTBALL OF POLITICS IN ADDRESS AT SWINNEY PARK

Hon. Alvan J. Rucker, prosecuting attorney of Marion county, was the principal speaker Wednesday afternoon at the Fourth of July celebration at Swinney park. He spoke in part as follows:

HON. ALVAN J. RUCKER.

noon at the Fourth of July celebration at Swinney park. He spoke in part as follows:

We are now engaged in a great progressive movement to make our fundamental law ring clear to present day enlightenment. We are about to make a new state constitution.

I am interested in the placing of great and needed reforms in that law to the end that our state courts be made respectable; that our cities be given "home rule;" that taxation be made just; that we have the short ballot; that the voice of women be heard for our mutual welfare; and that the unholy traffic in intoxicating liquor be forever banished from Indiana.

Our courts today are not respectable; they are the football of politics and of every malign influence in our midst. Whether or not a citizen ever enters the courts, they guard or should guard his life and property by day and by night; they are the final and perhaps the most important of our three great departments of government. But what do we see? Our state courts today are powerless to try rich and powerful offenders; it is almost impossible for it to convict a real prime mover in crime. We look with great admiration upon our federal courts and do well to praise them, but the weakness of our own courts are lamentably a by-word. Our state judges and our lawyers are learned in the law; they have the same ability and character as a rule as federal judges, but their courts are shamefully weak in comparison. I need not cite the way the state courts handled the California dynamite conspiracy nor the Dunn Roberts election conspiracy. We know what the federal court did. Just last week the federal court convicted men guilty of election outrages in Indianapolis, but who were so high up the ladder that the state courts were powerless to punish. Our trouble is that the key-stone as well as every other supporting stone in our judicial system, is infirm. The judge is the key-stone, but we hamper him in every election into the maelstrom of politics; we make him a politician; we make him timid and fearful of re-election; we deprive him of his livelihood in the practice and having kept him long enough to lose his clients, we banish him from the bench on the ground that Bryan or Taft would or would not make good presidents of the United States.

Not a Political Office.
We have forgotten that the judicial office is not a political one. Our present constitution compels our judges to stand for a short term and to appear on a party ticket. He is human like the rest of us; he fears the four year "recall;" he seeks to avoid defeat and he does as a rule what a federal judge in his place would do, he renders political decisions; he does anything to make himself popular with his party. With all these handicaps, it is wonderful that we possess even as good a judiciary as we have.

If we admire the federal courts so much, why shouldn't we pattern our courts after them? They are powerful because their judges serve on good behavior and are not subservient to politics nor the four year recall. But some lawyers say it would give us a tyrant. Better a tyrant at any time than a weakling. However, there is no general charge of tyranny directed toward federal judges except by those justly punished for their crimes. At least if we are so timorous we should appoint our judges for from ten to fifteen years to give them at least some respite from political inundations; we could also make impeachment easier to rid ourselves of a tyrant.

Judges Are Only Umpires.

By our constitution and laws we so hobble our courts that our judges sit only as umpires or chairmen; he is powerless to prevent the selection of a dishonest jury; he stands in constant fear of the infamous change of venue laws and "felon's relief bills" passed by every legislature which any lawyer can invoke to make him stand along the side lines in his own court; he dare not even bind the jury as to the law of the case, the law which he has spent his life to know and understand.

Our constitution limits the prosecuting attorney to a two year term. He therefore wishing a second term is always running for office; the result being that the high position of the state's attorney is generally governed by public service corporations, the breweries, gamblers and the underworld.

What we need in our courts is power; remove your judges and judicial officers from temptation; make them respectable and you will get respectable service.

Under our present constitution almost all the time of every legislative session is spent on local legislation for cities. It seems ridiculous to me that the citizens of Fort Wayne, for instance, should be compelled to ask men from Vermillion or Floyd county for permission to obtain their local needs. Cities and towns should be permitted to govern themselves on their purely local concerns.

Places Burden on Poor.

Under our present constitution our scheme of taxation places the burden on the poor; and our election ballots from presidential electors down to constable are so long that no voter can use his suffrage intelligently. If we had the short ballot with only a few names of men whom we can trust for the appointment of state geologist, clerk and constable, the public would breathe a great sigh of relief.

That the viewpoint of woman on great moral, economic and social questions is necessary to the full expression of the people's conscience, can no longer be gainsaid. Woman's suffrage should be firmly established not only for the sake of woman, but for the men and the needs of our growing sons and daughters.

No argument is needed in behalf of perpetual prohibition of intoxicating liquor. Its ravages, every family knows. From the graves of its millions of victims comes a voice to every voter in the land and we will in our new constitution abolish it forever as a temptation and a snare to ourselves and our future generations.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Now is the time to buy a bottle of this remedy so as to be prepared in case that any one of your family should have an attack of colic or diarrhoea during the summer months. It is worth a hundred times its cost when needed.—Advertisement.

DESIGNS MEMORIAL FOR RUTH CRUGER.

Onorio Ruotolo, an earnest Italian sculptor, has designed a memorial for Ruth Cruger. Deeply saddened by the fact that the murderer of the hapless girl was an Italian, he felt impelled to give expression to his sympathetic emotions. Mr. Ruotolo communicated the idea to the girl's father in a letter in which he expressed his sympathy for the bereaved family and begged them to accept the memorial.

BODY TO BE PLACED IN CEMETERY VAULTFuneral Services Over Re-
be Held Thursday.

The remains of the late Superintendent J. W. Hunter, of the northern division of the G. R. & I., will be temporarily consigned to a retaining vault in Oak Hill cemetery at Grand Rapids. The funeral services will be held from the family residence, 430 Morris avenue S. E., and will be largely attended by friends of the deceased from railway, business and other circles, a number going from this city for that purpose. The pallbearers will be men who were associated with Mr. Hunter in railway work. The active bearers will be W. B. Wood, B. H. Hudson, John M. Meheany, C. L. Barnaby, V. H. Eddy and F. D. Newman, all actively connected with the G. R. & I. The honorary pallbearers will be J. H. P. Hugbart, C. L. Lockwood, H. R. Griswold, Henry Sullivan, C. V. Ganson, James H. Campbell, Charles P. Rathbun, Henry T. Stanton, David Wolf, Dr. Louis Barth, Dr. Emmett Welsh and Hugh E. Wilson. Fort Wayne people who will attend the funeral will be relatives of the deceased, some business men and associates in railway work of the deceased and the staff officers of Superintendent B. H. Hudson. Among the latter will be Division Engineer R. G. Jones, Trainmaster R. E. Casey, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lophshire and Division Operator J. F. Betts. Agent John E. Ross, of the Pennsylvania, will also attend the funeral. He became acquainted with Mr. Hunter forty years ago and the warm friendship then formed was maintained to the present. The date and place of final interment has not been announced.

FIREMEN ARE PATRIOTIC.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will continue to insure the lives of members without any change on account of the war, or the participation of members in war. Many Canadian members of the brotherhood have already gone to the front, and some have been killed. The policies on these lives have been paid in the usual order.

NETTLETON NEFF RESIGNS.

An unconfirmed rumor in railway circles in Fort Wayne is that Nettleton Neff has enrolled in the engineering corps of the United States army for service in France and has tendered his resignation to the Pennsylvania. He was superintendent of the C. A. & C. division of the system.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

J. Asies had a leg bruised and F. Summers sustained an injured hip when he fell from a ladder, Tuesday. Both are General Electric employees.

Frank Hebert, Karl Bahlinger and John Munrook, Pennsylvania machinists are at Hoffman lake, spending the Fourth fishing.

Cecil Vaughn, clerk for Master Carpenter D. C. Zook, of the Pennsylvania, is spending the Fourth with relatives at Atwood, Ind.

Passenger Conductor Nick Murphy, of the G. R. & I., has gone to Niagara Falls to spend a two weeks' vacation. His mother resides in that city.

Harry Fertig, G. R. & I. passenger brakeman, is now on the road to recovery from a surgical operation performed for relief from appendicitis.

Nick Merz, Pennsylvania machinist, is expecting to have a surgical operation performed at the Lutheran hospital next Monday. The malady is not of a serious character.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Niehter, Monday. This is the first in the family. Mr. Niehter is a Pennsylvania motive power inspector.

Loyal lodge, No. 85, Ladies' Auxiliary to the B. R. T., will have a pedro party in a Unity hall Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. All friends are invited.

Robert Neher, a stenographer who is awaiting a call to the colors, having enlisted recently, has taken temporary employment in the motive power office of the Pennsylvania.

G. B. Anderson, of the Nickel Plate, and his family went to Rome City this morning to remain the remainder of the week. They own a cottage at that resort.

Bullermaker H. W. G. Helne, of the Pennsylvania, is still suffering from the effects of a cold contracted while doing some work at Wanatah for the company. He has been unable to work since last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora S. Collins left last night on a tour of the eastern cities, which will cover a period of three weeks. Mr. Collins is a conductor on the G. R. & I. road and this trip is his annual vacation outing.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Guy are spending the Fourth with friends in Detroit. Mr. Guy, who is the Wabash division storekeeper, will return home Thursday, stopping off at Delray to look after some business connected with his office, but Mrs. Guy will spend the remainder of the week at Detroit.

The Hughes-Kennan company, of Muncie, Ind., is to move its factory to Bellevue and consolidate it with the Klein Iron Works, providing suitable location for factory can be obtained. The people of Bellevue agree to subscribe for $150,000 worth of stock of the new company and the latter agrees to employ over 100 laborers.

An electric sign, one hundred feet long and thirteen feet high, will soon adorn the roof of the carpenter shop building at the General Electric works. It will be particularly visible from the Wabash tracks and is designed to attract attention of passengers on that railway. It will bear the legend, "General Electric Co., Fort Wayne Works."

PERSHING, THE PADLOCK.

General Pershing and his American army will form the padlock that will close the steel chain around the Teutonic alliance and lock the Germans in for the final crushing blow. The entry of Pershing's army on the battlefield of Europe is conceded to be the locking of the great allied chain from which Germany can have no escape.

NAMES J. H. KOEHLER
AS CO-RESPONDENT

Chester W. Shannon Charges
His Wife Ollie With Adultery in Suit.

Trouble comes not single handed. John H. (Sammy) Koehler has been named correspondent in a divorce suit filed in superior court. Chester W. Shannon has sued his wife, Ollie Shannon for divorce, charging adultery. He states that they were married in May, 1913, and lived together until May 1, of this year when he alleges the defendant committed adultery with one John H. Koehler.

In his complaint the plaintiff further recites that the defendant has been cruel and inhuman to him in that she associated with lewd men, visited rooms and drank intoxicating liquors. He says that when he discovered this he left her.

The plaintiff asks for the decree and asks that she be restrained by order of court from contracting debts in his name.

Transient Merchants Pay.
County Assessor William Eggeman has been busy the past few days assessing taxes on transient merchants. W. C. Woods, of Toledo, who has opened a shoe store in this city was assessed $76 taxes on $2,500 worth of goods. C. C. Winkler, of Indianapolis, who has been shipping car loads of watermelons into Ft. Wayne and dispensing of them with the commission houses was asked to pay $6.50 on a car now standing on the Nickel Plate tracks.

Damages for Auto Crash.
Fred F. Reinking, a milkman, has sued H. G. Dygert et al., for damages to the amount of $50.64. The plaintiff states that the defendant operating a big truck on Harrison street on May 8, 1917, carelessly bumped into the plaintiff's car at Killea avenue and damaged it to the extent of $45.64. He was forced to rent another auto to deliver milk which he says cost him $5.

Lawyers Sue for Fees.
Enrick & Enrick, partners in the law business, have begun suit against Peter P. and Josie Pierce for $200 alleged to be due on an account. The plaintiffs state that they performed legal services for which they were never paid.

Will Open Bids.
Trustee Allen Hamilton will open bids for schools number 6, 7 and 8 in his office Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. If the bids are within the limit work will be begun at once.

Will Be Fined.
The last will and testament of Oscar L. Perry has been filed. He bequeaths his entire estate to his sister-in-law, Hattie Perry.

Session Ends.
The annual session of the Allen county board of review came to a close Tuesday. Thirty strenuous days were spent in equalizing assessments.

Marriage Licenses.
Albert O. Schneck, billing clerk, to Lillian Gaskill.

Willard Mifflin Thomas, assistant secretary, to Bernadette Marie Dittoe.

Norman J. Shondell, city employee, to Odella M. Harris.

Paul A. Hunt, cook, to Anna Chapman.

PIONEER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Henrietta Kolthoff Had Lived in City for 53
Years.

Henrietta Kolthoff, widow of Frederick Kolthoff, died at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night at her home, 810 Huestis avenue. Mrs. Kolthoff was 75 years old and death resulted from the infirmities of old age. She had suffered a fall three months ago, in which she sustained a broken hip, and this hastened her death.

Mrs. Kolthoff was an old resident of Fort Wayne. She was born in Dielen, Westphalia, Germany, and had lived in the city for the past fifty-three years. She was a member of the Emmaus Lutheran church and of the Emmaus Sewing society. Surviving relatives are three children, William Kolthoff, Mrs. Ferdinand Paul and Miss Louise Kolthoff; one brother, Henry Winkelmeyer; one sister, Mrs. Charles Solomon, of Washington township, and three grandchildren.

CONNER.

Charles Conner, aged 35 years, died at the Lutheran hospital Tuesday night at 11:45 o'clock. His home was on New Haven avenue, rural route 13, and he had been confined in the hospital since June 28. He was a laborer employed in the concrete gang working on the Lincoln highway. He was born in Champagne county, Ohio, and had lived in Fort Wayne for five years. He was a member of the United Brethren church. Surviving relatives are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Conner; the wife, Daisy Conner; five children, Charles, Carl, Irwin, Hazel and Harry, all living at home; five brothers, David, William, Aoy and Clarence, all of this city, and Albert, of Montpelier; four sisters, Mrs. Stella Smith and Mrs. Clara Harper, of this city; Mrs. Florence Atkinson, of Baldwin, Ohio, and Miss Susie Conner, of Indianapolis. Funeral announcements later.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Foster—Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Foster will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Klehn & Melchling chapel. Interment in Lindenwood.

Gorman—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Gorman will be held Thursday morning at 8:30 at the residence, 513 Masterson avenue, and at 9 o'clock at the St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment in Catholic cemetery.

O'Melia—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna O'Melia will be held Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home, 1402 West Main street, and at 9 o'clock at the St. Paul's Catholic church. Interment in Catholic cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire in this manner to thank our many friends for the assistance, kindness and beautiful floral offerings during the sickness and death of our beloved mother. We especially thank the Rt. Rev. Munzer, J. H. Ochtersing for the kind tribute and consoling words.

Anna E. Bothner.
John G. Bothner.

TOO MUCH FOR THE KAISER

NAME OFFICERS FOR COMMERCIAL CLUB

H. B. Clugston is Chosen
Head of Organization at Columbia City.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Columbia City, Ind., July 4.—H. B. Clugston was chosen president, A. S. Novels was re-elected vice president and Charles J. Eyanson was made secretary, with W. H. Carter succeeding himself as treasurer of the Columbia City Commercial club at the regular meeting held Monday evening in the club rooms. The directors were re-elected as follows: C. J. Eyanson, A. S. Novels, W. F. Rossman, H. B. Clugston and D. V. Whitecather. The club's receipts for the year were $1,500, and the balance on hand is $328. The retiring officers of the club, former President W. W. Williamson and Secretary Walter T. Blinder, had served two years very efficiently, and Monday evening expressed their gratitude to the other club officers and to the membership of the club for the loyal support given them during their incumbency.

Viewers Named.

The county commissioners Tuesday appointed viewers for the new proposed gravel road improvements in Columbia township, extending along the main traveled roads into Columbia City, after having over-ruled the remonstrance filed against the improvements by Attorney Joseph R. Harrison, whose contention was that by the time illegal names had been withdrawn from the petition there would be less than the number of remonstrants. The commissioners decided to call an election, to be set later, for all the roads, including those that could be passed under the three-mile law, and the viewers appointed to act and report at the next term are Levi Kaiser, Edward Scott and Engineer David A. Walter.

Columbia City Short Items.
Herschel Gray, son of Mrs. Mary

Gray, of Richland township, and Miss Lola, daughter of Jacob Heeter, of Noble county, who has been residing in South Whitley, were wedded Tuesday afternoon at the home of Rev. D. B. Kessinger in this city, and will reside on the groom's farm in Richland township.

Opal Dillie, alias Jack Morley, who is accused by his friend, Otis E. Snyder, of having forged $400 worth of checks against the latter's account, remained in the county jail over the Fourth, none of his relatives or friends having volunteered to furnish him $1,000 bond.

John Emrick is having a cottage erected on the north shore of Tri-Lake. L. Didier, employe in the Electric works at Fort Wayne, who is now on a vacation at the Tri-Lake resort, is suffering with a severe case of blood poisoning in the right hand, which was injured several days ago while he was engaged in his work.

TO MOBILIZE BEFORE AUGUST 5 IS BELIEF

Major B. E. Wimer Inspects
Company E.

Company E, Fort Wayne's unit of Infantry in the First Indiana regiment, will mobilize before August 5, is the belief, according to Major Ben E. Wimer, who was in the city Tuesday night and conducted an inspection of the records and books of the infantry company. A few weeks may find them under orders as the major gave final instructions for mobilization.

The major found the records of Captain Ray McAdams in excellent condition. Everything else was found in tip-top shape.

Three members of Battery D, who were unable to get to Fort Wayne, Monday, when their organization was trained for Fort Harrison have reported to the officers of Battery E and will be given transportation to the fort Thursday morning. Several more are expected.

All efforts will be directed Wednesday afternoon towards securing more recruits for both the battery and the infantry.

Convention of High School Girls at Clear Lake Was Great Success.

Fort Wayne high school girls who attended the conference at Hazenhurst hotel at Clear Lake, held under the auspices of the High School Friendship club of the Y. W. C. A., carried off honors in the athletic contests.

Miss Flora Gerberding was winner in the singles in tennis and received a large "Y" at the banquet. Small "Ys" were awarded to the following Fort Wayne girls: Victoria Gross, Flora Gerberding, Gertrude Schween and Elizabeth Rogier.

Nearly thirty Fort Wayne girls attended this convention, at which representatives from Muncie, South Bend and Indianapolis were also present. The advisors and chaperones were Misses Moore, Cline and Mershon, of Indianapolis; Miss Marsh, of South Bend; Miss Isceman, of Muncie, and Misses Cole, Gwinn, Harrah and Wingert, of Fort Wayne.

A Bible class was conducted each day by Miss Isceman. The council hour in which club work was discussed, was led by Miss Harrah. Recreation period was in charge of Miss Mershon. E. W. Pierce, general secretary of the Fort Wayne Y. W. C. A., talked to the girls on Sunday evening. The conference began June 25 and ended Monday evening, July 2.

A "kodik party" will be held Friday night at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock. High school girls interested in the conference pictures are invited. A banquet will be held Saturday night.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS BIG PATRIOTIC PARADE

Special Exercises Are Held in Spencerville M. E. Church.

Special to The Sentinel).

Spencerville, Ind., July 4.—Patriotic day was observed at the M. E. Sunday School on Sunday by special bible readings and songs and special collection, which amounted to $9.57. In the evening Children's Day services were held. The house was filled to overflowing, even standing room being taken up and many on the outside. Many fine readings and songs were enjoyed, but the top notch was reached when the "True Blue" class gave a Red Cross drill. They were assisted by two soldiers boys, Standly Shurt and Ray Zimmerman. Mrs. John Denninghoff, had charge of the drill.

Spencerville Short Items.
Riscoe Walter and wife, of Auburn, spent Sunday with their respective parents, Henry Walter and wife, and Cora Steward and family.

G. W. Rectenwal and wife accompanied by Charles Chapman, wife and son, Richard, motored to Robinson park, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Webb spent Sunday at Auburn, the guests of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Kees, of Ft. Wayne, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Betz, of this place, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Betz and son Forrest, of Woodburn; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Billman and Glenn Stewart, of Wines Corners; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jerner and family, of Harlan were entertained on Sunday.

PLACES POPULATION OF CITY AT 88,500

Polk's New Directory Shows 1,140 Increase Over Last Year.

According to the estimate of the new city directory, which has just been published, the population of Fort Wayne is 88,500, the figures for 1917 showing an increase of 1,140 over the figures of last year. The book is published by R. L. Polk & Co. and is the forty-fourth volume. The book contains 44,250 names. This figure, multiplied by two, the lowest multiple used in any directory in the country, gives the figures of 88,500.
